A Cooling Splash for Summer Day

In lieu of beach a backyard dunkin' will do just fine as seven-year-old Mary Ann Cermak finds out. Her 11-year-old sister Nancy mans the hose at their 22 Davis Street home. After a blissful weekend, temperatures again started to climb Monday reaching a high of 92 degrees at 4:40 p. m. Today's forecast is for the return of muggy weather with mercury readings in the 90's. DA NANG (UPI)—Maj. Gen. Robert F. Worley, vice commander of the 7th U.S. Air Force in Vietnam, was killed today when his plane was shot down by Communist ground fire 65 miles northwest of Da Nang, the Air Force reported.

Worley was piloting an F4C photo reconnaissance jet, a spokesman said. The second pilot in the plane parachuted to safety and was rescued.

Worley became 7th Air Force vice commander in July, 1967, and had been scheduled to become deputy chief of staff for operations, headquarters, Pacific Air Force, Sept. 1.

An area 65 miles northwest of Da Nang would be well below the border of North Vietnam but towards the border of Laos. Worley, 48, was a native of Riverside, Calif. He had made his home in recent years in Palm Desert, Calif.

He began his career as an enlisted aviation cadet in 1940 at March Field in California and was graduated from pilot training at Brooks Field, Texas, in May, 1941 as a 2nd lieutenant.

During World War II he saw action in the North African, Sicilian, and Italian campaigns and also served in the Pacific. His combat record included 120 aerial missions and 215 combat hours in P40 and P47 aircraft.

Meanwhile Communist artillerymen slammed 135 mortar and rocket rounds into the U. S. war complex at Da Nang, the most intensive shelling of the war against the northern base. Six Americans were killed and 30 wounded, military sources said.

At the same time, the Communists hit Quang Ngai

City on the northern coast with 56 rounds and were thrown back attempting to take over the radio station there. Government spokesmen said 47 persons were killed or wounded, including four civilians.

The two attacks were the heaviest shelling in more than a month in the threatened northern quarter and may have been the prelude to the widespread Communist offensive expected before Sept. 1.

Near Tam Ky, 40 miles south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines were reported engaged in heavy fighting today in the first major battle in that area in several weeks.

UPI correspondent Raymond M. Wilkinson, reporting from Leatherneck headquarters at Da Nang, said 60 Communists were already dead. There was no immediate field reports of U.S. casualties.

"Last night was bad," said Lance Cpl. Ken Bond of Johnson City, Tenn., telling of a 30-round mortar attack on the Marine helicopter base at Marble Mountain near Da Nang. "Now I'm worried about tonight. They say we're going to get hit again."

Five rockets slammed into the sprawling Da Nang airfield itself, destroying two airplanes and heavily damaging two others.

All of the casualties were suffered at either Marble Mountain, the Marines' big helicopter base, or the maintenance compound for helicopters of the 1st Air Cavalry Division (airmobile).

The Communists, as they have in the past, were apparently trying to knock out the U.S. helicopter supplies, thereby limiting reaction capability to widespread attacks.

The Wallace Bug-A-Boo Has Governors in Tizzy

By WALTER R. MEARS

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)

Governors of both major parties, some of them openly disenchanted with their prospective presidential nominees, are fearful that Alabama's George C. Wallace may succeed in stalemating the race for the White House.

And there is a growing movement to support a Republican-Democratic agreement to settle any deadlock—without dealing with third-party candidate Wallace.

One Republican planned to propose that such an accord be written into both the GOP and the Democratic party platforms next month.

Two Democrats, one from the South, one from the North, agreed that if either party entered post-election negotiations with Wallace, bartering policy concessions for electoral support, it would destroy that party politically.

Republican Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island sought backing of the 60th National Governors Conference today for a plan which would have the Republicans and Democratic nominees agree in advance to support whichever man receives the most popular votes in the Nov. 4 election if there is no majority victory in the Electoral College.

Should there be no electoral majority, the Constitution would send the presidential decision to the House of Representatives with each state to cast one vote. A state's electors normally vote for the candidate who wins the most ballots in that state.

Chafee proposed that the GOP and Democratic nominees agree that the national popular vote loser would "exert his influence" among electors pledged to his candidacy to guarantee electoral College choice of the candidate who wins the over-all ballot count.

He sought conference approval of a resolution urging that plan upon the two major parties, and indicated he would like it to be part of their platforms.

A variation of that plan would have the parties agree to support the popular vote winner, without regard to political affiliation, should the decision go to the House.

Chafee said there is "a clear and present danger" that there will be no Electoral College majority because of the third-party Wallace race.

Some form of major party agreement to break a possible deadlock also had the endorsement of Republican George Romney of Michigan and Democrat Philip H. Hoff of Vermont.

Hoff said a Wallace-produced stalemate "could cause a major disruption" in the United States and abroad.

Without endorsing the idea, Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana forecast some such plan would be adopted. He said Wallace currently has enough support to deny an electoral college majority to both major candidates in a close race.

"It's a matter of fact and reality that this is going to happen," he said of major party pact aimed against the Wallace bid for bargaining power in the White House race.

Gov. Albert P. Brewer of Alabama said he believes Wallace could carry 12 states. He said he would support an agreement to give the White House to the candidate obtaining a popular vote plurality, and argued that this would give Wallace a chance of winning the presidency.

Brewer said he would campaign for Wallace. McKeithen said he supports Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency. But he avoided any criticism of Wallace, saying that was too much to expect of a Deep South governor.

While McKeithen said Humphrey would be a great president, an undertone of criticism continued in the conversation of some Northern Democrats.

One Midwestern governor said he is not satisfied with either Humphrey or Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota as a presidential nominee—and added many delegates and party leaders feel the same.

"I look for a dark horse," this governor said. Few Democrats agreed. But the Midwesterner, who asked that his name not be used, said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., could emerge at the convention in a presidential role. He said there will be a tremendous emotional demonstration when Kennedy appears in Chicago.

"It could precipitate a nomination by acclamation," the governor said.

Most Democrats thought a vice presidential nomination more likely for Kennedy, if the Massachusetts senator wants the assignment.

Hoff said Humphrey "is having difficulty establishing his own identity," and said he is not satisfied with the prospect of a McCarthy candidacy.

He said if nominated, Humphrey must have a liberal running mate. "It would be the kiss of death for him to come forward with a vice president who is an acknowledged conservative."

—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller sought delegate support in North Carolina for the GOP presidential nomination but sources said he failed to sway any of the state's 26 nominating votes.

—GOP contender Richard M. Nixon taped television shows in Los Angeles and then went into seclusion at a friend's home in Laguna Beach to rest until Thursday.

—McCarthy continues to hold a firm lead over Nixon—42 per cent to 34—in the latest Harris Survey but Humphrey's lead over Nixon—37 per cent to 35—has slipped since a survey in June.

The survey, a copyright feature of the Washington Post, also shows Wallace with 35 per cent support in the South and 10 to 20 per cent, depending on the opposition, in the rest of the country.

—Labor troubles, meanwhile, continued to slow preparations for both national party conventions.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said in Chicago his party's convention "might be moved" from that city if the telephone strike is not settled in time for installation of communications.

But Bailey said no decision has been made. He said he has not talked to officials in Miami Beach, where the Republican convention begins Aug. 5, about the possibility of moving the Democratic convention there three weeks later.

Electrical workers picketed CBS in Miami Beach for the third day Monday, bringing most work at the GOP convention hall to a standstill. But all three networks said a delay of several days would not cripple their preparations.

No Answers Yet on Ted Kennedy Enigma

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says whether he would ask Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to be his running mate is "greatly dependent on Mr. Kennedy's wishes and views" but the Massachusetts senator's wishes remain a question.

Hopes of a Humphrey-Kennedy ticket have been expressed by a number of Democrats at the National Governors Conference in Cincinnati and Humphrey said Monday night he was sure he and Kennedy will one day talk politics.

The vice president made the comments during a taping session for the "Dick Cavett Show" on the ABC television network.

Humphrey did not say he was offering Kennedy the vice presidential spot. Asked at a news conference earlier about the possibility, Humphrey replied there were a number of Democrats who could fill the spot.

Kennedy has made no comment on repeated suggestions since the assassination of his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, that a Humphrey-Kennedy ticket would boost chances for a Democratic victory in November.

There was new guesswork that plans might be in the making after a meeting in Hyannis-port Sunday of leading figures of the late President John F. Kennedy's administration and Robert Kennedy's Democratic presidential campaign.

But Frank Mankiewicz, who was on Robert Kennedy's staff, said the meeting was one of a series on planning a "living" memorial, possibly a foundation, for the slain senator.

"There wasn't anything political in the meeting," Mankiewicz said.

Humphrey also said Monday he would make no deals with third party candidate George C. Wallace for his electoral votes if neither major party candidate won a majority in November.

"I would rather not be nominated as a candidate for president," Humphrey said, "than to have to depend on a racist vote to get the nomination."

Czechs Win First Round, Soviet Troops Pulling Out

PRAGUE (UPI)—The Soviet Union's soldiers sped out of Czechoslovakia today. Czech Communist reform leaders mustered their arguments and waited for the Kremlin's masters to come.

According to observers, the Soviet decision to pull out its maneuver forces quickly and to send its entire 11-man ruling presidium to talk to the defiant Czechs averted at least temporarily an explosion in East Europe's major crisis of the decade.

The Soviets eased the situation, the observers said. They ordered stepped up departure by their forces here. They gave in to Czech demands that a summit meeting of both nations' Communist leaders be held on Czech soil.

But the crunch would come at the confrontation meeting. No exact date, no site has been announced for the summit disclosed here and in Moscow Monday night. Some sources said the Soviet leadership already may be en route.

The Czechs, struggling to defend their eight-month-old anti-Stalinist drive for "democratization," said the Soviets were being invited "with the aim of enabling them to acquaint themselves in detail on the current developments and conditions in this country and to exchange opinions on questions of mutual interests."

The Soviets—in official notes and in Moscow newspapers—have been charging that Czech reform is leading this former satellite from communism. The Soviets accused the United States, West Germany and the West in general of abetting anti-Communist counter-revolution here.

Specifically, the Soviets have demanded the Czechs once more muzzle their press—which has been openly critical of the Soviets—and slap down all political groups but the Communist party. Moscow warned Monday the Communist world would not allow this country to slip from the Red defense network.

Arabs Seize Israeli Jet

ALGIERS (UPI) — Five Palestinian Arabs waving hand grenades hijacked an Israeli airliner carrying 48 persons from Rome to Tel Aviv today and forced the jet to land in Algiers.

Airport officials in the Arab the El Al Airlines flight 426 would be allowed to fly back to Rome later in the day.

Besides the 10 Israeli crewmembers, others on the jet included 22 Israeli passengers, an American identified only as a Mr. Kairy, several Indians and Canadians and two Colombians.

The Algerian government said today it would free all persons aboard the Boeing 707.

Algerian sources said the two hijackers burst into the cockpit and threatened pilot Capt. Oded Abarbanel with the grenades.

Radio messages from the jet, heard in Rome and Athens, said, "We are Palestinians. We have seized the plane and christened it 'Liberation of Palestine'."

Israel is formed out of what used to be called just Palestine. Palestinian Arabs long have sought to oust the Israelis.

Rosendale Flood Control Project in Progress

Work on the long-awaited Rosendale Flood Control project has been in progress for a few weeks now according to Warren L. Larabee, chairman of the Rosendale Flood Control Committee. The project includes bringing Main Street up to the existing grade of Rt. 32 from Snyder Avenue to that point where it intersects with Rt. 32. In addition work will include elimination of the north channel around Ackerman Island, widening and deepening the channel, lowering the lips of LeFevre Falls and straightening the creek between Rt. 32 and the Thruway span. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Phone Lineman Is Crash Victim

Richard J. Szczepaniak, 22, RD 2 of Goshen, a lineman employed by the New York Telephone Company, was killed yesterday afternoon while repairing lines on River Road in the Town of Marlboro.

Szczepaniak was seated in a hydraulic powered bucket chair, attached to his repair vehicle, when the brakes of the truck released accidentally. The bucket was extended to its full height, approximately 40 feet, when the incident occurred. The truck rolled down a slight grade, ran off the side of the one lane dirt road, went down a steep embankment, and rolled over several times before coming to a stop.

State Police report that the victim was not in the bucket when investigators arrived. They could not determine whether he had been thrown out of the apparatus or had attempted to jump clear as the truck rolled down the embankment.

Szczepaniak was pronounced dead at the scene with a crushed skull. The victim was apparently run over by the truck as it rolled down the embankment.

Szczepaniak was Ulster County's 24th highway fatality of the year. This year's highway death toll is running somewhat behind that of last year's. In 1967, the county's 24th traffic fatality did not occur until August 20.

West Hurley Youth Wounded In Gun Mishap

A twenty - one year old West Hurley youth was injured yesterday afternoon when the shotgun he was loading accidentally discharged and wounded him in the left foot.

State Police report that Gerald Wilson Howland of Van Dale Road West Hurley was hunting for woodchucks in a wooded area near his home when he stopped to reload his .20 gauge bolt action shotgun. The weapon went off while the muzzle was pointing to the ground, wounding the youth in the left foot.

Howland was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for open fractures of the second and third toes of the left foot. Doctors at the hospital also are considering a traumatic amputation on the two wounded toes.

Howland was treated at the scene of the accident by Doctors Ricardo Gardinico and Joseph Conrad of Kingston.

Terror-Filled Ride for Woodstock Girl, 13-State Alarm Issued for the Suspect

By JON POWERS

An eleven - year - old Woodstock girl was kidnapped Sunday night in Woodstock, assaulted and finally released in Kingston by her unknown assailant after a terror - filled three hour drive through Ulster County.

Sought on Three Charges

Police have issued a 13 - state alarm for the fugitive, described as being a white male, approximately six feet tall with black hair and ranging in age from twenty to fifty years. The man is being sought on charges of kidnapping, assault and attempted murder.

Ulster County Sheriff's Department Investigator Harold T. Bowers pieced together

Sunday's episode after questioning the young victim at her home yesterday. The girl was reportedly picked up and forced into the car of the assailant, described as a black sedan with a plain interior between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m. Sunday evening near Sully's Bridge, off Tinker Street in the village of Woodstock.

The girl told police that the man tied her up with light rope and threw her into the back seat of his car, ordering her to stay down and keep quiet. The man then drove out of Woodstock, and proceeded to the southern shore of the Ashokan Reservoir, probably along Spillway Road in West Hurley.

The girl was then driven south on Route 209 to Hurley, where they entered the new 209 highway and drove to Stone Ridge. At Stone Ridge, the driver took Route 213 to the High Falls - Rosendale area. It was at this stage of the journey that the man pulled off Route 209 near a wooded area. He dragged the girl out of the car and into the woods where he attempted to sexually assault her. The girl also told police that the man attempted to choke her while they were in the woods.

After assaulting the girl, the assailant dragged her back into the car and drove to Kingston. The girl was released at approximately 12:15 a.m. Sunday on Wall Street near the intersection of Route 32, where the man gave her a dime to call her parents. He told the girl that he had a wife and two children of his own at home and that he wanted her to get home safely.

The youngster was picked up shortly after the fugitive drove away by Ptl. George Barringer. He took her to the Ulster County Sheriff's Department where she told police of the incident. She was taken to Benedictine Hospital later that morning and treated for slight bruises of the body and rope burns of the wrists and hands. She was accompanied to Benedictine by sheriff's deputies, two uniformed State Police and her parents.

The Sheriff's Department is continuing its investigation into the episodes of Sunday night. Investigator Bowers told the Freeman today that the FBI would be informed of the kidnapping, but that he did not expect the bureau to actively enter the investigation because the girl was not transported over the state line.

The Department is still searching for clues to the kidnapping. They said that the description of the man was sketchy, but that they do have further information about the fugitive's car that could not be released at this time. They are hoping that the 13 - state dragnet will uncover the whereabouts of the alleged assailant.

Over Route Today

Bowers said that the girl would be taken back over the route of her trip sometime today. Police hope to pinpoint the exact location of the wooded area where the girl was assaulted. If police can determine whether the kidnapper knew where he wanted to go, and if he was at all familiar with this area, they may be able to narrow the manhunt down to this immediate area. At this time there is some speculation that the fugitive either resides in Ulster County or is familiar with the area.

Weinstein Takes Post As Assembly Speaker

By GERRY MCLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Mos M. "Moe" Weinstein, a strong believer in political loyalty, was set to be sworn in today as the acting Assembly speaker largely because he stood by a Brooklyn ally during a crisis three years ago.

Weinstein, the aggressive leader of the Queens County Democratic organization, remained steadfastly behind Brooklynite Anthony J. Travia in 1965 when Travia was locked in a struggle for the Assembly speakership with the powerful Stanley Steingut.

Weinstein's support was crucial to Travia. Steingut, head of the big Brooklyn Democratic Committee, held more votes than Travia in the balloting for the speakership but not enough for a majority of the 150-member house.

Thus, when Republicans intervened after six weeks of stalemate and threw their votes to Travia, Weinstein emerged as the majority leader. In that capacity of chief Democratic floor spokesman, he provided the "bark" and Travia the "bite" in continuing battles with a Republican governor and a Republican-controlled Senate.

As floor leader of the majority, Weinstein took his signals from the fiery, hard-driving Travia and specialized in rapid-fire oratory designed variously to confound, anger and amuse his Republican enemies and Democratic allies.

It was clear that he chafed sometimes under the tight rein Travia imposed, but the 56-year-old Weinstein never complained publicly.

When Travia was elected president of the 1967 Constitutional Convention, he turned again to Weinstein, whom he called "My cherry bomb" — a reference to his debating style — to name him majority leader.

When it became apparent that Travia planned to leave the Assembly to become a federal judge, Weinstein quietly began to line up support for an anticipated fight with Steingut for the leadership.

He automatically became acting speaker when Travia resigned but the term expires in January.

Weinstein, a lawyer who began his assembly career in 1959, says he's confident his party will retain control of the Assembly. And he professes to anticipate "no prolonged bloodshed" in election of a new speaker.

If elected speaker, Weinstein would be faced with a decision as to his dual leadership roles. While he hasn't made his mind up, he says he doesn't think he could "do justice" to both the responsibilities of the speakership and the county leadership at the same time.

As speaker, even on an acting basis, Weinstein continues to be concerned over what he sees as "the tarnished image" of the legislature.

Time and time again, he has proclaimed publicly his pride in the Assembly and in his membership in the legislature. He says he would strive to convey to the public a clearer picture of the work performed by lawmakers.

A public hearing to outline the running foot and an additional base usage charge of $3 for two or less users, and for more than two users, $1.50 for each additional person.

As for a commercial business or factory with over 20 users, there will be a maintenance and usage charge of $100 plus .25 for each person.

The maintenance and usage charge for schools is $50 per year plus $1 for each person. The annual sewer rates shall be treated as a lien upon the property and will be collected in January along with the town taxes.

Ruling on Fortas Called Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP) — An opponent of President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations has labeled as propaganda a Justice Department report favorable to chief-justice-designate Abe Fortas.

The comment was made Monday to the Senate Judiciary Committee by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., whose request that Justice Department representatives be called to explain the report at today's committee session was granted by Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

The unexpected development came after the committee apparently had wound up its hearings into Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren and—at least temporarily—into the nomination of Homer Thornberry to be an associate justice.

The Justice Department's 27-page memorandum on the "judicial performance of Mr. Justice Fortas" was put in the record last Saturday by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

Hart said he had requested it to provide "more balanced record" after the critical questioning of Fortas by Ervin and Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

The memorandum, commenting on decisions in which Fortas participated, concluded this way:

"Notwithstanding the quibbles about particular votes and decisions, the verdict of the American Bar... is that Justice Fortas has performed remarkably well in three years, fulfilling the promise that one of the nation's greatest lawyers should become one of its greatest justices."

Ervin called the Justice Department document an attempt "to propagandize the committee" and said he intended to answer it and wanted to question the lawyers who drafted it.

If the department didn't make them available, Ervin said, he wanted Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark or his deputy called to testify about the document.

The memorandum reportedly was written in the office of Deputy Atty. Gen. Warren Christopher.

HEART PATIENT WALKS — The world's 26th heart transplant patient was able to step from his St. Luke's Hospital bed yesterday, only 36 hours after receiving his new heart. Fred C. ## Nebraska Man: 27th Transplant

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Surgeons transplanted the heart of a youth fatally injured in an auto accident into the body of a Nebraska man today in what they described as a very successful operation.

It was the 27th such transplant in the world and the second in three days at St. Luke's Episcopal hospital, where seven now have been performed.

Hospital spokesman identified the recipient as Henry W. Jurgens, 57, of Beatrice, Neb. They said he entered St. Luke's Sunday suffering from advanced heart disease.

The donor was Michael K. Buxton, 16, of Houston, who suffered massive head injuries in an auto accident Monday morning. He died at 12:47 a.m., the hospital reported, and the transplant surgery was completed at 2:15 a.m.

Dr. Denton A. Cooley supervised the operation, as he has the others at St. Luke's. Attendants said he considered it very successful and pronounced Jurgens in highly satisfactory condition.

Hospital spokesmen said the patient who received a new heart Saturday—Fred C. Everman, 58, a retired barber from Alexandria, Va. — was able to walk unassisted from his bed to a chair.

Everman received the heart of Evelyn G. Krikorian, 33, a Houston housewife who died of complications from a kidney ailment. He was reported in "very satisfactory condition."

She needed blood, and a rare type at that. Her father took her to the hospital, she got all the blood she needed, and Kathy's little world was saved. And it didn't cost a penny extra because her father has Blue Cross Blood coverage.

This program was started for people like Kathy, but her little world is only a part of the picture. In New York City alone, 1000 pints of blood are needed for transfusions every day. And the need may very well grow.

But we think that no matter how much blood is needed, it should be there. That's why Blue Cross gives its enthusiastic support to the Greater New York Blood Program, and is working toward the day when everyone in the greater New York area will have blood when he needs it. Any time. Any amount.

This effort is only the first step toward enough blood for everyone. But we think it's a pretty important step. Because we believe that blood is one of those things that shouldn't have a price tag.

The Winds of Peace

Even in Panmunjon, Korea, the peace talks were held daily. True, they were protracted, but the two sides talked every day. Paris, with its once a week meetings, is a far cry from peace talks. It is more of a diplomatic holding operation.

The real action toward peace is taking place on the battlefields of Vietnam. North Vietnam infiltrated a mass movement of fresh troops but it has not struck a decisive blow. Since the Tet offensive in February and the second wave in May, the war has slowed down. Even the attacks on Saigon and Hue have not been renewed.

The American looks for a final effort on the part of the enemy, to try to topple the Saigon government by attacking the capital. American and allied troops are preparing for the blow. But it has not come. Casualties on both sides are the lowest in months, confirmation that the fighting is slowing down.

What the enemy will do next, no one knows. But it seems clear the North Vietnamese are re-evaluating their position. If they decide that they cannot win a decisive victory, they did at Dienbienphu in 1954 against the French, they may decide they would do better to talk peace. Then Paris may come alive and the talks become meaningful.

American firmness has compelled the enemy to evaluate the cost of continued fighting. The American political conventions will show whether they can expect a better deal from the nominees who will determine the man they would have to deal with if they do not make peace before January 20.

It may be by August, and if not then by November 5, election day, Ho Chi Minh will make up his mind. There is still a chance of peace this year, if it looks to the enemy as though Johnson would do better by them than Nixon, or Humphrey, or Rockefeller or McCarthy, or whoever is the next President.

World Statistics

Of the 3.5 billion people in the world today, the annual United Nations Statistical Yearbook tells so much that it is hard to choose from the statistical riches what to select.

Because the question of food for these teeming billions is so vital, it is necessary to report that world food production rose eight per cent in the three years from 1963 to 1966, but the per capita increase was only two per cent. Adequate food remains a problem.

Because health is so important, it was interesting to find that Israel had a doctor for every 410 persons—about one to every 100 families—where there was only one for every 76,200 persons in Rwanda.

And because radio and television are so common here, it was surprising to learn that there were 600 million radio sets and one-third as many television sets, or 198 million; apparently mostly in this country.

Maybe the biggest disparity is in consumption of steel, the base for so much of modern civilization, of which the United States leads the world with 1470 pounds per person, compared to two pounds per person in Malawi.

And so it goes, with statistical proof of the vast disparity between the industrial powers and the undeveloped ones, the rich and the poor, the educated and the illiterate. It sort of makes one wonder gratefully about all our blessings and how we can share even more with those not so fortunate.

HERO Volunteers

It stands for Help Elected Republican Officials. It is a group of housewives and mothers in Washington who have given 20,000 work hours as volunteers to lighten the load of Republican members of Congress in the current session. It is known by its abbreviations, HERO.

Organized by Mrs. Anne Peterson, who got the idea from the work she did as a Red Cross volunteer worker, HERO volunteers open and sort mail, answer telephones and generally help the paid, and frequently overworked staff members.

An ordinary congressman's office is geared to handle 500 letters a day. When an avalanche of 20,000 letters and telegrams descended on the office of Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the Republican House leader, on the open-housing provisions of the civil rights bill, HERO went to the rescue. The volunteers opened, read and filed according to viewpoint every letter and telegram. Ford thanked them personally.

They are also rewarded with certificates for 50 hours' work, pins for 100 hours and luncheon for 500 hours. Everybody can't go to Washington to volunteer, but local officials probably can use such volunteer help and the women would be doing something useful for their community.

The giant Lockheed C-5 Galaxy, able to carry 750 passengers, has added another great weapon to America's military might. The 58 Glaxys the Air Force has ordered can ferry a 5,000-man Army brigade fully equipped into the battle zone.

Both Parties Have Large Amount of Dissension

WASHINGTON — Most people are unfamiliar with the wiles and pressures that actually bring about the nomination of a presidential candidate by a political party. There is also prevalent a confusion between the kind of campaign which an aspirant for the nomination carried on before a convention and what he is up against when he is confronted later by an opponent from another party.

Thus, the controversy today between Senator McCarthy and Vice President Humphrey has little meaning so far as the selection of a president in November is concerned. For the candidate who is nominated at the Democratic National Convention will be chosen by the party leaders in the various states — not just the governors and mayors but the men and women who hold the reins in state, city and county political organizations.

There has been an overemphasis, too, on the importance of the primaries. Only eleven states have presidential preference primaries, and the bulk of the delegates from all states will be motivated by factors that have much to do with their own local political contests as these might be affected by straight-ticket voting.

Analyzing the present situation in the Democratic contest, Humphrey certainly has a better chance of getting the nomination than anybody else, but the question of whether he can win the election against Nixon or Rockefeller is an entirely different story.

The polls today show that Wallace takes away more votes from the Republicans if Rockefeller runs, whereas if Nixon were nominated he would get a substantial segment of the democratic vote along with the Republicans in the South. But the Rockefeller supporters are arguing that it is the vote in the West and East, particularly in the big population states, which will count most. Current polls, however, indicate Rockefeller would just about break even in electoral votes outside the South against any prospective Democratic nominee.

So observers are puzzled by what is meant when they read about the attitude of governors of states and other politicians and the claims of "hidden strength" among the delegates. Certainly the Rockefeller forces are waging an intensive operation to win the help of political leaders inside the party in all states. But a survey of the 26 Republican governors just made by the United Press shows that seven in the group are backing Rockefeller, and Nixon has the endorsement of six. Thus, half of the Republican governors are not venturing at this time to take a stand for or against either of the two leading candidates. It is evident that these governors are waiting to consult with their delegations at the National convention itself before making a final decision.

To date it would appear that Nixon has the lead for the Republican nomination and that Humphrey will become the Democratic nominee. The question of which party will win the election is another chapter, and once the conventions are over, the character of the discussion will change. The uncertainty about the outcome in November will be enhanced by the possibility that there will be considerable dissension among Republicans if Rockefeller is nominated, but much less if Nixon is the candidate. This is because Rockefeller failed to support the Republican presidential nominee in 1964.

Th Democratic party, on the other hand, will encounter a substantial amount of dissatisfaction among voters who have been supporting McCarthy. While it isn't likely that all of them will vote the Republican ticket, it may be that many not only will not work for Humphrey but will stay home on Election Day.

These are the factors which will have to be evaluated after the nominees have been selected. For it does look now as if both parties will have a large amount of dissension within their ranks. After the conventions have been held, the extent of the dissatisfaction and the number of dissident voters in each party will, therefore, have to be surveyed or polled in order to appraise realistically the probable outcome of the November election.

LBJ Shows Skill in Handling Eastern European Ferment

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has used great skill in handling the present crisis between Czechoslovakia and the Soviet, the most serious crisis Eastern Europe has seen in this decade.

If he had talked of liberating the so-called "captive" nations as did John Foster Dulles, or allowed his Vice President to tour the Hungarian border as Richard Nixon did in 1956, it would have been used as an excuse by the Red Army to take over Czechoslovakia long ago. During the Hungarian crisis Nixon flew to inspect the Hungarian rebellion and announced that "communism had been given a mortal blow from which it would never recover."

Instead Johnson has initiated a new air route between New York and Moscow, concluded a new Soviet cultural agreement, won Soviet assent to a discussion of missile disarmament. Aware of the split inside the Kremlin regarding Czechoslovakia, he has been careful not to give any ammunition to the Kremlin rightists who want to blame all Soviet problems on "American imperialism."

when Pravda or Izvestia has blasted him he has wisely not replied. Meanwhile the situation inside Eastern Europe continues to be full of dynamite. The Red Army has 22 divisions in East Germany, the biggest concentration of troops anywhere in the far-flung socialist orbit.

They are there partly to pacify Walter Ulbricht, the communist boss of East Germany and No. 1 Stalinist of the communist world. Were it not for Ulbricht's die-hard hatred of the West there would be no great problem between Moscow and Czechoslovakia.

"Russkis Go Home" However, public opinion in Czechoslovakia is running strong and there are signs painted on the walls of Prague in English, reading "Russkis go home."

To understand the delicate, potentially dangerous situation in Eastern Europe you have to know the countries involved. This writer has visited these countries, dating back to 1919 when, immediately after World War I, I spent two years in Yugoslavia doing relief work for the American Friends Service Committee.

In recent years I have revisited Romania, trips to Yugoslavia. They are countries with deep-rooted culture and a nationalist history dating back over a thousand years, proud of that culture and history. They are individualists. But they are so small that they cannot exist alone. They need the cooperation and protection of their big neighbor in Washington.

Actually the Red Army has been a great economic boon to these East European countries, for it gives them protection without draining their budgets. Their situation is similar to that in the United States if we could transfer the $70 billion we spend for defense and use it on education, slum clearance, and our big cities instead.

This is what has happened in Eastern Europe. In return for the protection of the Red Army, however, Moscow has demanded unswerving loyalty to the communist system. And with the exception of the Yugoslavs, who 20 years ago kicked over the traces, Moscow has got it.

This is the basic controversy between Russia and Czechoslovakia today. The new Czech government wants to desert orthodox communism for democratic socialism, arrived at by elections rather than by party decree.

This is what Yugoslavia has come around to. It is also pretty close to what West Germany enjoys — a socialism voted by the people.

Actually West Germany is a long way from having a capitalist system. So is France, especially under the new DeGaulle promise of worker participation in factory operation and factory profits.

In brief, what the Czechs want is the protection of the Red Army without the domination of the Red Army; a socialist system voted by themselves, not imposed upon them.

If left alone, the Czechs and the Russians will probably work out their problems. This is the basic Johnson policy, to keep hands off.

Reagan's Hands-on Policy The worst policy the United States could follow is that of Gov. Ronald Reagan in California, who signed a proclamation commemorating the anniversary of the "independent state of Croatia." This is the Nazi puppet government formed by Hitler during the war, and which some Croatian exiles want to keep alive despite the fact that Hitler's Croatian stooge massacred 700,000 non-Catholic Serbs and 30,000 Jews.

The slaughter was denounced by the Pope and all responsible Western Catholics. Nevertheless, the man who was in charge of the police at that time, Andre Artucovic, has been given refuge near Long Beach, Calif., and his fellow exiles in California continue to stir up trouble.

Fortunately the California legislature voted to rescind the resolution commemorating the anniversary of Hitler's puppet Croatia after Gov. Reagan had signed it.

However, the incident illustrates the same type of short-sighted policy advocated by such men as Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who want to hamper trade credits. Food for Peace shipments to the Eastern European nations which now seek semi-independence from Moscow.

Another Middle East Crisis

The biggest news often breaks where it does not seem to be. It also often breaks — Korea, the Congo, Vietnam — in areas about which readers may know too little to make any judgment whatever. Then explosive events bury the needed understanding.

As we enter another Middle East crisis, with all we know of new, dynamic Israel we know too little of the Arab world.

We persistently misconstrue Arab-Jew relations. On the whole they lived together peacefully and successfully in the Mideast for centuries, and for long years as allies held together by their mutual hatred for their British masters.

Britain constructed the postwar Arab League in 1945, partly to protect her own interests in the Sudan, but this aim failed the Anglo-American support of Israel carried the Arab animosity against Westerners into an animosity and fear of Israel as well. The oldest anti-Jewish sores began to be reopened. The rest is current history. And the Kremlin knows well the Arab saying that the fisherman catches fish in troubled waters.

The Arab world is a land lost to the past and still to be born in the future. When Greek historian Herodotus saw the pyramids in Egypt they were 20 centuries old. They were as remote in time to him as Athens' Acropolis is now to us. Egypt was rich in art and accomplishments when Europe was in its Stone Age.

Reflecting 700 years of Spain's Arab occupation, Gibraltar (Jebel Tariq) was the Arab lock on the door to the Mediterranean. And the Arab gentleman was bathing in luxury at Cordoba, the caliphs' ancient capital, when the British gentleman at Oxford thought it was dangerous to wash.

Some years ago I wrote the section on Africa in "The Book of Knowledge." I have lived for long periods with the Arab in his towns and deep in his deserts. I was fascinated. There is something strange about beautiful, overflooded tropical Africa, some quality of discontent that often leads to despair and hopeless idleness, whereas in Africa's desert this is rarely so.

Christianity has never flourished in the desert, never quite taken hold. Mohammedanism has never caught on in the jungles. There Christianity gains two heathen converts to Islam's one. In the desert regions it is the opposite.

The camel is a newcomer. It has been there — from Asia — only since about 1200 B.C. So is Mohammed (570 - 632 A.D.), a newcomer. He is the only man who ever wrote the whole testament of a major faith (there are about 456 millions) within his lifetime and by himself. The entire Koran is only two-thirds as long as the New Testament alone — but in the Arab world it is everything.

The muezzins say the first beautiful, soaring, haunting call to prayer five minutes before dawn: "Come love, come weep, come wonder." Mohammed's finger a rosary while their lips murmur the 99 sacred names of Allah. The message of the Koran is called the Sidk, the Truth. All is ordained — Mektoub. It Is Written — and none but Allah can alter anything.

Yet resignation is not a quality of the Arab, whose fierce unarmored forefathers defeated the armored barbarians, founded at least three empires and did not permanently retreat after centuries of contest with the Crusaders.

Do the Arabs believe the Israel that defeated them in only six days in June, 1967, will survive? Sensibly, they should. But "unto every nation a fixed time is decreed," says the Koran. The purpose of the Soviet's immense arms aid, vastly larger than President Johnson had disclosed, is to add great troubles to the overextended United States through our Israel allegiance.

It is the Kremlin's bet on the blind fatalism and fanaticism that can be fanned and is totally the reverse of our public's natural assumption that the 1967 debacle against Israel would make the Arab world say, "Enough is enough."

Editor, The Freeman:
I read with interest your article about the new temporary building at Ulster County Community College in Tuesday, July 16, paper. In this day and age when voters all over Ulster County are voting down school budgets it is interesting that UCCC goes right on spending as if there were no tomorrow.

The taxpayers of this county spent good money on architects that would lay out a long range plan for the college. We have been on the new campus for one year and already the long range plan is destroyed beyond repair. Anyone who takes the time to drive to the campus will realize that the temporary building is not temporary and will be here for many years. It has been placed on what used to be a parking lot. Since the parking lot is gone, the college has had to build a new one. The entrance to the college used to wind through a beautiful orchard. Now this has been replaced by another slab of macadam. This to me is a complete lack of regard for the taxpayers money. Dr. Erbstein notes that we will only pay one third of the cost. I hope no one is fooled into believing they're not involved when the state pays the other two-thirds. Dr. Erbstein also notes the temporary building will house the student dining facilities. It is rumored that the old dining facilities are being altered into classrooms at a cost of $60,000.00 after only one year of use.

I would like to know what the total cost of all these changes will be? The total cost of the temporary building? The total cost of the new parking lot? The total cost of alterations to existing buildings? I think every taxpayer has a right to know. I would like to see this information printed in The Freeman. Furthermore, I would like to see an understandable 1968-69 budget. I doubt if even the budget director of the United States would be able to understand the one that the county legislators has just received.

Sees Overflow For PO, Boxes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Postmaster Gen. W. Marvin Watson sees the day coming when mailboxes and post offices alike will overflow as a result of the personnel reduction Congress ordered.

That day could come as early as October or November when Saturday residential deliveries are eliminated, Watson told the Senate Post Office Committee Monday.

"Monday mornings will be an impossible problem," he said. "The post offices are physically not equipped to handle the backlog of two days' mail."

Watson appeared before the panel to ask for some firm indication before adjournment for the political conventions whether Congress intends to do something about the department's plight when lawmakers reconvene later in the year.

Watson's problem stems from directives in the recently enacted income tax increase law that required all federal agencies—without exception—to reduce their personnel to levels of June 1966.

The no-exception policy was adopted on the advice of Budget Director Charles J. Zwick, who was summoned to explain to the panel today the rationale behind it.

The immediate, and seemingly unexpected, effect on the Post Office was ordered for a sharp curtailment of airmail service over the next four years. The first result already is being felt in the closing of 500 third and fourth class post offices this month and next.

Beginning Saturday, window services at first and second class offices will be stopped. Saturday collection service also will be cut back to the less frequent Sunday schedule.

"Until the mail is actually not there on Saturday mornings, the people will not be heard from," Watson told the committee.

Hold Man in Fatal Shooting of Three

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — A man fatally shot two men and wounded a woman walking along the street Monday night after he broke into a sporting goods store for a pistol and shells.

Authorities identified the dead as August Marsala, 46, and Victor Crisco, 52, both of Yonkers, N.Y. Marsala's wife, Evelyn, 44, was reported in serious condition at a San Luis Obispo hospital after being shot in the chest. The bullet also broke her left wrist.

Police said William B. Duff, 38, of Havre De Grace, Md., was arrested after a chase on foot and was booked on suspicion of murder.

The three victims were vacationers strolling in San Luis Obispo, 200 miles north of Los Angeles, when they were shot.

Police Lt. William Sperlo said that when he arrived at the scene minutes after the shooting bystanders yelled, "He ran around the corner."

Sperlo gave this account: He took a shotgun from his patrol car and pursued on foot. He saw Duff three blocks away, ordering him to stop.

Duff surrendered to the lieutenant, saying, "Nobody likes me. I don't mean to hurt people."

Sperlo said Duff carried the pistol in one hip pocket and a foot-long iron pipe in the other when arrested.

Witnesses said they did not see the shooting but heard a rapid sequence of shots and looked up to see the man fleeing.

Dave Ehrlich, owner of Dave's Sports Emporium, said Duff ignored everything in the store but the .38-caliber pistol in a counter display with several other handguns and a box of shells in a wall rack. He said the store's glass door was smashed.

The lieutenant said four of the six shells in the pistol's cylinder were spent and Duff still carried the box of cartridges when arrested.

Lake Placid Shooting Accidental; Police

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—Police say the fatal shooting of the 23-year-old daughter of a prominent Michigan family was accidental.

Lynn Holley, who had taught skiing here and in Colorado, was shot Sunday at her family's private ranch near this resort village.

John Swift, 25, identified as a friend of Miss Holley, was charged with illegal possession of a loaded weapon, a felony.

He was confined under guard at a hospital here for "medical reasons."

Troopers said Swift, who arrived here from Macon, Ga., this summer, had been shooting at trees outside the ranch with a .25-caliber pistol.

A brother of Miss Holley and a couple from Lake Placid were in the ranch when the shooting occurred, troopers said.

The woman's father, John C. Holley of Grosse Pointe, Mich., was vice president of the Holley

Carburetor Co. of Warren, Mich., when it was sold to Colt Industries four months ago.

Tight Credit and New Ceilings Blamed for Zooming Home Rates

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interest rates on conventional home loans rose sharply during June, climbing to almost 7 per cent for the first time in history.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board said today the average interest rate on conventional loans for new houses jumped to 6.88 per cent during June while the rate on existing houses went to 6.97 per cent.

The board blamed both the tight credit conditions in the economy and recent increases in the ceilings fixed by states on maximum interest charges.

June marked the fifth straight monthly rise in the conventional rate for new houses. The rate on existing houses has risen every month for the last year.

In the 18 major metropolitan areas included in the Board's survey, the rates on new homes ranged from 6.18 per cent in New York City to 7.42 per cent in Dallas.

Rates were above 7 per cent for new houses in 10 of the 18 areas.

The National Association of Home Builders, which made its own survey several weeks ago, said there are signs of interest rates leveling off at their June records.

The federal survey does not include interest rates on home loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration or guaranteed by the Veterans Administration which are now fixed by regulation at 6.75 per cent.

The June levels compared with an average 6.69 per cent rate during May for new houses and a 6.81 per cent rate on existing houses.

With initial fees and charges figured in, the board said the average rate on new houses during June was 7.03 per cent for new houses and 7.12 per cent on existing houses.

Uptown UR Project Land Ready for Commercial Use

Kingston Urban Renewal Agency announced today that 880,000 square feet of land are being made available to developers for general commercial use in the Uptown Project.

The parcels range in size from 18,000 square feet to 330,000 square feet. There are 43,560 square feet in an acre. The agency, according to acting executive director, Ward B. Tongue, expects to have the parcels available for disposition over a period extending through 1970.

Letters are being sent out to more than 150 nationally known firms informing them of the availability of these commercial properties.

General commercial includes laboratories, light industry, warehousing and office and non-retail uses.

Parcel sizes and their location include Washington Avenue near North Front Street (18,700), Washington Avenue in the vicinity of Dietz Stadium (18,400), North Front Street (26,900), the Converse Street area (38,000), Washington Avenue at the corner of the proposed Clinton Avenue Extension (29,000), Washington Avenue in the vicinity of the Clinton Avenue Extension along Plaza Road (208,000), the west side of Washington Avenue along Hurley Avenue (221,000) and the Murphy Street area (330,000).

The Army Corps of Engineers has completed its studies of the proposed Murphy Street dike and plans are now in the Washington, D. C. office of the corps for final approval, according to the Urban Renewal Agency.

Prices on the land will vary, Tongue said and have to be approved by the federal government. The agency has retained the firm of Henry Halpern of New York City, specialists in the appraisal and disposition of urban renewal land.

Tongue also called attention to the availability of two industrial sites in the Broadway East Project. Interested redevelopers have until Aug. 1 to submit their proposals.

One site is located on the Strand opposite the Old Ferry Shed and extends to Hasbrouck Avenue. The other is in the vicinity of the Levine Bag Factory on Mill Street.

Trouble Erupts Anew Along Lower East Side

NEW YORK (AP) — Police reinforcements moved into part of the Lower East Side Monday night and gradually dispersed a crowd of several hundred residents after a tense confrontation and sporadic incidents of arson and bottle throwing.

Some 300 members of the specially trained Tactical Patrol Force were assigned to the predominantly Puerto Rican area as trouble flared for the third straight night. They were withdrawn at 4 a.m.

Ten persons were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. There were no injuries reported by police.

Several fires were set in trash cans and abandoned cars, as about 250 youths moved up and down Avenues B and C from Houston to 10th Streets. Firemen responding to the fires and to several false alarms were pelted with missiles and withdrawn.

Several store windows were broken, police said, but there was no looting.

FACES SURGERY — The Space Agency in Houston, Tex., said Monday that veteran astronaut and space-walker Michael Collins, now a member of the third Apollo spacecrew, has entered an Air Force hospital in San Antonio, Tex., for spine surgery later this week. According to spokesmen, Collins is now undergoing tests in preparation for the removal of a "bone spur growth that has developed on his cervical spine." (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Deputy Sheriff, 10 Others Nabbed In Troy Raid

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Police raided a downtown nightclub here early today, arresting 11 persons on charges of loitering for the purpose of gambling, including a Rensselaer County deputy sheriff who, they said, tried to escape.

Arrested in the raid on the Riviera Club was Rocco DeBonis, 50, of Troy, the deputy sheriff. Police said he ran out of the station house while being booked on the loitering charge and got out a block before being captured. Another man also tried to escape but only got to the door, they said.

Both were charged with loitering for the purpose of gambling and with escape and are being held for arraignment.

The owner of the club, James DeBonis, 46, of Troy, was charged with loitering for the purpose of gambling and with allowing a State Liquor Authority licensed premises to be used for gambling. He was freed in $350 bail.

Eight others were charged on the loitering charge and freed in $100 bail each.

Six Decomposed Bodies Found Shot to Death

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP) — The badly decomposed bodies of a suburban Detroit couple and their four children were found Monday in an isolated cabin in northwest Lower Michigan.

Emmet County Sheriff's Department said all six had been shot to death.

They were tentatively identified by State Police as Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Robison of Lathrup Village, an 8-year-old daughter, and three sons, ages 19, 17 and 12.

State Police said the bodies were discovered by a caretaker late Monday, northwest of Harbor Springs. They said first estimate was that the deaths occurred about a month ago.

According to state police, the Robisons had been vacationing and were expected to travel to Florida, therefore relatives apparently were not alarmed about them.

Study Strinberg Plays Tonight

The Play Reading Group of PAW will study one-act plays by August Strinberg tonight at 8:30 p.m. at the Little Theater, Tinker Street, Woodstock.

Mom of 7 Drowns

BATAVIA, N. Y. (UPI) — Mrs. Francis Fite, 39, of Batavia, the mother of seven, drowned Monday in a quarry in this Genesee County city.

The body was recovered by scuba divers. Police said Mrs. Fite and her husband Norman had been wading in the quarry when she slipped off a ledge and disappeared.

Mrs. Fite was a non-swimmer. She lived at 34 Walnut St.

Flames Shoot 300 Feet As Tank Explodes

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A gasoline storage tank exploded "like an atom bomb" today, hurled residents of nearby homes out of their beds, and shot flames 300 feet high over the Pensacola waterfront.

Seven hours after the first of three explosions, the 200,000-gallon tank still burned furiously, blanketing the area with oily smoke. The fire threatened other tanks loaded with gasoline and kerosene.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hicks were knocked out of their beds by the first blast, which blew gasoline and sparks through the windows, starting several small fires in the house. Both suffered burns as they beat out the fires before fleeing the home.

Barrancas Avenue running past the storage field was barricaded and residents of several homes were evacuated. "It looked like an atom bomb explosion," said sheriff's Deputy Edward Mayo.

Avon Sergeant Killed in Viet

AVON, N. Y. (AP) — Army Sgt. Paul R. Fusco, 21, of this community has been killed in combat in Vietnam, the Defense Department says.

Fusco was killed July 16 after being in the war-torn country for about three months, his parents said Monday.

He graduated Avon Central High School and attended Genesee State College.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fusco, of 202 Spring St.

Marriage Vows Are Exchanged

MRS. FRED A. FRANCELLO
(Lakeside Studio)

Miss Christine Teresa Nucaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Nucaro of 2 Smith Avenue, Kingston, became the bride of Fred Alfred Francello, son of Fred Francello Sr. of Glasco, and the late Anna Crescino Francello, on Saturday, July 13, at St. Peter's Church, Kingston.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph D. Osterman officiated at the double ring ceremony. Nan Goldrick, organist, accompanied Mrs. Elizabeth Sass who sang traditional wedding selections. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white nylon sheer gown in cage silhouette fashioned with a Sabrina rolled trimmed neckline. The floor-length skirt was edged in satin and a matching chapel train fell from her shoulders to the floor. Her white illusion veil was held by a stylized headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white pompons with a white orchid in the center.

Miss Dorothy Reynolds of Lake Katrine served as maid of honor. She wore an empire-style gown of blue dotted swiss nylon sheer over taffeta. Her headpiece was a matching Dior bow with chapel veiling and she carried a bouquet of blue and pink pompons with velvet blue ribbons.

Attendants were the Misses Clara Hayner, Margaret Hodges, both of Kingston; Joli Crescino, cousin of the bridegroom, Kingston; and Erna Francello, sister of the bridegroom, Poughkeepsie. Their green and maize gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried bouquets of pompons tinted yellow with blue, green and yellow ribbons.

Miss Tammy Whispell of Sawkill, was flower girl. She wore a pink nylon gown with pink and white flowers at the waist and carried a basket of blue, pink and yellow pompons and baby's breath with yellow ribbon.

Gus Sasso of Glasco was best man, Ushers were Robert Francello, cousin of the bridegroom of West Camp; Ken Jonisk of New York City; Michael Grano and Joe Palumbo, both of Glasco. Thomas Francello, brother of the bridegroom, was junior usher.

After the wedding, a reception for 185 guests was held at the Flamingo.

The bride is a graduate of St. Peter's School and Kingston High School. She is employed by IBM, Kingston.

Her husband is a graduate of St. Mary of the Snow, Saugerties. Our Lady of Lourdes, Poughkeepsie, and received his Bachelor of Science degree in Economics at Siena College, Loudonville. He is employed by the Purchasing Department of IBM, Kingston.

After the couple return from their wedding trip to Cove Haven they will reside at Glasco.

MRS. STEPHEN LOUIS deOLDE
(Lakeside Studio)

Miss Cecilia Josephine Donato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donato of 110 Stephen Street, Kingston, became the bride of Stephen Louis deOlde, son of Mr. and Mrs. John deOlde of 59 South Wall Street, Kingston, on Saturday, July 13, at St. Joseph's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. John Madigan, cousin of the bride, of St. Catherine of Siena Church in New York City, officiated at the double ring ceremony. James Sweeney, organist, accompanied Donald Sweeney who sang traditional wedding selections. The church was decorated with white gladioli and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath style gown of organza which featured a redingate-style overdress of Chantilly lace. The train was chapel length and she wore a stylized headpiece in matching lace edged with seed pearls to which was shirred the silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white rose buds tied with white satin ribbons.

Miss Catherine Donato of Kingston served as maid of honor for her sister. She wore an empire style sheath gown of maize chiffon with a cow-neckline and a waistband of matching satin and a stylized headpiece with a bouffant tulle veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchid colored carnations tied with satin ribbon to match.

Attendants were Mrs. Linda Baxter, and Miss Caroline deOlde, sister of the bridegroom, both of Kingston. Their orchid gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried cascades of yellow carnations tied with satin ribbons.

Gus deOlde of Kingston was best man for his brother. Ushers were Stanley Letus of Kingston, and Victor Oleschuk of Eddyville.

After the wedding a reception for 130 guests was held at the Capri, Port Ewen.

The bride selected a pink linen dress with yellow trim and matching accessories and wore a corsage of yellow carnations for her wedding trip to Nassau.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a secretary at IBM, Kingston. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and served in the U. S. Navy and is now employed at Ferroxcube Corporation, Mt. Marion.

The couple will reside at Port Ewen.

Felton-Burgher Nuptials Told

Miss Sandra Felton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Felton of Ruby, became the bride of Vernon Frank Burgher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burgher of Hurley, on Saturday, July 13, at the Plattkill Reformed Church, Mount Marion.

The Rev. John Needham officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Estelle Flicker, organist, accompanied Robert Brocius who sang traditional wedding selections. Family pews were marked with satin bows and the church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and snapdragons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza and lace bouffant gown with long tapered sleeves and a full chapel train. A princess crown of pearls and crystals held her imported silk illusion veil and she carried white daisies.

Mrs. Earl Cook Jr. of Saugerties, served as matron of honor for her sister. She wore a floor-length gown of yellow chiffon with accents of lace. A petal cap held her bouffant veil and she carried yellow daisies.

Attendants were Mrs. Charles Galvin and Miss Lorraine Winton, both of Kingston. They wore floor-length gowns of yellow and green chiffon, respectively, with lace accents. Their petal caps were fashioned similarly to that of the matron of honor and they carried green daisies.

Miss Nora Lee Cook, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor-length gown of green chiffon and a halo of flowers in her hair and carried yellow and green daisies.

Ivan Pece of Ulster Park was best man. Ushers were Gerald Styles, brother-in-law of the bride, of Saugerties, Donald Cook Jr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and nephew of the bridegroom, were ringbearers.

After the wedding a reception for 75 guests was held at the Alpine.

The bride selected a yellow ruffled dress with black accessories for her wedding trip to Cape Cod.

Mrs. Burgher is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a secretary by International Business Machines, Kingston. Her husband is also a graduate of Kingston High School, served two years active military duty, and is employed at WGB Oil Clarifiers, Kingston.

The couple will reside in Ruby.

Interfaith Group Fight 'Dope' Smut

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—On the wall of the office of the Rev. Morton A. Hill hangs an editorial cartoon that spells out two of society's most serious ills.

One portion of the cartoon shows a giant needle being plunged into the arm of a youth. It is labeled "Dope." The other half shows a similar needle plunged into the skull. It is labeled "Smut."

"One acts on the body, the other on the mind," is the way Father Hill explains the drawing.

Smut and its "destructive, violent" effect on the young in particular is the primary concern of the Jesuit priest and others who helped to organize and spearhead a volunteer interfaith organization called "Operation Yorkville."

"Operation Yorkville," incorporated last January and already going national, spells out its objectives: "To counter the effects on the young of material which incites to violence, drug usage, perversion and promiscuity."

Father Hill estimates that each year from $1 to $2 billion worth of smut rolls off profitable presses. Some 75 to 90 per cent of it finds its way into the curious hands of children.

It is drawing a fine line between squelching such material and maintaining one of the freedoms spelled out in the Bill of Rights—freedom of the press.

But Father Hill says that restriction of smut isn't restriction of the press. "Operation Yorkville does not restrict. It censorship or prior restraint. It does believe in obscenity law and its enforcement."

Molloys Celebrate Silver Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. PETER MOLLOY of 52 Spruce Street, Kingston, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday, July 20, at a lawn party at their home. Married July 18, 1943 at Holy Name of Jesus Church, Kingston, by the Rev. Joseph P. Gorman, they have two daughters, Mrs. Sharon Camarero of Englewood, N. J. and Peggy Molloy of Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Molloy also have two granddaughters. Attendants at their wedding were Miss Agnes Gorman of this city and Gerard Molloy of New Jersey. Mr. Molloy is employed by Kingston City School System, Consolidated. Many relatives and friends attended the celebration. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Guest Violinist Here Wednesday

MISS PATRICIA WOLERY, violinist with the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, will be guest soloist at the band concert scheduled for Wednesday, July 24, at 8 p. m. at Kingston's Academy Green. Miss Wolery has played in symphony orchestras in Honolulu, Quebec, Atlanta, and in summer symphonies in Ohio, New Hampshire and Wyoming. A member of the Hinton Theatrical Company for seven years, she had her own radio show in Honolulu. Miss Wolery has been soloist with the Santa Cruz Beach Symphonic Band in Santa Cruz, Calif., and has played concerts throughout the U. S. For this concert with Kingston Concert Band, American Federation of Musicians No. 215, under the direction of Marlin Morrette, she will play Czardas by Monti and When a Gypsy Makes His Violin Cry by Emery Deutsch.

Helpful Hints

Beginning sewers sometimes have trouble sewing their zipper plackets in straight. Instead of leaving an opening for the zipper, use the basting stitch on your sewing machine and continue the steam. This way the fabric is sewn together and has a standard seam allowance for the zipper to be applied to. After the zipper is in, the basting will come out easily and you have a neat-looking zipper.

Do you have trouble polishing two-toned shoes? Coat the brown part with colorless nail polish; then the white polish you use on the rest of the shoe will wipe off easily.

To save steps in a two-story house, put a basket at the bottom of the staircase. When you pick up something that belongs upstairs, don't make a special trip to put it away; put it in the basket instead. When you have to go upstairs for some other purpose, carry the basket along.

Add a few drops of vinegar to water used for moistening gummed tape. Vinegar causes the tape to stick better—great for wrapping packages to be mailed.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
Now that barbecue time is here, let me tell you what everyone in our neighborhood has done.

We have turned our garage into an "indoor patio room." We cook our food outside and eat inside on our garage patio.

In our garage, we put up wallboard and painted it and the floor. We also found some plastic Japanese lights and strung them across the room and put one of the inexpensive straw rugs on the floor.

But as we haven't been married long, we had to buy our outdoor furniture to use.

It was a fun project and really not too much work and was very inexpensive to fix up.

We are thoroughly enjoying our indoor patio these summer evenings, and thought perhaps others might like to hear of our idea.

Mrs. Hal L. Neat

Your idea is great, Shug. Guess that takes care of those quickie showers that sometimes call on us unexpectedly, eh.

Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I live in a small apartment and have the problem of a place to keep my soiled clothes. Also something to carry them in to the laundromat. Having such limited space, I didn't even have room for a laundry hamper or basket.

So I hit upon the idea of sewing two large bath towels together on three sides, leaving one end open just enough for a wire hanger to slip into for hanging.

This wonderful, washable bag serves both purposes—storing the soiled clothes and carrying them to the laundromat. It hangs neatly in my closet and takes up little space.

Mrs. S. E. R.

Dear Heloise:

Here's a hint about seams that ravel.

Cut nonwoven press-on pella into strips about 1/4" wide and press it to the very outside edge of the seams.

The pella is pliable and will not show on the garment. This works well on clothing that tends to ravel from washing.

Or, if you are making a garment from material that acts as if it will ravel, press this pella on the edges of the fabric pieces before you begin to sew and your garment will handle beautifully without raveling. Hopsacking, brocades, etc., that usually ravel, are wonderful when treated this way.

Mrs. K. Schlinger

Dear Heloise:

Canning doesn't have to be difficult if one takes short cuts whenever possible.

To save time I sterilize a number of jars in my large turkey roasting pan.

For those of you who are canning those goodies this summer, give it a try. Sure is easy.

Laurajane Alvin

Dear Heloise:

May I tell you how I handle the need for a towel when constantly washing and drying my hands while cooking?

I put a gripper on the left side of the waistband of my aprons where it has a sturdy place to grip. And put the other half of the gripper on a washcloth. Then just snapped it on.

I find this so handy. The cloth can easily be removed to throw in the laundry and replaced with a clean one.

Sherma

Chicken Salad Gets Special Dressing

Angostura Chicken Salad

Ever put a tart red apple in a chicken salad? Ever take mayonnaise and spice it up with a touch of onion powder and a good measure of Angostura bitters?

If you haven't, you should. This chicken salad has such an unusual grouping of ingredients that it will be tossed together often once it is tried. The various textures and tastes of the apple, asparagus, carrots, celery and other vegetables seem to blend and compliment one another.

The blend of spices that is Angostura bitters, of course, compliments almost any salad dressing. It is outstanding in this mayonnaise, bringing out the flavor of all the ingredients in the salad while adding just a hint of an exotic good taste of its own.

Angostura Chicken Salad

1 stewing chicken, about 5 to 6 pounds, cut-up
2 packages (10 oz. ea.) frozen asparagus spears, cooked and drained
2 cans (4 oz. ea.) button mushrooms, drained
1 can (1 lb.) peas, drained
1 can (1 lb.) sliced carrots, drained
1/2 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1/2 cup diced unpeeled tart red apple
4 cups shredded greens
Angostura mayonnaise

Cover chicken with water and simmer until tender, about 1 hour. Skin chicken and bone it. Cut meat into bite-size chunks. Arrange chicken and vegetables in rows over shredded greens. Chill until ready to serve. Toss with Angostura Mayonnaise. Yield: 8 servings.

Angostura Mayonnaise

1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup (1/2 pt.) sour cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 teaspoons Angostura aromatic bitters
1/2 teaspoon onion powder
Combine all ingredients and chill until ready to serve. Yield: 12 cups.

Maxiskirt Makes Fall Fashion Scene

By NADEANE WALKER
AP Fashion Writer

ROME AP — At last an Italian designer of high fashion has dared to stake her all on the maxiskirt.

While others toyed coyly with the idea, Tita Rossi came out with midriff skirts all the way.

The result almost stole the thunder from Princess Irene Galtzine, showing her first collection since bankruptcy—failed to knock her out of the picture for even a season.

Galtzine came back with a knockout collection Wednesday night. The top eye appeal number was evening trousers or iridescent gray plastic discs, built on foundation of metal lattice, with a good view of tanned legs through the open spaces.

Both Rossi, with midriff hems, and Galtzine, with skirts above the knee, put sex back in the picture with a capital S. Long skirts are split up the front and formal décolletage takes dizzying dips.

Princess Galtzine's most provocative number was a long, slinky, snakey black floor-sweeper, whose down-to-the-waist plunge was protected by a border of spiky silver icicles.

Rossi revealed nearly all with a transparent V of black chiffon on a clinging black crepe evening dress. See-through point d'esprit, in full-skirted romantic ball gowns, one black, one white, went over matching slim Bermuda shorts.

Sawkill Auxiliary Has Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company held its first summer meeting Monday, July 15, at the firehouse. Presiding was the president, Miss Laura Joy, assisted by vice president, Mrs. Arthur Gell; secretary, Mrs. Walter Holland; and treasurer, Mrs. Robert Clark.

The covered dish supper held recently for all community residents, under chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Ferrigan and Mrs. Douglas Dye, was reported successful with an excellent attendance of the townspeople.

The next planned event will be a teenage dance July 26 from 7:30 to 11 p. m. with music by the Back Porch Majority.

Auxiliary members, Mrs. Robert Ferrigan, Mrs. Donald Patton, and Mrs. Arthur Gell, will act as hostesses, and will be assisted by Mr. Ferrigan, Mr. Patton, and Mr. Gell. Refreshments will be served, and admission will be accepted at the door the night of the dance. All teenagers of the community are invited.

A rummage sale will be held at the firehouse on Aug. 22 and 23, 1 to 4 p. m. and 6 to 8:30 p. m. on both days. Chairmen for the rummage sale include Mrs. William Reynolds, Mrs. Joseph Popkins, and Mrs. Robert Clark. Anyone needing pick-up service for articles to be donated may contact any of these committee members.

Chairman for various committees were appointed, Mrs. Joseph Popkins will assume chairmanship of the loan closet; Mrs. Douglas Dye, ways and means; Mrs. Francis Joy, publicity; Mrs. Frederick Parker and Mrs. George Leedecke, chaplains; Mrs. S. Borhere, Mrs. William Reynolds, telephone committee. Mrs. Joy will be on the membership committee with Mrs. Joseph Popkins as co-chairman.

As this is the beginning of the new fiscal year for Auxiliary activities, anyone wishing to join may contact any member of the executive committee, or the chairmen of the membership committee. In the near future, letters will be sent to all residents of the area with forms for joining, or renewing membership. All women of the community and Fire Protection District are invited to join the group and participate in the activities.

The organization is primarily a service group to assist the Volunteer Fire Company and the community, but it is also a group of women who enjoy many social activities and association with neighbors and friends. This year the Auxiliary tentatively plans to have more activities for community participation including various demonstrations such as fashion shows and guest speakers. More definite plans will be made as the meetings progress.

The next meeting will be held at the firehouse the third Monday evening in August at 8 p. m. All members, interested women of the community, and guests are invited.

Plan Rotary Sail-Away

A Saugerties Rotary Club "Sail-Away" is planned for tonight at the Anchorage in Kingston. Boats will leave Saugerties Power Boat Club at 5:30 p.m.

There will be no meeting at Anton's.

At a recent club meeting, president Ernest Blake awarded a 13-year pin for perfect attendance to Morris Rosenblum, one of the club's charter members.

Discussion was held concerning the district foundation scholarship under which the club is sending a graduate student to Germany. The graduate scholarship will be awarded for the 1970-71 school year.

An undergraduate or a technical training applicant to study abroad will be selected this year.

Plans for the formation of an inter-district with an inter-governor were revealed. Herbert Schrauer of the Highland-New Paltz Rotary Club was a guest.

Sheriff Deputy Helps in Race To Beat Stork

Sheriff's Deputy Gerald Miller helped a young Woodstock couple beat the stork early today in a race to Kingston Hospital where the mother delivered a baby boy at 2:03 a. m.

The parents are Michael and Ruth Grehl, both 17, of 68A Yerry Hill Road, Woodstock.

The Sheriff's Office was alerted by Woodstock constabulary about 1:14 a. m. that Grehl was proceeding east towards Kingston on Route 28 with his wife, who was about to deliver. Deputy Miller intercepted the white Cadillac at the Route 28 Traffic Circle and escorted them through the city to the hospital.

Hospital authorities said both the mother and son were "doing fine." The newborn weighed in at 7 pounds 2 1/2 ounces. The Grehls, who will name the boy Michael, have Tina Marie, 11-months old.

Bell Plans To Suspend Billboard Use

H. Clark Bell, Republican-Conservative candidate for Ulster County Assemblyman today announced he will voluntarily suspend the use of outdoor billboards in his Fall campaign now that the Ulster County Planning Board has the question of outdoor advertising under study.

Recently County Legislator William R. West (R-12thD) introduced a resolution calling for regulation of outdoor billboard advertising. West's resolution was referred to the Ulster County Planning Board which is presently studying the matter.

Bell said he generally favors action aimed at preserving, and where possible, enhancing the natural beauty of the Catskills. He added he also realizes there are other considerations to be taken into account and is in the process of collecting research material as the Federal Department of Commerce reports on the 1965 and 1967 Highway Beautification program.

The voluntary suspension of the use of outdoor billboards by Bell will continue until research is completed and the Planning Board issues its report and recommendations on the subject.

Jaycees Elect In Red Hook

At the fourth meeting of the newly organized Red Hook Jaycees, the following officers were elected:

President, Jerome Motala; internal vice president, Philip White; external vice president, Carl Stone; secretary, Alexander Rutcher; treasurer, William Gilster.

Directors: Benjamin Donbal, Stanley Pruzan and Richard Van Etten.

The Jaycees were formed in Red Hook to develop leadership training through community affairs.

Men, age 21-36 are eligible to join the group which meets the third Tuesday of every month at Motor Rest, Rt. 9, Red Hook.

ive," Hoff said. He mentioned Texas Gov. John B. Connally as such a conservative.

Michigan's Romney spoke of dissatisfaction with the Republican field. "Most people are still undecided, uncommitted, unenthusiastic" about the big three GOP contenders, he said.

Romney said he feels that way himself. "If I was enthusiastic I'd have committed," he said.

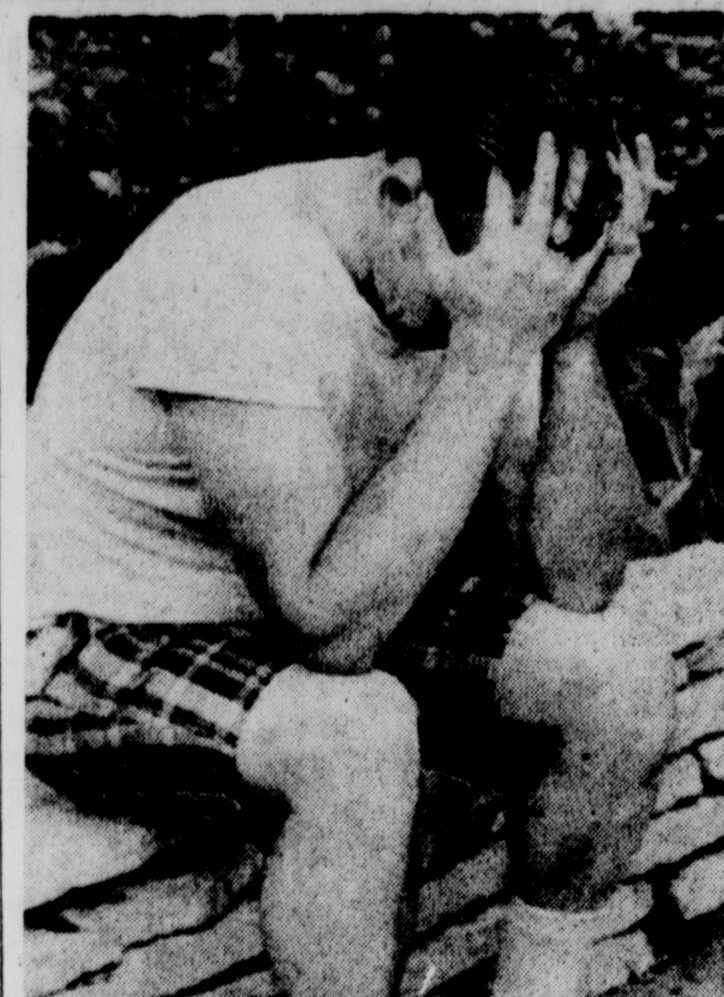

Two GOP governors who rank among the candidates were blending conference attendance with presidential campaigning.

New York's Nelson A. Rockefeller made a quick trip to Charlotte, N.C., to talk with convention delegates. His aides claimed he had gained the support of four delegates there.

California's Ronald Reagan went on a similar mission to Frankfort, Ky.

Rockefeller let it be known that he believes front-running Richard M. Nixon is losing some delegate support, most of them Southerners turning to Reagan.

In one political conversation, Rockefeller said he expected that after a fling with Reagan, many convention delegates would turn to him. He said that he does not believe Reagan can be nominated or could win the election.

GRIEVING FATHER — Grief-stricken Ted H. Moore sits on stone fence of Roseland Community Hospital in Chicago and sobs in anguish after learning three of his children died when fire swept through their apartment. Victims were Ted Moore Jr., 6, and his sisters, Debra, 5, and Kimberly, 13-months. Moore and his wife were at work at the time of the blaze. They had left the children in care of neighbors. ### Shotgun Blast Misses Newark Police Official NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Police Director Dominick A. Spina escaped injury today when a shotgun blast was fired through the livingroom window of his home.

Police said Spina was watching television in the room. His wife, mother-in-law and son were also in the house.

Motor Museum In Ellenville Will Expand

The Ellenville Motor Museum, owned by Harry Resnick, will undergo an expansion of its facilities with the inclusion of a new parking lot and a doll museum.

Land and buildings have been acquired by Resnick adjacent to the museum and work will begin shortly on the clearing of the property.

Resnick's son, Justin, told The Freeman that the parking lot and a new building for the doll museum should be ready by Spring of next year.

Dolls for the new Canal Street museum were acquired from Mrs. Connie Elman, proprietor of the Nevele Beauty Salon. The collection of some 650 dolls include antique and classic models.

Justin Resnick explained the new move by saying that while many men want to view the antique automobiles, their wives usually sit out in the parking lot, patiently waiting. The new museum will probably attract them, Resnick said.

Mrs. Elman will be the curator of the museum and she will also serve as a consultant.

Diamond Missing

A very valuable diamond wedding ring was reported lost Sunday on the grounds of the Alpine Rest at DeWitt Lake.

Darich Noble of 43-44 Kissena Boulevard, Flushing reported to the County Sheriff's Office that the ring contained 20 diamonds totaling 3.20 carats.

Warning Signals Ordered At Ulster Park Crossing

ALBANY — The Public Service Commission today ordered Penn Central Railroad to install automatic flashing light warning signals at the grade crossing of its West Shore Branch and Esopus Avenue in Ulster Park. The estimated $13,000 cost of the work will be divided between the railroad and the State.

Esopus Avenue is a town highway which extends 1.4 miles from Route 9W to a junction with Union Center Road. Highway traffic on it is classified as moderate but includes five school buses which must cross the tracks daily. Rail traffic over the crossing averages about 10 trains per day operated at up to 50 miles per hour.

Inspection of the crossing by the PSC staff indicated that it is approached from the west on a steep descending grade and that approach views are restricted in all quadrants.

The PSC held no hearing on the matter because the railroad indicated a willingness to accept an order directing installation of the additional protection. The crossing is now protected by warning signs only.

Some Mail Gets Through In Canada

TORONTO (AP) — Canadian postmen are on strike but some mail is getting through. It's moving by plane, truck, motorcycle, bicycle and even by sports car.

College students and businessmen, operating mail services, are offering to deliver mail to major centers between Vancouver and Montreal and to the United States and Europe.

The man with the sports car is Colin Davies of Toronto who has set up a daily "pony express" carrying mail to Buffalo, N.Y., for mailing there.

And three Seneca College students in Toronto have set up what they call night and day mail service and delivery. Renting two trucks and borrowing several cars, they charge $1 an item for city delivery and plan a twice-weekly run to Montreal for $2.50 an item.

Several Toronto services are delivering locally by motorcycle and bicycle.

In Vancouver, Dave Coho says he is flying to Toronto and will take mail there for 40 cents a letter or $1.10 a pound.

Another Vancouver man, who did not want to be named, has advertised a mail service to Britain and the European continent for $1.50 a letter.

In the meantime, the government and the Council of Postal Unions continued talks in Ottawa in an effort to end the five-day strike by 24,000 postal workers.

With no settlement in sight, the strike has tripled business for Gray Coach Lines' parcel express and is straining Canadian National and Canadian Pacific telecommunications services.

A CP railway spokesman in Toronto said Monday 90 per cent of the company's staff handling telegrams are working around the clock.

Two Teeners Drown

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Two teenage boys have drowned in Chautauque Lake near here, the older one in an attempt to rescue the younger.

Ralph Stewart Jr., 14, of Sugar Grove, Pa. was swimming near the outlet of the lake Monday when he went under. Sheriff's deputies said, Fred Haight, 18, of this city, dived in the water in an attempt to locate the boy, but also drowned, they said.

Both bodies were located a few hours later, they said. Stewart lived on RFD 1, Haight lived at 818 Jefferson St.

Spa Tax to End

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — The three per cent sales and use tax that took effect in this resort city 53 days ago will be repealed as of Sept. 1.

The City Council rescinded the levy Monday on the basis of an underestimate of the revenue it would produce.

The city had expected an annual yield of $750,000, but the accounts commissioner told the council the amount needed to meet this year's budget requirements would be filed by the end of August.

City officials did not rule out, however, possible reimposition of the tax next year.

Papal Document to Reaffirm Opposition to Birth Curbs

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI has decided to issue a document reaffirming the Roman Catholic Church's traditional opposition to artificial means of birth control, Vatican sources said today.

The Pope completed a 40-page document several weeks ago, which took this position. But he then decided not to publish it because of strong objections from liberal churchmen, the sources said.

They said the Pope has now revised this document and shortened it but made no fundamental changes.

"The document still recalls and confirms the teachings of his predecessors on this question," one source said.

It was not known when the Pope planned to issue the document. Vatican documents can sometimes be held up weeks or even months after completion.

The birth control question has been one of the most difficult for Paul in his five-year reign. He has been under strong pressures from church liberals to announce changes, including a majority of the special commission he appointed in 1963 to study the question.

But conservatives have been equally insistent the traditional teaching be reaffirmed. Conservatives on the special commission filed a minority report in 1965 urging the Pope to take this stand because "the church could not have erred through so many centuries, even through one century" on a question of this nature.

The church now permits Catholics to regulate conception in special circumstances only by practicing the so-called rhythm method—that is, abstention from sexual intercourse during the wife's fertile period.

Orientation Set In Ellenville For Pageant

The first orientation meeting in Ellenville for young ladies in the 17 to 28 year age bracket interested in learning more about this year's Miss Ulster County Pageant will be held Thursday 8 p.m. at the Town Hall, Ellenville.

This year's pageant will be held Sept. 14.

Color slides of last year's pageant will be shown. All young ladies and their friends are invited. To be eligible for the pageant a young lady must be a resident of the county and or attending a school in Ulster County. She must be a high school graduate at the time of the pageant and never have been married.

The winners of the pageant will share $1,000 worth of scholarships and other valuable awards. In addition the winner will be eligible to participate in the Miss New York State Pageant next summer in Olean. Both events are preliminaries of the Miss America Pageant held in Atlantic City.

Charged With Kidnaping Pregnant Woman

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A 21-year-old man was held at the Warren County Jail today on a charge of kidnaping a pregnant woman as she returned from a coffee shop before dawn Monday.

The woman, who was not identified, told police she had been raped. She reportedly lived in Schenectady and is 21.

Roger Rock of Glens Falls was arrested Monday afternoon on a street in South Glens Falls. Police said the woman had identified him as her assailant.

The woman claimed she had been forced into an automobile and released several hours later.

She was treated at the Glens Falls Hospital and released.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
NEW YORK STATE
CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT
BELLEVILLE MT. SKI CENTER
PINE HILL, ULSTER COUNTY, NEW YORK

Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, if hand carried, at the office of the New York State Conservation Department, Division of Finance, 855 Central Avenue, Albany, New York; if mailed, at the New York State Conservation Department, Division of Finance, Building #2, State Campus, Albany, New York, until 11:00 A. M. E.D.S.T. August 8, 1968.

The work of the contract includes resurfacing entrance roads and parking areas in the Novice Area with asphalt concrete. The Contract is titled Resurfacing Entrance Roads and Parking Areas, Novice Area, Belleville Mt. Ski Center, Pine Hill, Ulster County, New York.

Specifications and proposal forms may be obtained from the Director of Accounts, Conservation Department, 855 Central Avenue, Albany, New York or at Belleville Mt. Ski Center, Pine Hill, New York upon payment of a fee of Ten Dollars ($10.00). No refund of this fee will be made to any person.

The specifications for the above project may be inspected at the above offices and at the New York State Conservation Department, Bureau of Forest Recreation, Room 201, Elm St., State Campus, Albany, New York.

All proposals must be made on the official proposal form and enclosed in sealed envelopes furnished by the Department. Each proposal must be accompanied by a properly certified check for 5% of the amount bid without condition, payable to "New York State Conservation Department" as a guaranty that the bidder will enter into the contract and furnish the required bonds if the contract be awarded to him. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the execution of the contract and furnishing of the bonds by the successful bidder, but in no case will the checks of the unsuccessful bidders be held longer than thirty (30) days after the date of opening bids.

The Conservation Department reserves the right to reject any or all bids. An approved performance Surety Bond to the extent of One Hundred (100) percent of the contract price and an approved Surety Bond guaranteeing the laborers and materialmen to the extent of One Hundred (100) percent of the contract price will be required from the successful bidder.

No proposal shall be considered from "foreign contractor", i.e., in the case of an individual, a person who is a legal resident of another state or foreign country, in the case of a firm or co-partnership, one having one or more partners, legal residents of another state or foreign country and in the case of a corporation, one having its principal place of business in another state or foreign country unless such contractor has on file with the Conservation Commission a Certificate of the New York State Tax Commissioner that any taxes due and payable by such contractor under the provisions of article nine-a and section 11 of the Tax Law prior to the submission of the proposal have been paid.

Dear Abby

Fattie's Problem: Love

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman of 39 years and I weigh 237 pounds. I have weighed this much since I was a teen-ager and because of it I have never had a date. And I mean not one single date! My doctor just told me that I had to lose 100 pounds as my health is in danger.

My problem is this. I recently met a man and we were attracted to each other immediately. He weighs 302 pounds. He says he loves me and he doesn't think I need to lose any weight. So what do you advise?

MAYEBELLE: DEAR MAYEBELLE: I advise you to get this man to a doctor, and together you two should go on a diet. "Getting" a man won't help you much if you can't live to enjoy him — and he can't live to enjoy you. All vanity aside, fat smotherers good health.

DEAR ABBY: This may seem like a petty thing to complain about, but it is really getting me down:

My mother-in-law has the cute little habit of saying, "My son's house, and my son's children, and my son's this and my son's that." Everything is

Billy's. Nothing is ever mine. Yesterday I heard her tell a friend about "Billy's wedding," so I politely corrected her and said, "I beg your pardon, Mother, dear, but MY father paid for the wedding," then she laughed and said, "Yes, but Billy has been paying ever since."

Abby, I am so tired of hearing references to Billy alone as tho he had no wife, I am ready to explode. What can I do?

MARIE: DEAR MARIE: Keep telling yourself that nothing your mother-in-law says will get you down. And repeat if often, or the ulcer you develop will be all yours — not Billy's.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon, for the second time, and my fiancé insists I wear a white wedding gown and veil, just like a real bride. I have tried to tell him I can't do that, but he says I can if I want to and nobody can stop me.

The first time I wore a skirt and sweater and was married by somebody at the county court house. The whole thing took 5 minutes and I didn't feel like a bride at all. I was divorced a year later.

Is my fiancé right, Abby? Has anyone in my circumstances ever had a white wedding?

I would really love it, but I haven't the nerve. Should I?

BRIDE: Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO HAVE A LOVELY WEDDING," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOT MUCH FOR LOOKS" IN NEW LONDON, CONN.: Keep trying. The plainest man that can convince a woman that he is really in love with her, has done more to make her in love with him than the handsomest man who can produce no such conviction.

Another simple hand from "Popular Bridge" shows the value of keeping an entry for dummy's long suit.

This time it turns out that correct play cost South a trick, but this did not upset North in the slightest. He knew that South's line of play had been right.

South won the heart lead. There was no point holding off. Then he counted up his eight top tricks and saw that he needed one low card trick to make his contract. Therefore he led a diamond at trick two and carefully played low from dummy. East collected the trick with his jack and could not resist saying, "Thank you for the nice present."

South said nothing but he proceeded to rattle off the nine tricks he needed for game and rubber.

North could not let East's remark pass without a reply. His remarks in slightly expurgated form were: "Any time my partner needs criticism I am perfectly capable of taking care of the matter. His play was absolutely correct and the trick he presented you with was unimportant. On the other hand if diamonds had broken 4-2 as happens almost half the time, his play would have gained us a trick worth game and rubber.

Just for the record, the chances of various suit breaks are: 3-3—35½ per cent, 4-2—48½ per cent; 5-1 or 6-0—16 per cent. South wasn't going to make his game against a 5-1 or 6-0 break. His actual play insured his contract against 4-2 at the cost of one overtrick because the suit actually broke 3-3. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Allen Ludden

Thar's Gold in Syndication

EDITOR'S NOTE—Allen Ludden, for six years the host on "Password," and for three years before that on "College Bowl," has written several books, lectures a lot, toured this summer in stock with his wife, Betty White, and writes here about his new professional interest.

By ALLEN LUDDEN

NEW YORK (AP)—My mother has had a problem all year: She can't explain where I'm working.

"Password" was taken of the CBS network, yet friends from all over the country write to tell her they still see it every day. She read that I had a new, once-a-week musical quiz called "Win with the Stars," yet none of the stations in Corpus Christi were carrying it. (It helped when one of her local stations started carrying it.)

Friends Confused, Too

Since Mother and her friends are confused by the mysteries of syndication, I thought I might state the case for what I believe to be a great source of television programming. Within the next five years, I believe, network programming will be reduced. As quality syndicated programs in a wide variety of styles and shapes become available, those stations are going to use more of them to suit the tastes of their local audiences. There will be a whole new look to the national television picture.

So, what exactly is this syndication? Quite simply it is the production of a program on video tape which a local station can buy and broadcast. The money the station gets from the sale of commercial spots within the show is likely to net it a fatter profit than does the network shows they carry.

One instance of syndication is the success of "Password," which in syndicated reruns is in many markets outrating first-run network shows.

Encouraging, Dangerous

Suddenly the whole field of syndication—new shows and reruns—has started to look like a gold mine and many are rushing in to stake claims. This is both encouraging and dangerous. Dangerous, because some producers will try to job off a second-rate product. Encouraging, because others see a chance to produce programs of network quality often overlooked these days by movie-oriented networks.

As the networks become more and more locked into large blocks of movies and movietype serials, local stations are discovering this bonanza of quality programs, designed better to suit their local audiences.

Urge Senate On Air Jam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has been urged to take prompt action on a bill designed to ease the growing congestion that has all but throttled some of the nation's major airports in recent days.

A parliamentary protest Monday delayed action until today's session at the earliest while the blacklash of congestion and controversy over its cause posed mounting problems for the nation's airlines.

"This has really been put off too long," said Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., floor manager of the bill that would provide increased equipment and personnel.

He said air congestion is reaching emergency proportions.

While the Senate moves to cope with the long-range problem, acting Administrator David Thomas of the Federal Aviation Administration scheduled a meeting with the national chairman of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization.

In related developments, the Air Transport Association and the Air Line Pilots Association said there is a possibility some scheduled flights may have to be canceled because landing delays are eating onto pilots permitted flying time.

Members of flight crews generally are limited by contract to 85 hours per month in the air. When planes stack up over major airfields awaiting landing space, this counts in flying time and causes scheduling problems.

Mohawk Airlines was more specific, saying all its flights may have to be canceled the last few days of this month.

Senate debate Monday included an admission by the FAA that some controllers had attempted to slow flights.

Previously the agency said it had virtually no evidence of any deliberate slowdowns.

PATCO, which says there is a desperate need for more controllers, advised its members several weeks ago to go strictly by the book in requiring a three-mile separation between planes.

Resnick Flies Into Air Fray, Backs Mohawk in FAA Dispute

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick has flown into the fray over increased air traffic jams saying he supports Mohawk Airlines in its dispute with the Federal Aviation Administration.

Mohawk has charged that members of the Professional Air Traffic Control Organization have deliberately cut back on its output, causing serious delays in flights, departures and landings.

Mohawk, however, is reported sympathetic to the controllers and blames the FAA for the largest part of the problem of congestion.

The airline also reportedly feels the FAA is shortchanging personnel and equipment needs.

Blames Congress, FAA

Resnick said the problem is an example of "reaction rather than action," a problem of five years ago and an even bigger problem today.

He blamed both Congress and the FAA for the lag saying, "We had fair warning and it should have been looked into a long time ago."

"The people who voted to cut back on services are also the ones who are responsible for this," he concluded.

Resnick was joined in his statements by Congressman Samuel S. Stratton who cautiously said he would like to hear directly what Mohawk has to say and by Congressman Daniel Burton who said a bill proposed to establish a Commission on Air Traffic Control "won't move anywhere this session."

Cuban Pilot Will Return, Was on Hijacked Plane

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A Cuban-American pilot captured by Fidel Castro's government when his airliner was hijacked plans to return to Miami and his five children after three weeks imprisonment in his homeland.

George Prellezo, 36, appeared in good health after he and his wife, Olga, arrived in Mexico City Monday on a Cubana Airlines flight.

The flier refused to discuss his detention or his release.

Prellezo was piloting a Southeast Airlines DC3 which was hijacked on a flight from Miami to Key West on June 29. Eight years earlier to the day he fled to the United States in a plane he was flying for the Cuban airline Aeropostal and asked for political asylum. Later he became an American citizen.

Cuban officials had indicated Prellezo would be tried as a deserter.

Mrs. Prellezo got permission from the U.S. State Department to fly to Cuba July 13 to plead for her husband's release. The first word that she had been successful came from a State Department employee in Miami.

"My husband is very well," Mrs. Prellezo said. "We would rather not talk to anyone until we have talked with the American authorities in Miami. It's only fair."

The couple checked into a downtown hotel and spent the afternoon relaxing and shopping.

said Richard Hanley. "If she is in pain, she refused to talk about it."

Miss Taylor's operation Sunday was the kind that is not unusual for a woman "who has reached her age." Still considered one of the most beautiful women in the world, she was 36 last February.

The surgery involved removal of fibroid tumor, a mass of muscle fiber, and her womb.

"But, thank God, there is no question of cancer," Hanley said.

Richard Burton, Miss Taylor's fifth husband, sat at her side.

"He is very anxious about her," Hanley said. "Mr. Burton hasn't left her side since the operation."

Burton and Elizabeth have no children although she has three from her marriages to British actor Michael Wilding and showman Mike Todd and a daughter adopted when she was married to singer Eddie Fisher.

Early House Session On the Gun Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was called into session an hour earlier than its usual noon starting time today in a drive for final action on gun control legislation.

Before the House was President Johnson's bill to ban the mail order sale of rifles and shotguns, plus over-the-counter sales to residents of nonadjacent states.

Debate on six bills effecting the District of Columbia Monday prevented scheduled work on the last of more than 100 amendments to the gun control bill.

Chief among the amendments is one that would provide for licensing of owners.

The House defeated two amendments last Friday that would have required registration of firearms, removing all hope for such legislation in this session.

Although President Johnson originally asked Congress, in the wake of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, for the interstate mail order bans on rifles and shotguns, he later requested both registration and licensing, too.

Although it rejected registration, the House did toughen up the pending bill on one point. It adopted an amendment providing mandatory sentences for any person who carries a gun while committing a federal felony.

In a related development Monday, President Johnson announced in Texas that an appeal to governors to survey and tighten gun control laws brought favorable answers from 40 of the 50.

Press Secretary George Christian said announcement of the results did not mean Johnson was relying on the states to pass gun control laws because his own bill is having a tough time in Congress.

City Rated 'Spectacular' Host; Jaycees Back 3rd Straight Year

For the third consecutive year—an unprecedented honor—the City of Kingston will be host for the "Triple Play" of the New York State Jaycees Sports Spectacular.

The event marks the fifth straight year the Jaycees have conducted state championships in golf, tennis and track and field. The Spectacular is unique among the sports events available for youngsters in New York State.

Wiltwyck Country Club, Forsyth Park and Dietz Stadium will be the arenas of competition on Thursday, Friday and Saturday (July 25-26-27). The three events are conducted concurrently and are expected to attract more than 300 of the finest young athletes our state has to offer.

Prior to 1964, each event was hosted separately by one of the 220 Jaycee chapters in the state. In 1963, it was the vision of then-state president, Al Helo of Albany, and his Future Directions Committee to combine the events into a single Spectacular, providing the people of New York the opportunity to witness a unique, "Olympic-type," sporting event each year. Thus was born the Sports Spectacular, but with it came the major problem of finding suitable sites and accommodations for the 300-plus participating athletes, and their chaperones, families and friends that will attend.

Auburn First Site

Auburn was selected as the site for the first two Spectaculars in 1964 and 1965. The financial burden of running this $10,000 program caused the Auburn Jaycees a red balance sheet in the tune of many thousands of dollars during these years.

A major part of the budget involves the cost of sending three teams to represent New York in the National Jaycee Finals. In some years, as many as 25 state winners and their chaperones were sent to the three National sites, each located in different parts of the country, each a separate week in August.

Aware of the excellent facilities,

the first major task was to realistically determine the financial structure of the Spectacular, based on the knowledge that winning teams would have to be sent to Denver, Colorado; Tampa, Fla. and Greensboro, N. C. that year to represent the State in the National Finals. Registration fees were set at approximately $30 per contestant and chaperone. Sites, for the first time, and Kingston commended throughout New York State for an outstanding event.

The potential of the Spectacular now demonstrated, other Jaycee locals saw the benefits available for their communities. In 1966, the local Jaycees defeated Schenectady in their bid for the event at the State Jaycee Convention in August, and

Only with the help of local area business concerns such as IBM, Rotron, Hertz, Ferrocube and the Freeman among others, plus the willing assistance of local people such as N. Jansen Fowler and the Kingston Area Tennis Association, has the Sports Spectacular been possible, and successful in Kingston.

The Sports Spectacular is the culmination of the year-long Jaycees Youth-Sports Activities Programs among the numerous chapters across the state. The primary purpose of the programs are to give our youngsters a chance to learn the various sports through participation in supervised competition. The Sports Spectacular is the incentive and reward for those who work hard and excel in their own backyard.

The weekend's challenge is a thrill to the youngsters—for many, the first opportunity to compete away from home. For those who triumph, the trip to the National Finals is a once-in-a-lifetime remembrance.

In the past, attempts to break up the Spectacular, returning it to its original, separate programs, has been beaten back by the local chapter. The chapter believes very deeply that the events belong together—thus guaranteeing an organized, well-run success.

It is likely to be many years before Kingston will again host the Spectacular. There are too many other locals, and justifiably so, that want to bring it to their communities. We, however, take pride in its reign in Kingston. We will continue to seek it for Kingston, because, in our opinion we have helped develop from infancy, what is destined to be an even greater event for our youth in the years to come.

THE SPIRIT — of the Spectacular is exemplified by this youth soaring gently and easily over the high jump bar.

ties in Kingston and the close proximity of the Gov. Clinton Hotel, the New York State Jaycees approached the local area Jaycees in February of 1966. The local Jaycees of Coxsackie, Hudson, Kingston, New Paltz, Saugerties and Woodstock, comprising District II of Division II, voted to host the event for 1966.

With no outside funds avail-facilities, equipment and living accommodations were secured and nearly 100 Jaycees were assigned to various functions.

Initial Fees High

Even though registration fees were high, almost 200 contestants registered and competed. 1966 saw the Spectacular, under the expert handling of General Chairman, Ray Lauterbach of Woodstock, meet its expenses returned the Spectacular to Kingston in 1967.

Under the guidance of General Chairman George Leombruno of Saugerties, the 1967 program was even more successful with 220 contestants participating. For the first time, a beautiful silver challenge trophy was donated by Ferrocube Corp. for the Junior Golf winner.

Sports and youngsters . . . a great combination.

We congratulate the young boys who will be taking part in the Sports Spectacular, and we salute the Jaycees for developing and carrying out this valuable program.

We also encourage support of this activity by all citizens in Kingston and the surrounding region.

Roberts, Zeeh and Boyd Vie for Tennis Laurels

Dave Roberts and Bill Zeeh, Kingston High School's crack tennis duo, will be eyeing the Senior title at the New York State Jaycee Tennis Tournament to be held at Forsyth Park this weekend.

Roberts made it to the finals last year, but was beaten by Jim Kinley of Pearl River, 6-4, 7-5. Zeeh made the finals of the Intermediate Division last year, but was beaten by Ken Lindner of Brooklyn, 6-2, 4-6 and 6-4.

Zeeh was the winner of the Kingston Jaycees local tournament held on Saturday, June 22. In the finals of that qualifier he turned back Richard Heron of Hudson, 8-6 and 6-2.

Peter Boyd of Kingston earned the right to represent the Kingston Jaycees in the Intermediate Division of the State Spectacular by defeating his brother, Jimmy, in the finals, 6-4, 3-6 and 6-2.

Among the early entries are the winners of the Nyack Jaycees tournament, Dick Schild and Bob Resnick.

Schild was No. 1 player at Nyack High School this past year and will be entered in the Senior division. Resnick, No. 1 singles player at Nanuet High School, will compete in the Intermediate division.

Miller Is Director

Al Miller, popular former soccer and tennis coach at State University, New Paltz, is returning to serve as tournament director. Miller, also nationally known as a soccer coach, is at present head coach at Hartwick College.

Barba, in announcing that Fowler, Miller and the KTA would again lend their talents, said the success of the tournament is assured.

"We had a field of about 70

entries for the 1967 competition," said Barba, "but we look for an even greater turnout this time. With such a large group continuous until the divisional titles are decided starting at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Golf Tourney Attracts Crack Juniors

With the New York State Jaycee Golf Championship due in Kingston this weekend, it is interesting to recall that two of the world's greatest golfers—Big Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper—are former Jaycee National champions.

The field, as usual, will be high quality when the 1968 State Jaycees start their 54-hole grind Friday morning at 6:30 a.m. at Wiltwyck Country Club in Kingston.

State Jaycee champions are usually of top calibre. Terry Diehl, a strapping 17-year-old Rochester lad, fired a 221 for 54 holes over the rugged Wiltwyck layout to set a new record in the Senior division. Diehl has qualified for the New York State Amateur championships this week.

In the Junior Division (15 years and under), Don Kaledo, a 13-year-old from West Genesee, fired a 236 to capture the title and he, like Diehl, is also in the State Amateur.

Kolln Led Qualifiers

This year's area contingent is headed by Werner Kolln, a member of the Kingston High School varsity, who led the qualifying round at Woodstock Country Club with a fine 2-over-par, 36-36-72. Dan Powell of Colonial Country Club in Tannersville eliminated John Sentar of Twaalfskill in a sudden death playoff for the second spot, after they tied with 80's in regulation play.

Two 14-year-old future greats—Bobby Byman of Wiltwyck and Scotty Dean of Woodstock—are the Junior representatives. Byman toured the Woodstock layout in a 5-over-par 39-36-75.

Kolln will be joined by high school teammates Joe Bostic and Ed Byman in the Senior division and all three are rated top threats for the title. Doug Tatara of Wiltwyck will make a bid in the Junior group.

In the 1967 championships at Wiltwyck, Ed Byman finished 6th, Kolln, 9th and Bostic, 16th. Since then, all three were members of the undefeated Kingston High School golf team which won 11 dual meets, the DUSO and Section 9 championships and the New York State High School title.

Bobby Byman will have to contend with 14-year-old Don Kaledo in the Junior division, unless the upstate lad survives the late rounds of the State Amateur.

The two top finishers in the Senior and Junior divisions will receive expense-paid trips to the Jaycee International Tournament in Tulsa, Oklahoma in August.

Ted Beahm and Mike Frevert of Woodstock, who are the State and Local chairmen of golf, respectively, expect at least 100 junior golfers for the tournament.

This year's tournament will follow the same format as the 1967 event. Wiltwyck will be the site of practice rounds on Tuesday, July 25; two 18-hole preliminary rounds on Friday and the finals on Saturday morning.

The Twaalfskill Club will be the site of a consolation round Saturday morning for golfers who did not qualify for the finals.

Spectacular-A Joint Effort

The enthusiastic support of many local and area individuals and organizations has contributed to the successful efforts of district Jaycees to bring the New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular to Kingston for an unprecedented third straight year.

To say that the event is being hosted by Jaycee locals from Kingston, New Paltz, Saugerties, Hudson, Coxsackie and Woodstock would not be telling the whole story.

This year's Sports Spectacular is truly a community endeavor. The overwhelming backing and interest of the local business community as evidenced by pledges of more than $2,000 and individual commitments of both facilities and personal efforts from many interested people in the community is fully appreciated.

Without the help of all of the following co-sponsors the 1968 Sports Spectacular would not have become a reality:

N. Jansen Fowler and the Kingston Tennis Association, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Al Miller, Charles Tiano, Wilt-

wyck Country Club, The Twaalfskill Club, the City of Kingston, Andrew J. Murphy III, Hertz Systems, Inc.

Also, Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, Tonche Transit Co., the Kingston Automobile Dealers Association, Ferroxcube Corporation, Hercules, Inc., International Business Machines, Miron Building Products, Rotron Manufacturing and Ulster Tool and Die Corp.

The host Jaycees would like to thank all those people and companies who have insured the success of this year's Sports Spectacular.

The Presidents' Message

We, the presidents of the host District II, Division II, Jaycees, welcome all contestants from across our state and congratulate you on your outstanding accomplishments.

We are proud to join the 300,000 Jaycees across our nation in perpetuating, stimulating and improving interest and performance of American youth in golf, tennis, track and field. Have as a goal the enhancing of the educational and mental growth of our youth, with a balance of physical activity.

Believe that the foundation of a healthier, more fit American lies in the pursuit of sports activities.

Through its chapters' sports programs and this 1968 Sports Spectacular, are hopeful of providing to the youth of New York State training grounds for the future Olympic champions and leaders of America.

Woodstock Fields Top Track Team

25-KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN, JULY 23, 1968

New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular track and field events have produced uniformly high performances and the expectation is that the field will be up to par for the 1968 events Saturday at Dietz Stadium in Kingston.

John Lawrence of the Saugerties Jaycees is chairman of the meet and, with the aid of Kingston Superintendent of Recreation Andy Murphy, is expecting a much larger entry than last year.

Last year's meet in Kingston was highlighted by the setting of three new records in the Senior division.

Karl Thornton of Binghamton ran the 880 yards in 1:59.6. Norman Bounds, also of Rochester, leaped 6 feet, 5 inches in the high jump and Everett Oliphant of Tarrytown took the triple jump in 43 feet, 6 inches, for new State Jaycee standards.

Wappingers Falls Jaycees, loaded with talent from Wappingers Central High School team, captured the team title in the Senior division.

The only area winner was Don Arthur of Saugerties, who placed first in the high hurdles.

Winners in the Senior Division (17 and 18 years of age) will be eligible to represent New York State in the National Finals at Eugene, Oregon on August 15, 16 and 17.

Woodstock Jaycees, who fielded the best entries in the Intermediate Division qualifying meet at Onteora, are conceded an excellent chance of bringing home the Junior Champ Intermediate Trophy.

Dave Snyder of OCS, who placed third in the UCAL meet this year, qualified in a 10.1 clocking in the 100-yard dash. This is one-tenth of a second better than the current state Jaycees record of 10.2 set by Mike Sherman of Newburgh in 1965. Snyder will also compete in the 220.

Other Woodstock entries:

Sandy King, pole vault, was third in UCAL meet; Howie Ostrander, Intermediate low hurdles and discus; John Stahl, Intermediate 880; Allen Elsten, Rondout Valley Central, triple jump and high jump; Glen Chapman, Senior 880; Fred Middleton, triple jump, Senior.

Craig Hubbell, the crack miler, may also run for Woodstock.

Saugerties Jaycees will be represented by James Gilbane in the Senior discus and mile.

Roger Edwards will represent Kingston Jaycees in the 440 and shot put.

At Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa last year, more than 400 young track and field State Champions from 30 states gathered in competition. In that meet, eight new records were set and two were tied in the 13-event meet.

This year's meet promises to be even more eventful. The participants will have the opportunity to compete under the finest conditions available. The University of Oregon, under track coach Bill Bowerman, has enjoyed tremendous success and in 1962 and 1964 the NCAA Track and Field championships were held there.

In addition to the meet itself, the young participants will attend outstanding clinics featuring some of the best known names in the track and field world. Among those who have appeared in the past are Jim Beatty, Bob Richards, Richard Flowers and coaches Vern Wolfe (Southern California), Bob Timmons (Kansas), Francis Gretzmeyer (Iowa) and Bob Karnes of Iowa.

Spectacular's Official Staff

The official Sports Spectacular Staff includes:

State Chairman—Tom Condon, Plattsburgh, Jr. Champ; James Barba, Kingston, tennis; Ted Beahm, Woodstock, golf; Ray Lauterbach, Woodstock, Youth and Sports Coordinator.

James Spratt, Woodstock, general chairman; George Leombruno, Saugerties, co-chairman; Art Labuda, Coxsackie, treasurer; Vic Locke, Kingston, facilities - banquet; Pete Tosi, Woodstock, publicity; John Lawrence, Saugerties, co-ordinator; Bill Deilly, New Paltz, trophies and awards; Walt Winiewicz, Woodstock, Friday Night Entertainment; Frank Antalek, Saugerties, national transportation.

THE JAYCEES CREED

The Jaycees Creed which governs all activities of the International Jaycees is as follows:

That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life; That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;

That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise; That government should be of laws rather than men; That earth's great treasure lies in human personality; That service to humanity is the best work of life.

Cahill Eyes Gridiron-Not Podium

(Freeman Sports Staff)

The dinner Saturday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel marks the close of the Kingston Jaycees-hosted New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular. It culminates all the hard work and hours of preparation which by then, will be history. All eyes are on next year's extravaganza.

All but one pair of eyes, that is. They belong to Tom Cahill, the banquet's featured speaker. For Cahill, head football coach at the United States Military Academy (Army) at West Point, now is the time to roll up his sleeves and start work in earnest for the 1968 campaign, his third at the helm of the Cadets. The hours of preparation are before him, he's looking to next month, not next year.

A month from now, Cahill and his Black Knights of the Hudson go into serious training for the coming season. The personable coach spent the summer teaching-and-learning at coaching clinics; at the same time forming in his mind some general ideas his team will utilize this year.

It wasn't always that way. Less than two years ago, Cahill was the Plebe (freshman) coach at the Point. He spent the summer preceding the 1966 season as an unprepared, tired, worried man.

Succeeded Dietzel

That winter, Cahill's boss, Paul Dietzel, resigned as head mentor at the Academy to take a similar post at the University of South Carolina. Spring practice, usually reserved for light contact drills but plenty of plays—the experimental kind—was without any guidance, because no successor had been chosen.

The summer of 1966 found Cahill and the rest of Army's staff leaderless. Cahill spent it supposedly resting at home. Instead, he spent it worrying over who the new coach would be, asking himself, could he get along with him, would his plans be different from those of Dietzel?

Those thoughts tore through his mind all summer, and instead of preparing himself mentally for the grind ahead, Cahill was biting his fingernails nearly to the bone. "What am I suppose to do," was a question he asked himself a thousand times over.

Summoned by Brass

Almost two years to the date of the Jaycees' fete, Cahill was called in by the athletic committee. Several candidates had been interviewed for Dietzel's vacancy—the papers had made their own predictions and speculations—but the sporting world was waiting right along with Cahill, for some announcement as to who would take over.

The tall, black-haired Cahill expected to be told at that committee meeting, who the new head man was and that Tom was either fired; would work with him on the varsity level as an assistant; or remain with the new players as Plebe pilot.

Instead, the committee interviewed Cahill for the post, liked what they heard and saw, and within hours, informed him he was chosen. They broke it immediately to the wire services. The next day's headlines read, "Rookie Coach Elevated to Army Head Grid Post."

TOM CAHILL

Sports columnists and the readers of sports pages throughout the country asked the question, "Who is Tom Cahill and why did Army hire a rookie to bolster their fortunes — when a proven veteran like Dietzel had only modest success?"

Cahill, with just about a month to get ready for the opening day of practice, shrugged off the questioners and plunged headlong into preparation.

With so little time to prepare and no experienced quarterback, Army wasn't figured to do much. They were already writing the epitaph to Tom Cahill's tenure at the Point.

Had Best Season

The results, like this year's spectacular, will shortly be history. Army enjoyed its best season in more than two decades, piling up an 8-2 record including a big win over Navy and to top it off, Cahill was chosen by his fellow coaches as the "College Football Coach Of The Year."

A year ago at this time, the writers were singing the praises of Cahill and his Cadets. The new forecast was for a long reign at the Point by Cahill, providing he didn't leave for greener pastures, and rumors were floating that several pro clubs had made him offers. Army was picked to be among the top collegiate powers in the country

Again, Cahill shrugged off the newspapers and instead of sitting back on his 1966 record as some coaches often do, went right back to work and produced another 8-2 record.

It's Another Year

It's another year, and as usual, Cahill is knee deep in preparation. He's making up his schedule of workouts, figuring his depth charts, setting up game plans, trying to get the plebe coach's ideas in line with his own, and believe it or not, working on Army's schedule 10-years from now.

So if he leaves out a few conjunctions Saturday or hangs a couple of dangling metaphors, forgive him. Undoubtedly, his mind is a month in the future — thinking of handing out the playbook, the sweatsuits, hearing the sound of shoulder pads colliding with blocking dummies, the whistle blowing for the end of a play, the quarterback barking signals, the five-yard penalty and perhaps even the 45,000 screaming fans who'll jam Michie Stadium for the season opener in September.

An Editorial

The 1968 New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular, being hosted by the City of Kingston for an unprecedented third straight year, in a sports promotion worthy of community support.

Beyond those individuals and organizations and business firms who contributed money to the 1968 coffers, area residents can show their appreciation of the tremendous efforts of the District II, Division II Jaycees by turning out in large numbers for three sports events.

Golf will be staged almost continuously at Wiltwyck Country Club Friday and Saturday, with the championship climax Saturday afternoon.

The tennis phase of the Spectacular will be in progress at Forsyth Park from 8 a. m. on both Friday and Saturday.

The track meet starts at 10 a. m. at Dietz Stadium Saturday, with some of the finest high school thinclads slated to see action.

Area response to qualifying in golf and track failed to come up to expectations. It was a different story in tennis.

The Kingston sports public has largely ignored the Spectacular events the past two years. They should turn out in better numbers this weekend. All the events are open to the public.

Kingston cannot go on hosting forever. This might conceivably be the last time for a few years. A large turnout of spectators is desired.

Everyone knows that spectator sports are "dead" in small towns. How about making an exception for the Spectacular.

Tennis Association Gives Helping Hand

One of the finest examples of community cooperation with the annual Jaycees Sports Spectacular is that between the Jaycees and the Kingston Area Tennis Association.

The moving hand behind the Association, of course, is N. Jansen (Nick) Fowler, whose roots in Kingston area tennis date back to the Golden Era of local tennis in the early 1930s.

That was the period of Randall Rose, Westbrook Stelle, Stan Hancock, Robert Herzog, Chet Fox and many others. Up Woodstock way, when tennis was part of the country club operation, a young man named Gardner Mulloy was about to launch a career that would make him internationally famous in Davis Cup and Senior net circles.

Fowler was the driving force behind the organization of the Kingston Tennis Association and he was assisted by many tennis-minded persons. The basic tenet of the KATA is to stimulate interest in tennis to organize and promote competition and to provide some form of instruction for young people desiring to learn the basic skills of the game.

Here the interests of the association and the Jaycees dovetailed perfectly and the Jaycees have had the solid support, backing and guidance of KATA the past three years. Fowler and Al Miller, former State U (New Paltz) tennis and soccer coach have been invaluable to the Jaycee tennis tournament.

The 1968-69 officers of the Kingston Area Tennis Association, besides Fowler are: Bill Spangenberg of Woodstock, vice president; Dick Smith, Kingston, 2nd vice president; Ray Lauterbach West Hurley, secretary; Nancy Alexander, Kingston, treasurer.

On the board of directors are: Bill Carr, Saugerties; Tom Conway, Margaret Grover and Marshall Lipton, all of Kingston.

Honorary membership in KATA has been voted to Andrew Murphy III, the Kingston Superintendent of Recreation, who works closely with the association and the Jaycees, and Al Miller.

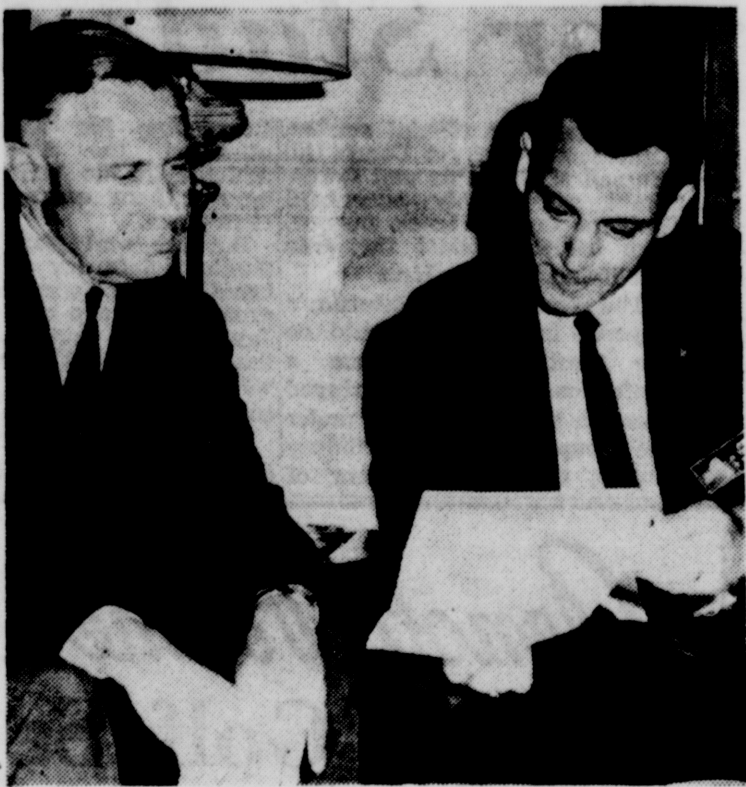

The association is a non-profit organization and the officers and directors give of their time and services without compensation. Membership is open to any person interested in tennis.

Special committees of KATA are: Facilities and Improvements—Fowler, Lipton, Smith, Bill Zeeh; Ulster County Tournament—Spangenberg, general chairman; Bill Carr, Bryan Halterman, Lauterbach, Avery Smith, D. Smith.

Men's Ladder—Carr; Ladies Ladder—Kay Spangenberg, Haltermann; Special KATA membership tournaments—Joe Scott, chairman, Joe Hevesi.

Jaycee District and State—Fowler, Miller, D. Smith, Lauterbach.

Membership—Fowler, Nancy Alexander, Lauterbach.

Buzzy Costello Advanced To International Tourney

William (Buzzy) Costello, formerly of Kingston, is the only area golfer ever to have carried the banner of the Kingston Jaycees into the International Jaycee Tournament.

He captured the New York state championship then advanced to Omaha, Nebraska, where he placed third in a galaxy of young stars from all over the globe.

A tremendous high school player, Costello, now in federal service, ranked among the top five golfers in the Kingston area. He captured one Ulster County Amateur title and then placed second in another. Costello also excelled in the United States Golf Association Juniors.

The field at Omaha was a star-studded one.

The winner at Omaha? Marty Fleckman, the brilliant young professional and protege of Byron Nelson, who led the 1967 U. S. Open for three rounds at Baltusrol, N. J. and was in contention for three rounds of the recently completed National PGA tournament at San Antonio, Texas.

Is there another Buzzy Costello in the 1968 field at Wiltwyck? Time will tell.

New Face-Lifting for Stadium

Thanks to the intensive efforts of a group of Saugerties Jaycees, headed by track chairman John Lawrence, State Spectacular track and field entrants will find almost flawless conditions awaiting them Saturday at Dietz Stadium.

Working almost daily for the past several days, the Jaycees assisted by machinery from the Board of Public Works have transformed the badly deteriorated stadium facilities to a near-perfect track and field layout.

Assisting Lawrence have been Ray Peterson, former track star at Kingston High, Kelton Chubb, George Pardonner, president and Bob Martin, from Woodstock, Paul DeLisio, the District president, and John Spratt general chairman, have visited the stadium to lend assistance on several occasions.

Track Is Rolled

The track has been rolled several times and will be rolled for the last time Saturday at the eerie hour of 4 a. m. At 6 p. m., the stadium crew will start painting in the lanes. White calcium was applied on the track surface last Saturday to help keep its shape and firmness.

All holes have been filled in on the track for its entire length. The inside curb along the track was painted white, as will be all the boards down the main running track.

All grass has been clipped and trimmed from the discus and shotput circles which also have been painted white. The rough edges of the track have been squared for its entire length to make it the perfect oval it was originally designed to be.

Modern Equipment

The conventional sawdust pits for the pole vault and high jump have been replaced by the eye catching "Cloud Nine" foam rubber for the pole vault and foam pieces for the high jump.

Thirty youngsters associated with the summer beautification program in the city will give the stadium a going over the likes of which hasn't been seen for years at the uptown park. A complete policing project is planned to clear every piece of trash or debris in the entire stadium area.

Desire Perfect Track

"We will settle for a perfect track, free of grass and perfectly level," said Lawrence. "We confidently expect that, barring no complications in weather, the Dietz track will produce several new state Jaycee records on Saturday."

Additional sparkle and color will help beautify Dietz Stadium for the occasion. The Jaycees have acquired a large amount of bunting and about 20 American flags will be distributed around the stadium.

A huge "Welcome Junior Champ" banner will be draped over the pressbox. The bunting, flags and painted field sections will combine to give the stadium a professional atmosphere for the brilliant young athletes converging on the city.

Top high school track figures of the area are again assisting the Jaycees with technical details in running the meet. Several meetings already have been held with Jaycee officials to insure a smoothly run track meet.

Kias Is Starter

G. Warren Kias, former athletic director and track coach at Kingston High, will again serve as official starter. Others assisting are Coach Bill Russell of New Paltz and Bernie Stahl, the highly successful Onteora Central track mentor, who helped conduct the area qualifying trials in June.

The atmosphere of Saturday's Jaycees track meet should be the most exciting since a professional meet was staged there in the early 1930's under the supervision of Sidney Lutzin, the superintendent of Recreation for Kingston. It attracted the finest track athletes in the United States, among them several Olympic champions.

But the real story at Dietz Stadium Saturday will be the beautiful transformation of the area by a group of determined Jaycees who made a pledge that unlike 1967, the 1968 entries would compete under the finest conditions humanly possible.

They appear to have achieved that goal.

AF General Killed in Viet

A Cooling Splash for Summer Day

In lieu of beach a backyard dunkin' will do just fine as seven-year-old Mary Ann Cermak finds out. Her 11-year-old sister Nancy mans the hose at their 22 Davis Street home. After a blissful weekend, temperatures again started to climb Monday reaching a high of 92 degrees at 4:40 p. m. Today's forecast is for the return of muggy weather with mercury readings in the 90's. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

DA NANG (UPI)—Maj. Gen. Robert F. Worley, vice commander of the 7th U.S. Air Force in Vietnam, was killed today when his plane was shot down by Communist ground fire 65 miles northwest of Da Nang, the Air Force reported.

Worley was piloting an F4C photo reconnaissance jet, a spokesman said. The second pilot in the plane parachuted to safety and was rescued.

Worley became 7th Air Force vice commander in July, 1967, and had been scheduled to become deputy chief of staff for operations, headquarters, Pacific Air Force, Sept. 1.

An area 65 miles northwest of Da Nang would be well below the border of North Vietnam but towards the border of Laos.

Worley, 48, was a native of Riverside, Calif. He had made his home in recent years in Palm Desert, Calif.

He began his career as an enlisted aviation cadet in 1940 at March Field in California and was graduated from pilot training at Brooks Field, Texas, in May, 1941 as a 2nd lieutenant.

During World War II he saw action in the North African, Sicilian, and Italian campaigns and also served in the Pacific. His combat record included 120 aerial missions and 215 combat hours in P40 and P47 aircraft.

Meanwhile Communist artillerymen slammed 135 mortar and rocket rounds into the U. S. war complex at Da Nang, the most intensive shelling of the war against the northern base. Six Americans were killed and 30 wounded, military sources said.

At the same time, the Communists hit Quang Ngai

City on the northern coast with 56 rounds and were thrown back attempting to take over the radio station there. Government spokesmen said 47 persons were killed or wounded, including four civilians.

The two attacks were the heaviest shelling in more than a month in the threatened northern quarter and may have been the prelude to the widespread Communist offensive expected before Sept. 1.

Near Tam Ky, 40 miles south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines were reported engaged in heavy fighting today in the first major battle in that area in several weeks.

UPI correspondent Raymond M. Wilkinson, reporting from Leatherneck headquarters at Da Nang, said 60 Communists were already dead. There was no immediate field reports of U.S. casualties.

"Last night was bad," said Lance Cpl. Ken Bond of Johnson City, Tenn., telling of a 30-round mortar attack on the Marine helicopter base at Marble Mountain near Da Nang. "Now I'm worried about tonight. They say we're going to get hit again."

Five rockets slammed into the sprawling Da Nang airfield itself, destroying two airplanes and heavily damaging two others.

All of the casualties were suffered at either Marble Mountain, the Marines' big fighting today in the maintenance compound for helicopters of the 1st Air Cavalry Division (airmobile).

The Communists, as they have in the past, were apparently trying to knock out the U.S. helicopter supplies, thereby limiting reaction capability to widespread attacks.

The Wallace Bug-A-Boo Has Governors in Tizzy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) —

Governors of both major parties, some of them openly disenchanted with their prospective presidential nominees, are fearful that Alabama's George C. Wallace may succeed in stalemating the race for the White House.

And there is a growing movement to support a Republican-Democratic agreement to settle any deadlock—without dealing with third-party candidate Wallace.

One Republican planned to propose that such an accord be written into both the GOP and the Democratic party platforms next month.

Two Democrats, one from the South, one from the North, agreed that if either party entered post-election negotiations with Wallace, bartering policy concessions for electoral support, it would destroy that party politically.

Republican Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island sought backing of the 60th National Governors Conference today for a plan which would have the Republicans and Democratic nominees agree in advance to support whichever man receives the most popular votes in the Nov. 4 election if there is no majority victory in the Electoral College.

Should there be no electoral majority, the Constitution would send the presidential decision to the House of Representatives with each state to cast one vote.

A state's electors normally vote for the candidate who wins the most ballots in that state.

Chafee proposed that the GOP and Democratic nominees agree that the national popular vote loser would "exert his influence" among electors pledged to his candidacy to guarantee electoral College choice of the candidate who wins the over-all ballot count.

He sought conference approval of a resolution urging that plan upon the two major parties, and indicated he would like it to be part of their platforms.

A variation of that plan would have the parties agree to support the popular vote winner, without regard to political affiliation, should the decision go to the House.

Chafee said there is "a clear and present danger" that there will be no Electoral College majority because of the third-party Wallace race.

Some form of major party agreement to break a possible deadlock also had the endorsement of Republican George Romney of Michigan and Democrat Philip H. Hoff of Vermont.

Hoff said a Wallace-produced stalemate "could cause a major disruption" in the United States and abroad.

Without endorsing the idea, Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana forecast some such plan would be adopted. He said Wallace currently has enough support to deny an electoral college majority to both major candidates in a close race.

"It's a matter of fact and reality that this is going to happen," he said of major party pact aimed against the Wallace bid for bargaining power in the White House race.

Gov. Albert P. Brewer of Alabama said he believes Wallace could carry 12 states. He said he would support an agreement to give the White House to the candidate obtaining a popular vote plurality, and argued that this would give Wallace a chance of winning the presidency.

Brewer said he would campaign for Wallace. McKeithen said he supports Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency. But he avoided any criticism of Wallace, saying that was too much to expect of a Deep South governor.

While McKeithen said Humphrey would be a great president, an undertone of criticism continued in the conversation of some Northern Democrats.

One Midwestern governor said he is not satisfied with either Humphrey or Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota as a presidential nominee—and added many delegates and party leaders feel the same.

"I look for a dark horse," this governor said.

Few Democrats agreed. But the Midwesterner, who asked that his name not be used, said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., could emerge at the convention in a presidential role. He said there will be a tremendous emotional demonstration when Kennedy appears in Chicago.

"It could precipitate a nomination by acclamation," the governor said.

Most Democrats thought a vice presidential nomination more likely for Kennedy, if the Massachusetts senator wants the assignment.

Hoff said Humphrey "is having difficulty establishing his own identity," and said he is not satisfied with the prospect of a McCarthy candidacy.

He said if nominated, Humphrey must have a liberal running mate. "It would be the kiss of death for him to come forward with a vice president who is an acknowledged conservative," he said.

No Answers Yet on Ted Kennedy Enigma

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says whether he would ask Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to be his running mate is "greatly dependent on Mr. Kennedy's wishes and views" but the Massachusetts senator's wishes remain a question.

Hopes of a Humphrey-Kennedy ticket have been expressed by a number of Democrats at the National Governors Conference in Cincinnati and Humphrey said Monday night he was sure he and Kennedy will one day talk politics.

The vice president made the comments during a taping session for the "Dick Cavett Show" on the ABC television network. Humphrey did not say he was offering Kennedy the vice presidential spot. Asked at a news conference earlier about the possibility, Humphrey replied there were a number of Democrats who could fill the spot.

Kennedy has made no comment on repeated suggestions since the assassination of his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, that a Humphrey-Kennedy ticket would boost chances for a Democratic victory in November.

There was new guesswork that plans might be in the making after a meeting in Hyannis-port Sunday of leading figures of the late President John F. Kennedy's administration and Robert Kennedy's Democratic presidential campaign.

But Frank Mankiewicz, who was on Robert Kennedy's staff, said the meeting was one of a series on planning a "living" memorial, possibly a foundation, for the slain senator.

"There wasn't anything political in the meeting," Mankiewicz said.

Humphrey also said Monday he would make no deals with third party candidate George C. Wallace for his electoral votes if neither major party candidate won a majority in November.

"I would rather not be nominated as a candidate for president," Humphrey said, "than to have to depend on a racist vote to get the nomination."

Labor troubles, meanwhile, continued to slow preparations

for both national party conventions.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said in Chicago his party's convention "might be moved" from that city if the telephone strike is not settled in time for installation of communications.

But Bailey said no decision has been made. He said he has not talked to officials in Miami Beach, where the Republican convention begins Aug. 5, about the possibility of moving the Democratic convention there three weeks later.

Electrical workers picketed CBS in Miami Beach for the third day Monday, bringing most work at the GOP convention hall to a standstill. But all three networks said a delay of several days would not cripple their preparations.

In other political developments:

—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller sought delegate support in North Carolina for the GOP presidential nomination but sources said he failed to sway any of the state's 26 nominating votes.

—GOP contender Richard M. Nixon taped television shows in Los Angeles and then went into seclusion at a friend's home in Laguna Beach to rest until Thursday.

—McCarthy continues to hold a firm lead over Nixon—42 per cent to 34—in the latest Harris Survey but Humphrey's lead over Nixon—37 per cent to 35—has slipped since a survey in June.

The survey, a copyright feature of the Washington Post, also shows Wallace with 35 per cent support in the South and 10 to 20 per cent, depending on the opposition, in the rest of the country.

Czechs Win First Round, Soviet Troops Pulling Out

PRAGUE (UPI)—The Soviet Union's soldiers sped out of Czechoslovakia today. Czech Communist reform leaders mustered their arguments and waited for the Kremlin's masters to come.

According to observers, the Soviet decision to pull out its maneuver forces quickly and to send its entire 11-man ruling presidium to talk to the defiant Czechs averted—at least temporarily—an explosion in East Europe's major crisis of the decade.

The Soviets eased the situation, the observers said. They ordered stepped up departure by their forces here. They gave in to Czech demands that a summit meeting of both nations' Communist leaders be held on Czech soil.

But the crunch would come at the confrontation meeting. No exact date, no site has been announced for the summit disclosed here and in Moscow Monday night. Some sources said the Soviet leadership already may be en route.

The Czechs, struggling to defend their eight-month-old anti-Stalinist drive for "democratization," said the Soviets were being invited "with the aim of enabling them to acquaint themselves in detail on the current developments and conditions in this country and to exchange opinions on questions of mutual interests."

The Soviets—in official notes and in Moscow newspapers—have been charging that Czech reform is leading this former satellite from communism. The Soviets accused the United States, West Germany and the West in general of abetting anti-Communist counter-revolution here.

Specifically, the Soviets have demanded the Czechs once more muzzle their press—which has been openly critical of the Soviets—and slap down all political groups but the Communist party. Moscow warned Monday the Communist world would not allow this country to slip from the Red defense network.

Czech Communist leaders have not given one hint of backing down on their drive for more freedom, more independence. The Czech Reds pledged allegiance to communism, to the East Bloc and argued they both can remain good Communists and carry out their reform policy.

Meanwhile, the United States told Russia Monday in the form of a protest, that it is not guilty of Soviet charges of interfering in the Czechoslovakian affair or other East European matters.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred for about 20 minutes with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin "to object to this continuing series of allegations that the United States has involved itself in events in Czechoslovakia."

Rusk told Dobrynin, according to State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey, "that these allegations are not true and asked for an explanation from the Soviet government."

Dobrynin did not comment on the charges, Rusk said, but promised to bring the U.S. protest to his government's attention.

Meantime, the State Department had no official comment on reports that the Soviet government had agreed to send top representatives to Prague to discuss with the Czechs the reform movement they have mounted.

The charges most published in the official Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, have included:

—A report that arms made in the United States, and intended for subversive elements, had been found in Czechoslovakia. (Czech officials said the cache apparently was a "plant" by Soviet forces during or after the Warsaw Pact maneuvers in that country.)

—An allegation that the Defense Department and Central Intelligence Agency have worked out plans for anti-Communist operations in Czechoslovakia and elsewhere in Eastern Europe.

Algeria still regards itself in a state of war with Israel, a leftover of the June 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

In Rome, airline officials said the nine Italians aboard included eight Roman Catholic priests bound for a Holy Land pilgrimage. A child also was on board. In Paris, French officials said the Italians were being flown there from Algiers.

Italian sources in Algiers said a "high Israeli personality" was on the plane. In Jerusalem, the Israeli foreign office denied this. So did the Israeli Embassy in Rome.

In Rome, airline spokesmen said the hijackers acted an hour after the jet left Rome. Israeli officials asked the Italian government for aid in freeing the plane and passengers. Israel said it was protesting the action through the United Nations.

Arabs Seize Israeli Jet

ALGIERS (UPI) — Five Palestinian Arabs waving hand grenades hijacked an Israeli airliner carrying 48 persons from Rome to Tel Aviv today and forced the jet to land in Algiers.

Airport officials in the Arab capital said nine Italians aboard the El Al Airlines flight 426 would be allowed to fly back to Rome later in the day.

Besides the 10 Israeli crewmembers, others on the jet included 22 Israeli passengers, an American identified only as a Mr. Kairy, several Indians and Canadians and two Colombians.

The Algerian government said today it would free all persons aboard the Boeing 707.

Algerian sources said the two hijackers burst into the cockpit and threatened pilot Capt. Oded Abarbanel with the grenades. Radio messages from the jet, heard in Rome and Athens, said, "We are Palestinians. We have seized the plane and christened it 'Liberation of Palestine'."

Israel is formed out of what used to be called just Palestine. Palestinian Arabs long have sought to oust the Israelis.

Rosendale Flood Control Project in Progress

Work on the long-awaited Rosendale Flood Control project has been in progress for a few weeks now according to Warren L. Larabee, chairman of the Rosendale Flood Control Committee. The project includes bringing Main Street up to the existing grade of Rt. 32 from Snyder Avenue to that point where it intersects with Rt. 32. In addition work will include elimination of the north channel around Ackerman Island, widening and deepening the channel, lowering the lips of LeFevre Falls and straightening the creek between Rt. 32 and the Thruway span. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Phone Lineman Is Crash Victim

Richard J. Szczepaniak, 22, RD 2 of Goshen, a lineman employed by the New York Telephone Company, was killed yesterday afternoon while repairing lines on River Road in the Town of Marlboro.

Szczepaniak was seated in a hydraulic powered bucket chair, attached to his repair vehicle, when the brakes of the truck released accidentally. The bucket was extended to its full height, approximately 40 feet, when the incident occurred. The truck rolled down a slight grade, ran off the side of the one lane dirt road, went down a steep embankment, and rolled over several times before coming to a stop.

Will Auction Lands Here on Wednesday

General C.V.R. Schuyler, Commissioner of General Services, announced today the public auction of several parcels of detached forest preserve land to be held at the Ulster County Court House, July 24 at 2:30 p. m. All of the parcels are of rural land 10 acres or under, and are outside the boundaries of the forest preserve proper.

West Hurley Youth Wounded In Gun Mishap

A twenty-one year old West Hurley youth was injured yesterday afternoon when the shotgun he was loading accidentally discharged and wounded him in the left foot.

State Police report that Gerald Wilson Howland of Van Dale Road West Hurley was hunting for woodchucks in a wooded area near his home when he stopped to reload his .20 gauge bolt action shotgun. The weapon went off while the muzzle was pointing to the ground, wounding the youth in the left foot.

Howland was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for open fractures of the second and third toes of the left foot. Doctors at the hospital also are considering a traumatic amputation on the two wounded toes.

Howland was treated at the scene of the accident by Doctors Ricardo Gardinico and Joseph Conrad of Kingston.

Terror-Filled Ride for Woodstock Girl, 13-State Alarm Issued for the Suspect

By JON POWERS

An eleven-year-old Woodstock girl was kidnapped Sunday night in Woodstock, assaulted, and finally released in Kingston by her unknown assailant after a terror-filled three hour drive through Ulster County.

Sought on Three Charges
Police have issued a 13-state alarm for the fugitive, described as being a white male, approximately six feet tall with black hair and ranging in age from twenty to fifty years. The man is being sought on charges of kidnapping, assault and attempted murder.

Ulster County Sheriff's Department Investigator Harold T. Bowers pieced together Sunday's episode after questioning the young victim at her home yesterday. The girl was reportedly picked up and forced into the car of the assailant, described as a black sedan with a plain interior between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m. Sunday evening near Sully's Bridge, off Tinker Street in the village of Woodstock.

The girl told police that the man tied her up with light rope and threw her into the back seat of his car, ordering her to stay down and keep quiet. The man then drove out of Woodstock, and proceeded to the southern shore of the Ashokan Reservoir, probably along Spillway Road in West Hurley.

The girl was then driven south on Route 209 to Hurley, where they entered the new 209 highway and drove to Stone Ridge. At Stone Ridge, the driver took Route 213 to the High Falls - Rosendale area. It was at this stage of the journey that the man pulled off Route 209 near a wooded area. He dragged the girl out of the car and into the woods where he attempted to sexually assault her. The girl also told police that the man attempted to choke her while they were in the woods.

After assaulting the girl, the assailant dragged her back into the car and drove to Kingston. The girl was released at approximately 12:15 a.m. Sunday on Wall Street near the intersection of Route 32, where the man gave her a dime to call her parents. He told the girl that he had a wife and two children of his own at home and that he wanted her to get home safely.

The youngster was picked up shortly after the fugitive drove away by Ptl. George Barringer. He took her to the Ulster County Sheriff's Department where she told police of the incident. She was taken to Benedictine Hospital later that morning and treated for slight bruises of the body and rope burns of the wrists and hands. She was accompanied to Benedictine by sheriff's deputies, two uniformed State Police and her parents.

The Sheriff's Department is continuing its investigation into the episodes of Sunday night. Investigator Bowers told the Freeman today that the FBI would be informed of the kidnapping, but that he did not expect the bureau to actively enter the investigation because the girl was not transported over the state line.

The Department is still searching for clues to the kidnapping. They said that the description of the man was sketchy, but that they do have further information about the fugitive's car that could not be released at this time. They are hoping that the 13-state or is familiar with the area.

Bowers said that the girl would be taken back over the route of her trip sometime today. Police hope to pinpoint the exact location of the wooded area where the girl was assaulted. If police can determine whether the kidnapper knew where he wanted to go, and if he was at all familiar with this area, they may be able to narrow the manhunt down to this immediate area. At this time there is some speculation that the fugitive either resides in Ulster County or is familiar with the area.

Weinstein Takes Post As Assembly Speaker

By GERRY MCLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Moshe M. Weinstein, a strong believer in political loyalty, was set to be sworn in today as the acting Assembly speaker largely because he stood by a Brooklyn ally during a crisis three years ago.

Weinstein, the aggressive leader of the Queens County Democratic organization, remained steadfastly behind Brooklynite Anthony J. Travia in 1965 when Travia was locked in a struggle for the Assembly speakership with the powerful Stanley Steingut.

Weinstein's support was crucial to Travia, Steingut, head of the big Brooklyn Democratic Committee, held more votes than Travia in the balloting for the speakership but not enough for a majority of the 150-member house.

Thus, when Republicans intervened after six weeks of stalemate and threw their votes to Travia, Weinstein emerged as the majority leader. In that capacity of chief Democratic floor spokesman, he provided the "bark" and Travia the "bite" in continuing battles with a Republican governor and a Republican-controlled Senate.

As floor leader of the majority, Weinstein took his signals from the fiery, hard-driving Travia and specialized in rapid-fire oratory designed variously to confound, anger and amuse his Republican enemies and Democratic allies.

It was clear that he chafed sometimes under the tight rein Travia imposed, but the 56-year-old Weinstein never complained publicly.

When Travia was elected president of the 1967 Constitutional Convention, he turned again to Weinstein, whom he called "My cherry bomb" — a reference to his debating style — to name him majority leader. When it became apparent that Travia planned to leave the Assembly to become a federal judge, Weinstein quietly began to line up support for an anticipated fight with Steingut for the leadership.

He automatically became acting speaker when Travia resigned but the term expires in January.

Weinstein, a lawyer who began his assembly career in 1959, says he's confident his party will retain control of the Assembly. And he professes to anticipate "no prolonged bloodshed" in election of a new speaker.

If elected speaker, Weinstein would be faced with a decision as to his dual leadership roles. While he hasn't made his mind up, he says he doesn't think he could "do justice" to both the responsibilities of the speakership and the county leadership at the same time.

As speaker, even on an acting basis, Weinstein continues to be concerned over what he sees as "the tarnished image" of the legislature.

Time and time again, he has proclaimed publicly his pride in the Assembly and in his membership in the legislature. He says he would strive to convey to the public a clearer picture of the work performed by lawmakers.

Ruling on Fortas Called Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP) — An opponent of President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations has labeled as propaganda a Justice Department report favorable to chief-justice-designate Abe Fortas.

The comment was made Monday to the Senate Judiciary Committee by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., whose request that Justice Department representatives be called to explain the report at today's committee session was granted by Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

The unexpected development came after the committee apparently had wound up its hearings into Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren and—at least temporarily—into the nomination of Homer Thornberry to be an associate justice.

The Justice Department's 27-page memorandum on the "judicial performance of Mr. Justice Fortas" was put in the record last Saturday by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

Hart said he had requested it to provide "more balanced record" after the critical questioning of Fortas by Ervin and Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

The memorandum, commenting on decisions in which Fortas participated, concluded this way:

"Notwithstanding the quibbles about particular votes and decisions, the verdict of the American Bar... is that Justice Fortas has performed remarkably well in three years, fulfilling the promise that one of the nation's greatest lawyers should become one of its greatest justices."

Ervin called the Justice Department document an attempt "to propagandize the committee" and said he intended to answer it and wanted to question the lawyers who drafted it.

If the department didn't make them available, Ervin said, he wanted Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark or his deputy called to testify about the document.

The memorandum reportedly was written in the office of Deputy Atty. Gen. Warren Christopher.

HEART PATIENT WALKS — The world's 26th heart transplant patient was able to step from his St. Luke's Hospital bed yesterday, only 36 hours after receiving his new heart. Fred C. Everman, 58, an Arlington, Va. barber received the heart of a 33-year-old housewife in a Houston hospital. He is assisted by Mrs. Alice Nye, RN. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Nebraska Man: 27th Transplant

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Surgeons transplanted the heart of a youth fatally injured in an auto accident into the body of a Nebraska man today in what they described as a very successful operation.

It was the 27th such transplant in the world and the second in three days at St. Luke's Episcopal hospital, where seven now have been performed.

Hospital spokesmen identified the recipient as Henry W. Jurgens, 57, of Beatrice, Neb. They said he entered St. Luke's Sunday suffering from advanced heart disease.

The donor was Michael K. Buxton, 16, of Houston, who suffered massive head injuries in an auto accident Monday morning. He died at 12:47 a.m., the hospital reported, and the transplant surgery was completed at 2:15 a.m.

Dr. Denton A. Cooley supervised the operation, as he has the others at St. Luke's. Attendees said he considered it very successful and pronounced Jurgens in highly satisfactory condition.

Hospital spokesmen said the patient who received a new heart Saturday—Fred C. Everman, 58, a retired barber from Alexandria, Va. — was able to walk unassisted from his bed to a chair.

Everman received the heart of Evelyn G. Krikorian, 33, a Houston housewife who died of complications from a kidney ailment. He was reported in "very satisfactory condition."

Sirhan Bishara Sirhan will enter an insanity plea, based on brain damage suffered during a fall from a horse, to the charge of assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the Pasadena Independent Star News reported. The plea is expected to be made on Aug. 2, when Sirhan returns to court. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Flowers and turtles and birds and butterflies. They're all a part of Kathy's little world. But, last week while chasing an orange spotted friend, Kathy fell on broken glass, and her little world was in trouble.

She needed blood, and a rare type at that. Her father took her to the hospital, she got all the blood she needed, and Kathy's little world was saved. And it didn't cost a penny extra because her father has Blue Cross Blood coverage.

This program was started for people like Kathy, but her little world is only a part of the picture. In New York City alone, 1000 pints of blood are needed for transfusions every day. And the need may very well grow.

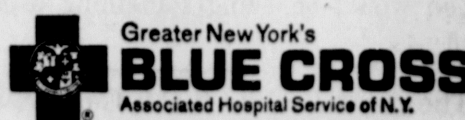

But we think that no matter how much blood is needed, it should be there. That's why Blue Cross gives its enthusiastic support to the Greater New York Blood Program, and is working toward the day when everyone in the greater New York area will have blood when he needs it. Any time. Any amount.

This effort is only the first step toward enough blood for everyone. But we think it's a pretty important step. Because we believe that blood is one of those things that shouldn't have a price tag.

Call Blue Cross today to learn how you can be a member of the Blue Cross Blood Program.

The Winds of Peace

Even in Panmunjon, Korea, the peace talks were held daily. True, they were protracted, but the two sides talked every day. Paris, with its once a week meetings, is a far cry from peace talks. It is more of a diplomatic holding operation.

The real action toward peace is taking place on the battlefields of Vietnam. North Vietnam infiltrated a mass movement of fresh troops but it has not struck a decisive blow. Since the Tet offensive in February and the second wave in May, the war has slowed down. Even the attacks on Saigon and Hue have not been renewed.

The American looks for a final effort on the part of the enemy, to try to topple the Saigon government by attacking the capital. American and allied troops are preparing for the blow. But it has not come. Casualties on both sides are the lowest in months, confirmation that the fighting is slowing down.

What the enemy will do next, no one knows. But it seems clear the North Vietnamese are re-evaluating their position. If they decide that they cannot win a decisive victory, they did at Dienbienphu in 1954 against the French, they may decide they would do better to talk peace. Then Paris may come alive and the talks become meaningful.

American firmness has compelled the enemy to evaluate the cost of continued fighting. The American political conventions will show whether they can expect a better deal from the nominees who will determine the man they would have to deal with if they do not make peace before January 20.

It may be by August, and if not then by November 5, election day, Ho Chi Minh will make up his mind. There is still a chance of peace this year, if it looks to the enemy as though Johnson would do better by them than Nixon, or Humphrey, or Rockefeller or McCarthy, or whoever is the next President.

World Statistics

Of the 3.5 billion people in the world today, the annual United Nations Statistical Yearbook tells so much that it is hard to choose from the statistical riches what to select.

Because the question of food for these teeming billions is so vital, it is necessary to report that world food production rose eight per cent in the three years from 1963 to 1966, but the per capita increase was only two per cent. Adequate food remains a problem.

Because health is so important, it was interesting to find that Israel had a doctor for every 410 persons—about one to every 100 families—where there was only one for every 76,200 persons in Rwanda.

And because radio and television are so common here, it was surprising to learn that there were 600 million radio sets and one-third as many television sets, or 198 million; apparently mostly in this country.

Maybe the biggest disparity is in consumption of steel, the base for so much of modern civilization, of which the United States leads the world with 1470 pounds per person, compared to two pounds per person in Malawi.

And so it goes, with statistical proof of the vast disparity between the industrial powers and the undeveloped ones, the rich and the poor, the educated and the illiterate. It sort of makes one wonder gratefully about all our blessings and how we can share even more with those not so fortunate.

HERO Volunteers

It stands for Help Elected Republican Officials. It is a group of housewives and mothers in Washington who have given 20,000 work hours as volunteers to lighten the load of Republican members of Congress in the current session. It is known by its abbreviations, HERO.

Organized by Mrs. Anne Peterson, who got the idea from the work she did as a Red Cross volunteer worker, HERO volunteers open and sort mail, answer telephones and generally help the paid, and frequently overworked staff members.

An ordinary congressman's office is geared to handle 500 letters a day. When an avalanche of 20,000 letters and telegrams descended on the office of Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the Republican House leader, on the open-housing provisions of the civil rights bill, HERO went to the rescue. The volunteers opened, read and filed according to viewpoint every letter and telegram. Ford thanked them personally.

They are also rewarded with certificates for 50 hours' work, pins for 100 hours and luncheon for 500 hours. Everybody can't go to Washington to volunteer, but local officials probably can use such volunteer help and the women would be doing something useful for their community.

The giant Lockheed C-5 Galaxy, able to carry 750 passengers, has added another great weapon to America's military might. The 58 Glaxys the Air Force has ordered can ferry a 5,000-man Army brigade fully equipped into the battle zone.

David Lawrence Says

Both Parties Have Large Amount of Dissension

WASHINGTON — Most people are unfamiliar with the wiles and pressures that actually bring about the nomination of a presidential candidate by a political party.

There is also prevalent a confusion between the kind of campaign which an aspirant for the nomination carried on before a convention and what he is up against when he is confronted later by an opponent from another party.

Thus, the controversy today between Senator McCarthy and Vice President Humphrey has little meaning so far as the selection of a president in November is concerned. For the candidate who is nominated at the Democratic National Convention will be chosen by the party leaders in the various states — not just the governors and mayors but the men and women who hold the reins in state, city and county political organizations.

There has been an overemphasis, too, on the importance of the primaries. Only eleven states have presidential preference primaries, and the bulk of the delegates from all states will be motivated by factors that have much to do with their own local political contests as these might be affected by straight-ticket voting.

Analyzing the present situation in the Democratic contest, Humphrey certainly has a better chance of getting the nomination than anybody else, but the question of whether he can win the election against Nixon or Rockefeller is an entirely different story.

The polls today show that Wallace takes away more votes from the Republicans if Rockefeller runs, whereas if Nixon were nominated he would get a substantial segment of the Democratic vote along with the Republicans in the South. But the Rockefeller supporters are arguing that it is the vote in the West and East, particularly in the big population states, which will count most. Current polls, however, indicate Rockefeller would just about break even in electoral votes outside the South against any prospective Democratic nominee.

So observers are puzzled by what is meant when they read about the attitude of governors of states and other politicians and the claims of "hidden strength" among the delegates. Certainly the Rockefeller forces are waging an intensive operation to win the help of political leaders inside the party in all states. But a survey of the 26 Republican governors just made by the United Press shows that seven in the group are backing Rockefeller, and Nixon has the endorsement of six. Thus, half of the Republican governors are not venturing at this time to take a stand for or against either of the two leading candidates. It is evident that these governors are waiting to consult with their delegations at the National convention itself before making a final decision.

To date it would appear that Nixon has the lead for the Republican nomination and that Humphrey will become the Democratic nominee.

The question of which party will win the election is another chapter, and once the conventions are over, the character of the discussion will change. The uncertainty about the outcome in November will be enhanced by the possibility that there will be considerable dissension among Republicans if Rockefeller is nominated, but much less if Nixon is the candidate. This is because Rockefeller failed to support the Republican presidential nominee in 1964.

The Democratic party, on the other hand, will encounter a substantial amount of dissatisfaction among voters who have been supporting McCarthy. While it isn't likely that all of them will vote the Republican ticket, it may be that many not only will not work for Humphrey but will stay home on Election Day. These are the factors which will have to be evaluated after the nominees have been selected. For it does look now as if both parties will have a large amount of dissension within their ranks. After the conventions have been held, the extent of the dissatisfaction and the number of dissident voters in each party will, therefore, have to be surveyed or polled in order to appraise realistically the probable outcome of the November election.

Getting Into the Act

Many Usurp 'Intellectual' Label

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the unrest that has marked United States history since 1965 and our heavy entry into Vietnam, this country has heard so much about its intellectuals that it must imagine them a veritable army in themselves.

On almost any aspect of the war issue or of urban strife, it always seemed possible to collect the signature of hundreds if not thousands in the academic world for a letter to the New York Times or some sort of petition.

This year, for the first time, political reporters found politicians talking of the academic world as a political force in the geographic sense. Areas like Madison, Wis., and South Bend, Ind., were often discussed as "academic enclaves" rather than as commercial or industrial centers.

Yet there is reason to believe that the impression left by these developments is quite misleading.

Author Irving Kristol suggests that no really great enlargement of the nation's intellectual community has in fact occurred. Intellectuals, defined as those individuals with a special capacity for critical inquiry into the affairs of men, are, in his view, still a fairly rare commodity.

Where the great academic expansion has taken place, Kristol adds, is in the lower to middle echelons. The explosion in attendance at United States colleges and universities from 2.6 million to some 7 million in something more than a decade has required a vast recruitment of instructors, teaching assistants and other intermediate types.

With the help of a good many indiscriminating liberal, this new force has awarded itself the label intellectual. It has tended to lump itself with the nation's rather small fraternity of seasoned scholars.

Kristol, with evident good sense, argues that the label is not deserved. Many in this youngish army of academics are hardly more qualified as critical thinkers than the students they are teaching. In a very real way, they are to be compared most accurately with the swelling numbers of junior business managers, government workers, lawyers and other professionals whose services are needed to cope with an evermore populous America. It is not too harsh to say that many in the academic world are fundamentally technicians.

The point in all this is that the country may be grossly overvaluing their critical judgments. To brand them intellectuals and then multiply by their numbers is to give them enormous special weight to which they are almost certainly not entitled.

One can sympathize with them in their quest for high status since this country for too long undervalued its teachers. But the answer to that error is not to overvalue the labors of thousands who are at the low - to - intermediate stages of their profession.

Furthermore, in their search for status too many have invested their undertakings with a kind of frenzied advocacy that is quite out of character with the spirit of detached inquiry teachers are supposed to bring to their work. Their fervor has sometimes seemed to be an acting - out of angry frustrations and has too often led them into misguided support of rebellious students when the cause was shabby and the method of revolt was outrageously undemocratic and disrespectful of human rights.

The new young academic army is a force of interest and importance, but it is something much less than an intellectual bellwether for the country.

Drew Pearson Says LBJ Shows Skill in Handling Eastern European Ferment

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has used great skill in handling the present crisis between Czechoslovakia and the Soviet, the most serious crisis Eastern Europe has seen in this decade.

If he had talked of liberating the so-called "captive" nations as did John Foster Dulles, or allowed his Vice President to tour the Hungarian border as Richard Nixon did in 1956, it would have been used as an excuse by the Red Army to take over Czechoslovakia long ago. During the Hungarian crisis Nixon flew to inspect the Hungarian rebellion and announced that "communism had been given a mortal blow from which it would never recover."

Instead Johnson has initiated a new air route between New York and Moscow, concluded a new Soviet cultural agreement, won Soviet assent to a discussion of missile disarmament. Aware of the split inside the Kremlin regarding Czechoslovakia, he has been careful not to give any ammunition to the Kremlin rightists who want to blame all Soviet problems on "American imperialism."

Meanwhile the situation inside Eastern Europe continues to be full of dynamite. The Red Army has 22 divisions in East Germany, the biggest concentration of troops anywhere in the far-flung socialist orbit.

They are there partly to pacify Walter Ulbricht, the communist boss of East Germany and No. 1 Stalinist of the communist world. Were it not for Ulbricht's die-hard hatred of the West there would be no great problem between Moscow and Czechoslovakia.

"Russkis Go Home"

However, public opinion in Czechoslovakia is running strong and there are signs painted on the walls of Prague in English, reading "Russkis go home."

To understand the delicate, potentially dangerous situation in Eastern Europe you have to know the countries involved. This writer has visited these countries, dating back to 1919 when, immediately after World War I, I spent two years in Yugoslavia doing relief work for the American Friends Service Committee.

In recent years I have revisited Romania, trips to Yugoslavia. They are countries with deep - rooted culture and a nationalist history dating back over a thousand years, proud of that culture and history. They are individualists. But they are so small that they cannot exist alone. They need the cooperation and protection of their big neighbor in Moscow just as Central America needs the cooperation and protection of its big neighbor in Washington.

Actually the Red Army has been a great economic boon to these East European countries, for it gives them protection without draining their budgets. Their situation is similar to that in the United States if we could transfer the $70 billion we spend for defense and use it on education, slum clearance, and our big cities instead.

This is what has happened in Eastern Europe.

In return for the protection of the Red Army, however, Moscow has demanded unswerving loyalty to the communist system. And with the exception of the Yugoslavs, who 20 years ago kicked over the traces, Moscow has got it.

This is the basic controversy between Russia and Czechoslovakia today. The new Czech government wants to desert orthodox communism for democratic socialism, arrived at by elections rather than by party decree.

This is what Yugoslavia has come around to. It is also pretty close to what West Germany enjoys — a socialism voted by the people.

Actually West Germany is a long way from having a capitalist system. So is France, especially under the new DeGaulle promise of worker participation in factory operation and factory profits.

In brief, what the Czechs want is the protection of the Red Army without the domination of the Red Army; a socialist system voted by themselves, not imposed upon them.

If left alone, the Czechs and the Russians will probably work out their problems. This is the basic Hungarian policy, to keep hands off.

Reagan's Hands-on Policy
The worst policy the United States could follow is that of Gov. Ronald Reagan in California, who signed a proclamation commemorating the anniversary of the "independent state of Croatia." This is the Nazi puppet government formed by Hitler during the war, and which some Croatian exiles want to keep alive despite the fact that Hitler's Croatian stooge massacred 700,000 non-Catholic Serbs and 30,000 Jews.

The slaughter was denounced by the Pope and all responsible Western Catholics. Nevertheless, the man who was in charge of the police at that time, Andre Artucovic, has been given refuge near Long Beach, Calif., and his fellow exiles in California continue to stir up trouble.

Fortunately the California legislature voted to rescind the resolution commemorating the anniversary of Hitler's puppet Croatia after Gov. Reagan had signed it.

However, the incident illustrates the same type of short-sighted policy advocated by such men as Rep. Paul Findlay, R-Ill., and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who want to hamper trade, credits, food for Peace shipments to the Eastern European nations which now seek semi-independence from Moscow.

Henry J. Taylor Says Another Middle East Crisis

The biggest news often breaks where it does not seem to be. It also often breaks — Korea, the Congo, Vietnam — in areas about which readers may know too little to make any judgment whatever. Then explosive events bury the needed understandings, sometimes forever.

As we enter another Middle East crisis, with all we know of new, dynamic Israel we know too little of the Arab world. We persistently misconstrue Arab - Jew relations. On the whole, they lived together peacefully and successfully in the Middle East for centuries, and for long years as allies held together by their mutual hatred for their British masters.

Britain constructed the postwar Arab League in 1945, partly to protect her own interests in the Sudan, but this aim failed the Anglo-American support of Israel carried the Arab animosity against Westerners into an animosity and fear of Israel as well. The oldest anti-Jewish sores began to be reopened. The rest is current history. And the Kremlin knows well the Arab saying that the fisherman catches fish in troubled waters.

The Arab world is a land lost to the past and still to be born in the future. When Greek historian Herodotus saw the pyramids in Egypt they were 20 centuries old. They were as remote in time to him as Athens' Acropolis is now to us. Egypt was rich in art and accomplishments when Europe was in its Stone Age.

Reflecting 700 years of Spain's Arab occupation, Gibraltar (Jebel Tariq) the Arab lock on the door to the Mediterranean. And the Arab gentleman was bathing in luxury at Cordoba, the caliph's ancient capital, when the British gentleman at Oxford thought it was dangerous to wash.

It is not a fable that the Queen of Sheba, with her feet like a goat, traveled in caravans of 10,000 spice-laden camels. But Cleopatra's image is twisted. Cleopatra was no more Egyptian than Julie Christie. She was a Greek, the last of the Ptolemy rulers of Egypt.

Some years ago I wrote the section on Africa in "The Book of Knowledge." I have lived for long periods with the Arab in his towns and deep in his deserts, fascinated. There is something strange about beautiful, overfertilized tropical Africa, some quality of discontent that often leads to despair and hopeless idleness, whereas in Africa's desert this is rarely so.

Christianity has never flourished in the desert, never quite taken hold. Mohammedanism has never caught on in the jungles. There Christianity gains two heathen converts to Islam's one. In the desert regions it is the opposite.

The camel is a newcomer. It has been there — from Asia — only since about 1200 B.C. So is Mohammed (570 - 632 A.D.) a newcomer. He is the only man who ever wrote the whole testament of a major faith (there are about 456 millions) within his lifetime and by himself. The entire Koran is only two - thirds as long as the New Testament alone — but in the Arab world it is everything.

The muezzins say the first beautiful, soaring, haunting call to prayer five minutes before dawn: "Come love, come weep, come wonder." Mohammed's finger a rosary while their lips murmur the 99 sacred names of Allah. The message of the Koran is called the Sidk, the Truth. All is ordained — Mektoub. It is Written — and none but Allah can alter anything.

Yet resignation is not a quality of the Arab, whose fierce unarmored forefathers defeated the armored barbarians, founded at least three empires and did not permanently retreat after centuries of contest with the Crusaders.

Do the Arabs believe the Israel that defeated them in only six days in June, 1967, will survive? Sensibly, they should. But "unto every nation a fixed time is decreed," says the Koran. The purpose of the Soviet's immense arms aid, vastly larger than President Johnson had disclosed, is to add great troubles to the overextended United States through our Israel allegiance.

It is the Kremlin's bet on the blind fatalism and fanaticism that can be fanned and is totally the reverse of our public's natural assumption that the 1967 debacle against Israel would make the Arab world say, "Enough is enough."

Community College
High Falls, N. Y.
July 18, 1968

Editor, The Freeman:
I read with interest your article about the new temporary building at Ulster County Community College in Tuesday, July 16, paper. In this day and age when voters all over Ulster County are voting down school budgets it is interesting that UCCS goes right on spending as if there were no tomorrow. The taxpayers of this county spent good money on architects that would lay out a long range plan for the college. We have been on the new campus for one year and already the long range plan is destroyed beyond repair. Anyone who takes the time to drive to the campus will realize that the temporary building is not temporary and will be here for many years. It has been placed on what used to be a parking lot. Since the parking lot is gone, the college has had to build a new one. The entrance to the college used to wind through a beautiful orchard. Now this has been replaced by another slab of macadam. This to me is a complete lack of regard for the taxpayers' money. Dr. Erbstein notes that we will only pay one third of the cost. I hope no one is fooled into believing they're not involved when the state pays the other two-thirds. Dr. Erbstein also notes the temporary building will house the student dining facilities. It is rumored that the old dining facilities are being altered into classrooms at a cost of $60,000.00 after only one year of use.

I would like to know what the total cost of all these changes will be? The total cost of the temporary building? The total cost of the new parking lot? The total cost of alterations to existing buildings? I think every taxpayer has a right to know. I would like to see this information printed in The Freeman. Furthermore, I would like to see an understandable 1968-69 budget. I doubt if even the budget director of the United States would be able to understand the one that the county legislators has just received. Sincerely yours,

Sees Overflow For PO, Boxes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Postmaster Gen. W. Marvin Watson sees the day coming when mailboxes and post offices alike will overflow as a result of the personnel reduction Congress ordered.

That day could come as early as October or November when Saturday residential deliveries are eliminated, Watson told the Senate Post Office Committee Monday.

"Monday mornings will be an impossible problem," he said. "The post offices are physically not equipped to handle the backlog of two days' mail."

Watson appeared before the panel to ask for some firm indication before adjournment whether Congress intends to do something about the department's plight when lawmakers reconvene later in the year.

Watson's problem stems from directives in the recently enacted income tax increase law that required all federal agencies—without exception—to reduce their personnel to levels of June 1966.

The no-exception policy was adopted on the advice of Budget Director Charles J. Zwick, who was summoned to explain to the panel today the rationale behind it.

The immediate, and seemingly unexpected, effect on the Post Office was ordered for a sharp curtailment of airmail service over the next four years. The first result already is being felt in the closing of 500 third and fourth class post offices this month and next.

Beginning Saturday, window services at first and second class post offices will be stopped. Saturday collection service also will be cut back to the less frequent Sunday schedule.

"Until the mail is actually not there on Saturday mornings, people will not be heard from," Watson told the committee.

Hold Man in Fatal Shooting of Three

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP)—A man fatally shot two men and wounded a woman walking along the street Monday night after he broke into a sporting goods store for a pistol and shells.

Authorities identified the dead as August Marsala, 46, and Victor Cricco, 52, both of Yonkers, N.Y. Marsala's wife, Evelyn, 44, was reported in serious condition at a San Luis Obispo hospital after being shot in the chest. The bullet also broke her left wrist.

Police said William B. Duff, 38, of Havre De Grace, Md., was arrested after a chase on foot and was booked on suspicion of murder.

The three victims were vacationers strolling in San Luis Obispo, 200 miles north of Los Angeles, when they were shot.

Police Lt. William Sperlo said that when he arrived at the scene minutes after the shooting bystanders yelled, "He ran around the corner."

Sperlo gave this account: He took a shotgun from his patrol car and pursued on foot. He saw Duff three blocks away, ordering him to stop.

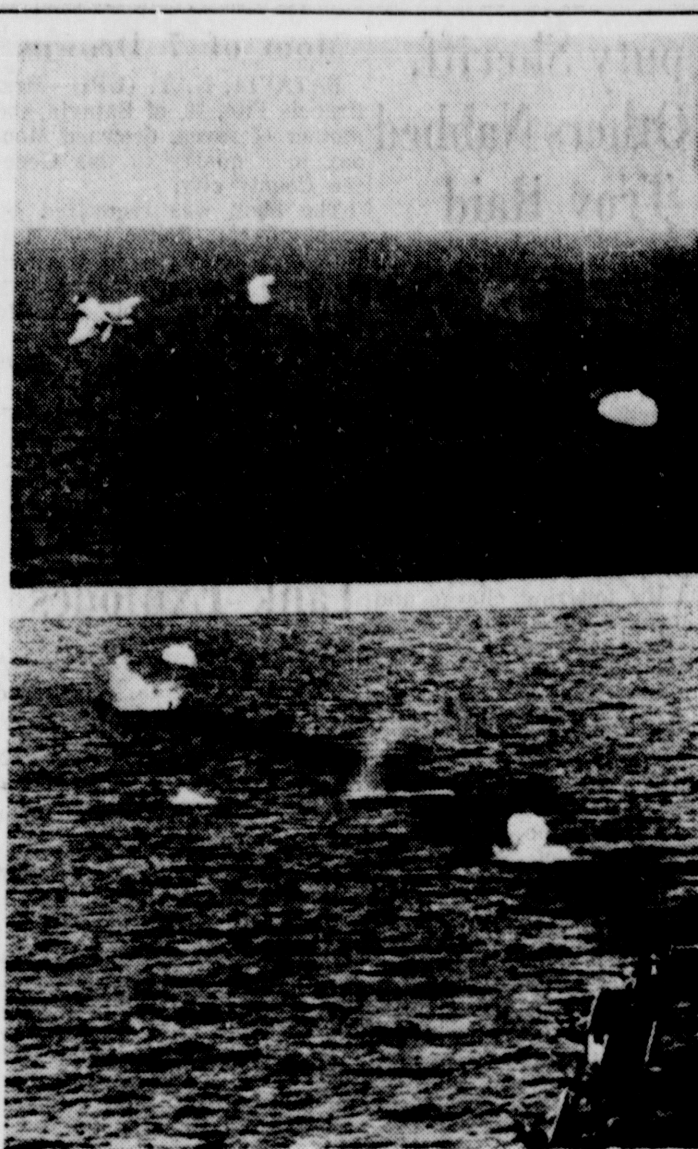

Duff surrendered to the lieutenant, saying, "Nobody likes me. I don't mean to hurt people."

Sperlo said Duff carried the pistol in one hip pocket and a foot-long iron pipe in the other when arrested.

Witnesses said they did not see the shooting but heard a rapid sequence of shots and looked up to see the man fleeing.

Dave Ethridge, owner of Dave's Sports Emporium, said Duff ignored everything in the store but the .38-caliber pistol in a counter display with several other handguns and a box of shells in a wall rack. He said the store's glass door was smashed.

The lieutenant said four of the six shells in the pistol's cylinder were spent and Duff still carried the box of cartridges when arrested.

PILOTS EJECTED—Navy pilot Lt. Roderick J. Edens Jr. and his radar intercept officer Lt. (jg) William R. McClendon III, ejected from their F-4B Phantom II fighter bomber when the controls froze near the Gulf of Tonkin, hit the water and were picked up by helicopter moments later. ## Lake Placid Shooting Accidental; Police

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—Police say the fatal shooting of the 23-year-old daughter of a prominent Michigan family was accidental.

Lynn Holley, who had taught skiing here and in Colorado, was shot Sunday at her family's private ranch near this resort village.

John Swift, 25, identified as a friend of Miss Holley, was charged with illegal possession of a loaded weapon, a felony.

He was confined under guard at a hospital here for "medical reasons."

Troopers said Swift, who arrived here from Macon, Ga., this summer, had been shooting at trees outside the ranch with a .25-caliber pistol.

A brother of Miss Holley and a couple from Lake Placid were in the ranch when the shooting occurred, troopers said.

The woman's father, John C. Holley of Grosse Pointe, Mich., was vice president of the Holley

Carburetor Co. of Warren, Mich., when it was sold to Colt Industries four months ago.

Movie Slated For Clean Air Group Thursday

"Take a Deep, Deadly Breath," a 30-minute color and sound movie will be shown at the Thursday night meeting of the Ulster County Citizens' Committee for Clean Air.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will take place at 8 p.m. on the sixth floor of the County Office Building.

The newly formed Planning Committee will convene at 7 for a work project to precede the general meeting, according to the president, David L. Fletcher.

Tight Credit and New Ceilings Blamed for Zooming Home Rates

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Interest rates on conventional home loans rose sharply during June, climbing to almost 7 per cent for the first time in history.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board said today the average interest rate on conventional loans for new houses jumped to 6.88 per cent during June while the rate on existing houses went to 6.97 per cent.

The board blamed both the tight credit conditions in the economy and recent increases in the ceilings fixed by states on maximum interest charges.

June marked the fifth straight monthly rise in the conventional rate for new houses. The rate on existing houses has risen every month for the last year.

In the 18 major metropolitan areas included in the Board's survey, the rates on new homes ranged from 6.18 per cent in New York City to 7.42 per cent in Dallas.

Rates were above 7 per cent for new houses in 10 of the 18 areas.

The National Association of Home Builders, which made its own survey several weeks ago, said there are signs of interest rates leveling off at their June records.

The federal survey does not include interest rates on home loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration or guaranteed by the Veterans Administration which are now fixed by regulation at 6.75 per cent. The June levels compared with an average 6.69 per cent figured in, the board said the rate during May for new houses and a 6.81 per cent rate on existing houses. With initial fees and charges existing houses.

Uptown UR Project Land Ready for Commercial Use

Kingston Urban Renewal Agency announced today that 880,000 square feet of land are being made available to developers for general commercial use in the Uptown Project.

The parcels range in size from 18,000 square feet to 330,000 square feet. There are 43,560 square feet in an acre. The agency, according to acting executive director, Ward B. Tongue, expects to have the parcels available for disposition over a period extending through 1970.

Letters are being sent out to more than 150 nationally known firms informing them of the availability of these commercial properties.

General commercial includes laboratories, light industry, warehousing and office and non-retail uses.

Parcel sizes and their location include Washington Avenue near North Front Street (18,700), Washington Avenue in the vicinity of Dietz Stadium (18,400), North Front Street (26,900), the Converse Street area (38,000), Washington Avenue at the corner of the proposed Clinton Avenue Extension (29,000), Washington Avenue in the vicinity of the Clinton Avenue Extension along Plaza Road (208,000), the west side of Washington Avenue along Hurley Avenue (221,000) and the Murphy Street area (330,000).

The Army Corps of Engineers has completed its studies of the proposed Murphy Street dike and plans are now in the Washington, D. C. office of the corps for final approval, according to the Urban Renewal Agency.

Prices on the land will vary, Tongue said and have to be approved by the federal government. The agency has retained the firm of Henry Halpern of New York City, specialists in the appraisal and disposition of urban renewal land.

Tongue also called attention to the availability of two industrial sites in the Broadway East Project. Interested developers have until Aug. 1 to submit their proposals.

One site is located on the Strand opposite the Old Ferry Shed and extends to Hasbrouck Avenue. The other is in the vicinity of the Levine Bag Factory on Mill Street.

Trouble Erupts Anew Along Lower East Side

NEW YORK (AP) — Police reinforcements moved into part of the Lower East Side Monday night and gradually dispersed a crowd of several hundred residents after a tense confrontation and sporadic incidents of arson and bottle throwing.

Some 300 members of the specially trained Tactical Patrol Force were assigned to the predominantly Puerto Rican area as trouble flared for the third straight night. They were withdrawn at 4 a.m.

Ten persons were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. There were no injuries reported by police.

Several fires were set in trash cans and abandoned cars, as about 250 youths moved up and down Avenues B and C from Houston to 10th Streets. Firemen responding to the fires and to several false alarms were pelted with missiles and withdrawn.

Several store windows were broken, police said, but there was no looting.

FACES SURGERY — The Space Agency in Houston, Tex., said Monday that veteran astronaut and space-walker Michael Collins, now a member of the third Apollo spacecrew, has entered an Air Force hospital in San Antonio, Tex., for spine surgery later this week. According to spokesmen, Collins is now undergoing tests in preparation for the removal of a bone spur growth that has developed on his cervical spine. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Deputy Sheriff, 10 Others Nabbed In Troy Raid

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Police raided a downtown nightclub here early today, arresting 11 persons on charges of loitering for the purpose of gambling, including a Rensselaer County deputy sheriff who, they said, tried to escape.

Arrested in the raid on the Riviera Club was Rocco DeBoni, 50, of Troy, the deputy sheriff. Police said he ran out of the station house while being booked on the loitering charge and got about a block before being captured. Another man also tried to escape but only got to the door, they said.

Both were charged with loitering for the purpose of gambling and with escape and are being held for arraignment.

The owner of the club, James DeBoni, 46, of Troy, was charged with loitering for the purpose of gambling and with allowing a State Liquor Authority licensed premises to be used for gambling. He was freed in $350 bail.

Eight others were charged on the loitering charge and freed in $100 bail each.

Mom of 7 Drowns

BATAVIA, N. Y. (UPI) — Mrs. Francis Fite, 39, of Batavia, the mother of seven, drowned Monday in a quarry in this Genesee County city.

The body was recovered by scuba divers. Police said Mrs. Fite and her husband Norman had been wading in the quarry when she slipped off a ledge and disappeared.

Mrs. Fite was a non-swimmer. She lived at 34 Walnut St.

Flames Shoot 300 Feet As Tank Explodes

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A gasoline storage tank exploded "like an atom bomb" today, hurled residents of nearby homes out of their beds, and shot flames 300 feet high over the Pensacola waterfront.

Seven hours after the first of three explosions, the 200,000-gallon tank still burned furiously, blanketing the area with oily smoke. The fire threatened other tanks loaded with gasoline and kerosene.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hicks were knocked out of their beds by the first blast, which blew gasoline and sparks through the windows, starting several small fires in the house. Both suffered burns as they beat out the fires before fleeing the home.

Barrancas Avenue running past the storage field was barricaded and residents of several homes were evacuated.

"It looked like an atom bomb explosion," said sheriff's Deputy Edward Mayo.

Avon Sergeant Killed in Viet

AVON, N.Y. (AP) — Army Sgt. Paul R. Fusco, 21, of this community has been killed in combat in Vietnam, the Defense Department says.

Fusco was killed July 16 after being in the war-torn country for about three months, his parents said Monday.

He graduated Avon Central High School and attended Genesee State College.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fusco, of 202 Spring St.

Six Decomposed Bodies Found Shot to Death

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP) — The badly decomposed bodies of a suburban Detroit couple and their four children were found Monday in an isolated cabin in northwest Lower Michigan.

Emmet County Sheriff's Department said all six had been shot to death.

They were tentatively identified by State Police as Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Robison of Lathrup Village, an 8-year-old daughter, and three sons, ages 19, 17 and 12.

State Police said the bodies were discovered by a caretaker late Monday, northwest of Harbor Springs. They said first estimate was that the deaths occurred about a month ago.

According to state police, the Robisons had been vacationing and were expected to travel to Florida, therefore relatives apparently were not alarmed about them.

Marriage Vows Are Exchanged

MRS. FRED A. FRANCELLO
(Lakeside Studio)

Miss Christine Teresa Nucaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Nucaro of 2 Smith Avenue, Kingston, became the bride of Fred Francello Sr. of Glasco, and the late Anna Crescino Francello, on Saturday, July 13, at St. Peter's Church, Kingston.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph D. Osterman officiated at the double ring ceremony. Nan Goldrick, organist, accompanied Mrs. Elizabeth Sass who sang traditional wedding selections. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white nylon sheer gown in cage silhouette fashioned with a Sabina rolled trimmed neckline. The floor-length skirt was edged in satin and a matching chapel train fell from her shoulders to the floor. Her white illusion veil was held by a stylized headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white pompons with a white orchid in the center.

Miss Dorothy Reynolds of Lake Katrine served as maid of honor. She wore an empire-style gown of blue dotted swiss nylon sheer over taffeta. Her headpiece was a matching Dior bow with chapel veiling and she carried a bouquet of blue and pink pompons with velvet blue ribbons.

Attendants were the Misses Clara Hayner, Margaret Hodges, both of Kingston; Joli Crescino, cousin of the bride; groom, Kingston; and Erma Francello, sister of the bride, groom, Poughkeepsie. Their green and maize gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried bouquets of pompons tinted yellow with blue, green and yellow ribbons.

Miss Tammy Whispell of Sawkill, was flower girl. She wore a pink nylon gown with pink and white flowers at the waist and carried a basket of blue, pink and yellow pompons and baby's breath with yellow ribbon.

Gus Sasso of Glasco was best man. Ushers were Robert Francello, cousin of the bridegroom of West Camp; Ken Jonisk of New York City; Michael Grano and Joe Palumbo, both of Glasco. Thomas Francello, brother of the bridegroom, was junior usher.

After the wedding, a reception for 185 guests was held at the Flamingo.

The bride is a graduate of St. Peter's School and Kingston High School. She is employed by IBM, Kingston.

Her husband is a graduate of St. Mary of the Snow, Saugerties; Our Lady of Lourdes, Poughkeepsie; and received his Bachelor of Science degree in Economics at Siena College, Loudonville. He is employed by the Purchasing Department of IBM, Kingston.

After the couple return from their wedding trip to Cove Haven they will reside at Glasco.

Interfaith Group Fight 'Dope' Smut

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—On the wall of the office of the Rev. Morton A. Hill hangs an editorial cartoon that spells out two of society's most serious ills.

One portion of the cartoon shows a giant needle being plunged into the arm of a youth. It is labeled "Dope." The other half shows a similar needle plunged into the skull. It is labeled "Smut."

"One acts on the body, the other on the mind," is the way Father Hill explains the drawing.

Smut and its "destructive, violent" effect on the young in particular is the primary concern of the Jesuit priest and others who helped to organize and spearhead a volunteer interfaith organization called "Operation Yorkville."

"Operation Yorkville," incorporated last January and already going national, spells out its objectives: "To counter the effects on the young of material which incites to violence, drug usage, perversion and promiscuity."

Father Hill estimates that each year from $1 to $2 billion worth of smut rolls off profitable presses. Some 75 to 90 per cent of it finds its way into the curious hands of children.

It is drawing a fine line between squelching such material and maintaining one of the freedoms spelled out in the Bill of Rights—freedom of the press. But Father Hill says that restriction of smut isn't restriction of the press. "Operation Yorkville does not believe in censorship or prior restraint. It does believe in obscenity law and its enforcement."

MRS. STEPHEN LOUIS deOLDE
(Lakeside Studio)

Miss Cecilia Josephine Donato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donato of 110 Stephen Street, Kingston, became the bride of Stephen Louis deOlde, son of Mr. and Mrs. John deOlde of 59 South Wall Street, Kingston, on Saturday, July 13, at St. Joseph's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. John Madigan, cousin of the bride, St. Catherine of Siena Church in New York City, officiated at the double ring ceremony. James Sweeney, organist, accompanied Donald Sweeney who sang traditional wedding selections. The church was decorated with white gladioli and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath style gown of organza which featured a redingite-style overdress of Chantilly lace. The train was chapel length and she wore a stylized headpiece in matching lace edged with seed pearls to which was shirred the silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white rose buds tied with white satin ribbons.

Miss Catherine Donato of Kingston served as maid of honor for her sister. She wore an empire style sheath gown of maize chiffon with a cowl neckline and a waistband of matching satin and a stylized headpiece with a bouffant tulle veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchid colored carnations tied with satin ribbon to match.

Attendants were Mrs. Linda Baxter, and Miss Caroline deOlde, sister of the bridegroom, both of Kingston. Their orchid gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried cascades of yellow carnations tied with satin ribbons.

Gus deOlde of Kingston was best man for his brother. Ushers were Stanley Letus of Kingston, and Victor Oleschuk of Eddyville.

After the wedding a reception for 130 guests was held at the Capri, Port Ewen.

The bride selected a pink linen dress with yellow trim and matching accessories and wore a corsage of yellow carnations for her wedding trip to Nassau.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a secretary at IBM, Kingston. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and served in the U. S. Navy and is now employed at Ferroxcube Corporation, Mt. Marion.

The couple will reside at Port Ewen.

Felton-Burgher Nuptials Told

Miss Sandra Felton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Felton of Ruby, became the bride of Vernon Frank Burgher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burgher of Hurley, on Saturday, July 13, at the Plattkill Reformed Church, Mount Marion.

The Rev. John Needham officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Estelle Flicker, organist, accompanied Robert Brocius who sang traditional wedding selections. Family pews were marked with satin bows and the church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and snapdragons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza and lace bouffant gown with long tapered sleeves and a full chapel train. A princess crown of pearls and crystals held her imported silk illusion veil and she carried white daisies.

Mrs. Earl Cook Jr. of Saugerties served as matron of honor for her sister. She wore a floor-length gown of yellow chiffon with accents of lace. A petal cap held her bouffant veil and she carried yellow daisies.

Attendants were Mrs. Charles Galvin and Miss Lorraine Wojnoski, both of Kingston. They wore floor-length gowns of yellow and green chiffon, respectively, with lace accents. Their petal caps were fashioned similarly to that of the matron of honor and they carried green daisies.

Miss Nora Lee Cook, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor-length gown of green chiffon and a halo of flowers in her hair and carried yellow and green daisies.

Ivan Pece, of Ulster Park was best man. Ushers were Gerald Styles, brother-in-law of the bridegroom of Cottekill; and Earl Cook Jr., brother-in-law of the bride, of Saugerties, Donald Countryman, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

After the wedding a reception for 75 guests was held at the Alpine.

The bride selected a yellow ruffled dress with black accessories for her wedding trip to Cape Cod.

Mrs. Burgher is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a secretary by International Business Machines, Kingston. Her husband is also a graduate of Kingston High School, served two years active military duty, and is employed at WGB Oil Clarifiers, Kingston.

The couple will reside in Ruby.

Nuptials Announced

Miss Janice Elaine Fuller, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. Ellsworth Fuller, and niece of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Belfas of 42 Crown Street, Kingston, became the bride of Lester William Markle Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Markle Sr. of 189 C'Neil Street, Kingston, on Saturday, July 13, at the Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop Place, Kingston.

The Rev. John W. Mongin officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Beatrice Bright, organist, accompanied Mrs. Kay Souers who sang traditional wedding selections. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the church.

Given in marriage by Daniel L. VanLeuvan, uncle of the bride, of Westbury, L. I., the bride wore a white silk organza floor-length gown with a bateau neckline and elbow length fan sleeves. The natural waistline, sleeves and chapel length train were appliqued with Alecon lace, and the train had a double bow and pleat in back. A stylized rose and petal headpiece of pearls and crystals held her butterfly veil of imported silk illusion and she carried white carnations and baby's breath.

Miss Jacqueline Von Ohlen of Kingston was maid of honor.

Attendants were Leslie Ann Markle, sister of the bridegroom, of Kingston; and Miss Linda Foster of Kingston. The yellow gowns and headpieces were styled the same as the honor attendant and they carried pink carnations with baby's breath.

William Cole of Kingston was best man. Ushers were Donald Newell of Kingston and Kenneth William Jr. of Kingston.

After the wedding a reception was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The bride selected a white and pink dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink baby orchids for her wedding trip to York Beach, Maine.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a secretary in the Office of the Superintendent of the Kingston City Schools, Consolidated. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and is employed by Ferroxcube Corporation of America, Mt. Marion.

The couple will reside in Kingston.

Miss Wolery has been soloist with the Santa Cruz Beach Symphonie Band in Santa Cruz, Calif., and has played concerts throughout the U. S. For this concert with Kingston Concert Band, American Federation of Musicians No. 215, under the direction of Marlin Morrette, she will play Czardas by Monti and When a Gypsy Makes His Violin Cry by Emery Deutsch.

Helpful Hints

Beginning sewers sometimes have trouble sewing their zipper plackets in straight. Instead of leaving an opening for the zipper, use the basting stitch on your sewing machine and continue the seam. This way the fabric is sewn together and has a standard seam allowance for the zipper to be applied to. After the zipper is in, the basting will come out easily and you have a neat-looking zipper.

Do you have trouble polishing two-toned shoes? Coat the brown part with colorless nail polish; then the white polish you use on the rest of the shoe will wipe off easily.

To save steps in a two-story house, put a basket at the bottom of the staircase. When you pick up something that belongs upstairs, don't make a special trip to put it away; put it in the basket instead. When you have to go upstairs for some other purpose, carry the basket along.

Add a few drops of vinegar to water used for moistening gummed tape. Vinegar causes the tape to stick better—great for wrapping packages to be mailed.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Now that barbecue time is here, let me tell you what everyone in our neighborhood has done.

We have turned our garages into an "indoor patio room." We cook our food outside and eat inside on our garage patio.

In our garage, we put up wallboard and painted it and the floor. We also found some plastic Japanese lights and strung them across the room and put one of the inexpensive straw rugs on the floor.

But as we haven't been married long, we had to buy our outdoor furniture to use.

It was a fun project and really not too much work and was very inexpensive to fix up.

We are thoroughly enjoying our indoor patio these summer evenings, and thought perhaps others might like to hear of our idea.

Mrs. Hal. L. Neat

Your idea is great, Shug.

Guess that takes care of those quickie showers that sometimes call on us unexpectedly, eh.

Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I live in a small apartment and have the problem of a place to keep my soiled clothes. Also something to carry them in to the laundromat. Having such limited space, I didn't even have room for a laundry hamper or basket.

So I hit upon the idea of sewing two large bath towels together on three sides, leaving one end open just enough for a wire hanger to slip into for hanging.

This wonderful, washable bag serves both purposes—storing the soiled clothes and carrying them to the laundromat. It hangs neatly in my closet and takes up little space.

Mrs. S. E. R.

Dear Heloise:

Here's a hint about seams that ravel.

Cut nonwoven press-on pella into strips about 1 1/2" wide and press it to the very outside edge of the seams.

The pella is pliable and will not show on the garment. This works well on clothing that tends to ravel from washing.

Or, if you are making a garment from material that acts as if it will ravel, press this pella on the edges of the fabric pieces before you begin to sew and your garment will handle beautifully without raveling. Hopsacking, brocades, etc., that usually ravel, are wonderful when treated this way.

Mrs. K. Schlinger

Dear Heloise:

Canning doesn't have to be difficult if one takes short cuts whenever possible.

To save time I sterilize a number of jars in my large turkey roasting pan.

For those of you who are canning those goodies this summer, give it a try. Sure is easy.

Laurajane Alvin

Dear Heloise:

May I tell you how I handle the need for a towel when constantly washing and drying my hands while cooking?

I put a gripper on the left side of the waistband of my aprons where it has a sturdy place to grip. And put the other half of the gripper on a washcloth. Then just snapped it on. I find this so handy. The cloth can easily be removed to throw in the laundry and replaced with a clean one.

Chicken Salad Gets Special Dressing

Angostura Chicken Salad

Ever put a tart red apple in a chicken salad? Ever take mayonnaise and spice it up with a touch of onion powder and a good measure of Angostura bitters? If you haven't, you should. This chicken salad has such an unusual grouping of ingredients that it will be tossed together just often once it is tried. The various textures and tastes of the apple, asparagus, carrots, celery and other vegetables seem to blend and compliment one another. The blend of spices that is Angostura bitters, of course, compliments almost any salad dressing. It is outstanding in the flavor of all the ingredients in the salad while adding just a hint of an exotic good taste of its own.

Angostura Chicken Salad

- |   |                                       |
|---|---------------------------------------|
| 1 stewing chicken, about 5 to 6 pounds, cut-up                      | 1 can (1 lb.) sliced carrots, drained |
| 2 packages (10 oz. ea.) frozen asparagus spears, cooked and drained | 1/2 cup sliced celery                 |
| 2 cans (4 oz. ea.) button mushrooms, drained                        | 1/2 cup diced green pepper            |
| 1 can (1 lb.) peas, drained   | 1/2 cup diced unpeeled tart red apple |
|   | 4 cups shredded greens                |
|   | Angostura mayonnaise                  |

Cover chicken with water and simmer until tender, about 1 hour. Skin chicken and bone it. Cut meat into bite-size chunks. Arrange chicken and vegetables in rows over shredded greens. Chill until ready to serve. Toss with Angostura Mayonnaise. Yield: 8 servings.

Angostura Mayonnaise

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| 1 cup mayonnaise                       | 1/2 teaspoon onion powder   |
| 1 cup (1/2 pt.) sour cream             |   |
| 2 tablespoons lemon juice              | Combine all ingredients and chill until ready to serve. Yield: 12 cups. |

Maxiskirt Makes Fall Fashion Scene

By NADEANE WALKER
AP Fashion Writer

ROME AP — At last an Italian designer of high fashion has dared to stake her all on the maxiskirt.

While others toyed coyly with the idea, Tita Rossi came out with midcalf skirts all the way. The result almost stole the thunder from Princess Irene Galitzine, showing her first collection since bankruptcy failed to knock her out of the picture for even a season.

Galitzine came back with a knockout collection Wednesday night. The top eye - appeal number was evening trousers or iridescent gray plastic discs, built on a foundation of metal lattice, with a good view of tanned legs through the open spaces.

Both Rossi, with midcalf hems, and Galitzine, with skirts above the knee, put sex back in the picture with a capital S. Long skirts are split up the front and formal décolletage takes dizzying dips. Princess Galitzine's most provocative number was a long slinky, snaky black floor - sweeper, whose down - to - the - waist plunge was protected by a border of spiky silver icicles.

Rossi revealed nearly all with a transparent V of black chiffon on a clinging black crepe evening dress. See - through point d'esprit, in full - skirted romantic ball gowns, one black, one white, went over matching slim Bermuda shorts.

Sawkill Auxiliary Has Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company held its first summer meeting Monday, July 15, at the firehouse. Presiding was the president, Miss Laura Joy, assisted by vice president, Mrs. Arthur Gell; secretary, Mrs. Walter Holland; and treasurer, Mrs. Robert Clark.

The covered dish supper held recently for all community residents, under chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Ferrigan and Mrs. Douglas Dye, was reported successful with an excellent attendance of the townspeople. The next planned event will be a teenage dance July 26 from 7:30 to 11 p. m. with music by the Back Porch Majority. Auxiliary members, Mrs. Robert Ferrigan, Mrs. Donald Patton, and Mrs. Arthur Gell, will act as hostesses, and will be assisted by Mr. Ferrigan, Mr. Patton, and Mr. Gell. Refreshments will be served, and admission will be accepted at the door the night of the dance. All teenagers of the community are invited.

A rummage sale will be held at the firehouse on Aug. 22 and 23, 1 to 4 p. m. and 6 to 8:30 p. m. on both days. Chairmen for the rummage sale include Mrs. William Reynolds, Mrs. Joseph Popkins, and Mrs. Robert Clark. Anyone needing pickup service for articles to be donated may contact any of these committee members.

Chairman for various committees were appointed. Mrs. Joseph Popkins will assume chairmanship of the loan closet; Mrs. Douglas Dye, ways and means; Mrs. Francis Joy, publicity; Mrs. Frederick Parker and Mrs. George Leedecke, chaplains; Mrs. S. Borhere, Mrs. William Reynolds, telephone committee. Mrs. Joy will be on the membership committee with Mrs. Joseph Popkins as co-chairman.

As this is the beginning of the new fiscal year for Auxiliary activities, anyone wishing to join may contact any member of the executive committee, or the chairman of the membership committee. In the near future, letters will be sent to all residents of the area with forms for joining, or renewing membership. All women of the community and Fire Protection District are invited to join the group and participate in the activities.

The organization is primarily a service group to assist the Volunteer Fire Company and the community, but it is also a group of women who enjoy many social activities and association with neighbors and friends. This year the Auxiliary tentatively plans to have more activities for community participation including various demonstrations such as fashion shows and guest speakers. More definite plans will be made at the meetings progress.

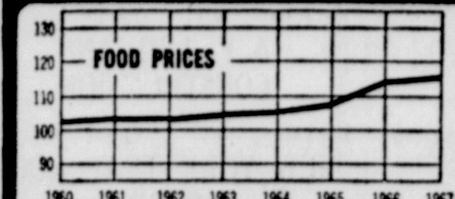

The next meeting will be held at the firehouse the third Monday evening in August at 8 p. m. All members, interested women of the community, and guests are invited.

TIES OLD RECORD — Chicago White Sox knuckle ball artist Hoyt Wilhelm tied Cy Young's all-time major league record by pitching in his 906th game Monday night against the Oakland Athletics, Wilhelm, who will be 45 Friday, entered in top of ninth. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Wilhelm Outlived Soph Jinx by Fifteen Years

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Hoyt Wilhelm was asked in the spring of 1953 whether he feared baseball's sophomore jinx.

"What's that?" replied the relief pitcher who had appeared in 71 games for the New York Giants in his rookie 1952 season. "I've got that little old knuckler, haven't I? That'll beat any jinx you ever saw."

Fifteen years and 835 appearances later reporters gathered around Wilhelm Monday night in the Chicago White Sox clubhouse in their home away from home in Milwaukee, where Wilhelm had just equalled one of the game's most remarkable pitching records—Cy Young's all-time mark of 906 appearances—and Wilhelm was asked for the secret of his longevity.

"The answer is my knuckle ball," said the 44-year-old pitcher. "It produces very little strain on the elbow and shoulder. You don't have to rear back and fire. It's much easier on the arm than a slider or curve ball. I really feel about the same as I did 10 years ago."

Wilhelm was tagged for a homer by Reggie Jackson and yielded another hit in the one inning he worked Monday night and expressed annoyance that he equaled the record in a game won by the Oakland Athletics 4-0.

The appearance was Wilhelm's 41st of this season. Over the years he has pitched 2010 innings while winning 128 games and losing 106. Young, a Hall-of-Famer who set the record between 1890 and 1911 when relief specialists were unknown, pitched 7377 innings, won 511 games and lost 315.

The Cleveland Indians took over sole possession of second place in the American League with a 7-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. The Boston Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees 7-6 and the California Angels beat the Minnesota Twins 6-5 in other AL games.

Jim Hunter pitched a six-hitter to win his eighth game for the Athletics, who took a 2-0 lead on Dave Duncan's two-run homer in the second inning and added a run in the third on Rick Monday's single and Sal Bando's double.

Pinch-hitter Lou Johnson's two-run homer in the fifth inning gave the Indians a 6-3 lead and paved the way for Sonny Siebert to beat the Orioles for the ninth straight time.

Home runs by Ken Harrelson and Dalton Jones and four singles by Mike Andrews led a 16-hit attack that enabled Jim Lonborg, the Red Sox' 22-game winner of 1967, to win his first game in 1968. Lonborg allowed one hit in six innings but walked eight batters and needed the late-inning relief help of Gary Waslewski and Al Lytle.

PITCHING — Jim "Catfish" Hunter, Athletics, hurled a six-hitter as Oakland blanked the Chicago White Sox 4-0.

BATTING — Lou Johnson, Indians, pinch hit a two-run homer that wrapped up Cleveland's 7-3 triumph over Baltimore.

Hurley District LL Champions

The Hurley Little League All-Stars, anxious to get things over with early, connected for six runs in the first inning, then sat back and left the rest to pitcher Mark Landers, who was just as equal to the task, firing a two-hitter as Hurley defeated Pine Bush, 7-1, for the Ulster County Sub-District Little League championship.

It was a wild and woolly first inning last night at Kingman Park. The Hurley nine crammed four hits, including Jack Adams with no out in the first and second, but Landers rose to the task and whiffed the final two batters to get out of the jam without further damage.

In the third, Landers, who struck out 13 and walked two in going the route for the win, belted Adams' first pitch of the inning for a round-tripper to make it 7-0.

The top of the fourth found Landers in trouble also. With one away, he gave up a home run to Napolitano, stationed now in left field, and a double to Mike Henry. A walk put men on first and second, but Landers rose to the task and whiffed the final two batters to get out of the jam without further damage.

Hurley now goes on to the district tournament, and will meet the Dutchess champion first. No dates have been set as yet.

In all, Hurley reached Napolitano and Adams for six hits. Besides the homers and Oakley's double, Gary Littlefield, Bob Terwilliger and Craig Jansen each singled. The runs scored were by Kantor, Littlefield, Landers, Terwilliger, Oakley and Carr twice.

Both teams played flawless ball error-wise, neither squad being charged with a miscue. Passed balls and misplayed fielder's choices in the opening frame led to the wide lead by Hurley.

Will Red's Strategy Backfire on Cards?

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Red Schoendienst was a master strategist Monday night but he wasn't much of a psychologist.

Schoendienst sent up a pinch-hitter for last year's most valuable player, Orlando Cepeda, in a clutch situation in the ninth inning of St. Louis' nationally televised game with Philadelphia.

The strategy worked perfectly as Cepeda's replacement, Lou Brock, singled to keep the rally going and scored the winning run as the Cards eventually scored three runs to edge the Phils 5-4.

But Schoendienst's move in yanking Cepeda, who's hitting just .264 and has been booed by the St. Louis fans the last two days, could backfire if it disrupts the Cards' harmony and upsets Cepeda—who was often labeled as a moody player with the Giants but has been the model of a team player since being traded to the Cards two years ago.

Change In Atmosphere

The Card dressing room, usually a scene of lively chatter and even livelier cha-cha records played by Cepeda, was quiet after the victory even though it boosted the Cardinals' lead to 11½ games. The Card players kept going up to Cepeda trying to console him.

Schoendienst defended his action.

"You don't have a guy like Brock on the bench all the time. If Brock had not been there, I would have let Cepeda hit," he said. "Cepeda hasn't been hitting like he should."

Julian Javier singled off Woody Fryman to start the ninth and Curt Flood beat out a first against John Bozzer. Brock then singled in a run and Mike Shannon followed with a run-scoring double. Tim McCarver then followed with a sacrifice fly off Grant Jackson that scored Brock to win the game.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston blanked Los Angeles 4-0. New York topped Atlanta 5-2 and Chicago whipped San Francisco 7-2.

Ron Swoboda Triples
Ron Swoboda tripled in one run and scored on Jerry Buchek's triple as the Mets snapped a 2-2 tie in the sixth to hand Atlanta its sixth straight loss. Don Cardwell pitched a five-hitter to gain his fourth win against nine losses.

Dave Giusti pitched a seven-hitter for his sixth win against 10 losses as the Astros blanked the Dodgers. Rusty Staub led the 13-hit attack with three hits while Dick Simpson scored the first run in the fifth and knocked in one during the two-run sixth inning.

Willie Smith's two-run pinch-double snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth and led Chicago past San Francisco. Starter Joe Niekro, 9-6, went seven innings to get the win and then gave way to pinch-hitter Smith.

Tarkenton Inks $60,000 Pact

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

Fran Tarkenton has a two-fold responsibility with the New York Giants—quarterbacking the club in its bid for a Capitol Division title and seeing to the needs of his teammates as their new player representative.

Tarkenton piloted the Giants and 29 touchdown passes in a second place finish during the 1967 National Football League race and his efforts Giants opened pre-season camp were rewarded Monday with a contract calling for an estimated $60,000 a year. The club's drills.

The veteran of eight NFL campaigns received a vote of confidence for his bargaining powers, recently when club members elected him to succeed Bob Crispino as player representative.

The optimistic Tarkenton, third in passing with 3,088 yards and 29 touchdowns passes in 1967, said he expected to have a slow season as the slow-poke Giants opened pre-season camp at Fairfield, Conn., the last of contract calling for an estimated $60,000 a year. The club's drills.

Lions, KPA Bag Babe Ruth Wins

Two passed balls in the bottom of the ninth gave Kingston Patrolmen's Association of the American Division a 4-3 victory over Knights of Columbus in the Babe Ruth League Monday.

In a second game, American Division Kingston Lions knocked off the Volunteer Firemen, 6-2, behind the 4th pitching of Joe Brown.

Knights and KPA finished all even at the end of seven. Ron Burris of KPA retired the Knights in the eighth and ninth. In the bottom half, Steve Lup-ton was safe on Bill Weis-haupt's error. With one out Mike Droulette walked, moving Lupton to second from where he scored on two wild pitches.

Burris was the winner on a 9-hitter. The KPA collected only five hits off Tom Trispari. Dirk Hoffstatter slugged three singles and Ed Stevenson had two for the Knights.

Tom Kuriger and Marshall Kithcart backed Brown's 4-hitter with two singles each. Jim Latorre doubled. Dan Vogt of the Vols slammed a triple and

Mighty M Win To Polli Adios

MONTICELLO — Polli J. Adios, owned and driven by a Canadian born Michel Bouvrette, came flying down the stretch and just did get her nose out in front to capture last night's featured $3,000 pace for three-year-olds at Monticello Raceway.
Scoring from the five post, Polli J. came from third at the top of the stretch to win over Timely Quote, George Gilmour up, by a hair in 2:05.4.
Sent off at 4-1, Polli J. Adios paid $10.20, 5.60 and 5.40 in chalking up her second win in a dozen starts. Timely Quote was worth $12.00 and 5.00 for place while Elmhurst Queen caught a $7.40 show price.

Ben White Trot Tops Saturday Doubleheader

MONTICELLO — Grand Circuit week at Monticello Raceway does not officially get underway until Monday, July 29, but a roarin' grand event, the $10,000 estimated Ben White Three-year-old colt and gelding trot, will headline this Saturday's twin bill, the fourth of the season. Too, the great Speedy Rodney, the world's fastest trotter in a race on a half-mile track who is now retired and standing in service at Pine Hollow stud in nearby Pine Bush, N. Y., will be honored during the afternoon portion of the double-header.
The sensational Nevele Pride is an eligible to the Ben White but is unlikely he will be present. Thus, the remaining 27 eligibles, most of which have been chasing the great trotter to the wire in previous events, will have an opportunity to strut their stuff in a winning effort. Among those who have been fighting for the minor awards behind Nevele Pride who may be on hand for the White are Dart Hanover, Fashion Hill, Fine Shot, Kerry Pride, Keystone Spartan, Lix, Valiant Jimmie and Victor Mission.
Speedy Rodney, who set a world record of 1:58 4/5 over Goshen-Historic's half-mile oval in 1966, and then reduced it later in the season at Yonkers Raceway to 1:58 3/5, has been in retirement since the end of the 1966 season. He went into stallion service this year and is considered one of the best and most promising sires standing in the nation to say nothing of New York State.

Levine-Brooks Team Takes Wiltwyck Member-Member

Mrs. Sam Levine and Mrs. Wilson Brooks captured the Wiltwyck Country Club women's Member-Guest with a best-ball 126 for 36 holes.
Mrs. Levine (23 handicap) and Mrs. Brooks (31 handicap) posted 35-32-67 in the first round and 32-37-59 for a one-stroke margin over the runner-up squad of Mrs. Gerald Overbaugh and Mrs. John Hall.

Yallum's Royal Grill Meet In City League Semi-Finals

Royal Grill and Yallum's, the only two teams left besides league champion Foughkeepsie Red Whites, will meet in a best two-of-three playoff to decide who goes against the Red Whites in the championship playoff.
The loop's two other teams, Perry's and Angie's Club 99, dropped out of the circuit.
Wednesday night, Yallum's and Royal go at it at Block Park with first pitch slated for 6:15. On Thursday gametime is 8 p. m., and if a third contest is necessary, that will also be at Block with a 6:15 starting time.
Yallum's, which holds the only victory over the Red Whites, finished second with a 4-6 charting. Royal was 4-7 on the year, the Red Whites, 12-1.

Medwick, Goslin, Cuyler Inducted in Hall of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Medwick, Goslin and Cuyler —three more names that stand for baseball greatness.
Joe "Ducky" Medwick, Leon "Goose" Goslin and the widow of the late Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler were present Monday for formal induction ceremonies at baseball's Hall of Fame.
"It's been a long time coming," said Medwick. "But I'm very proud. My life is now complete."
The 66-year-old Goslin, overcome by emotion, said: "I have been lucky. I want to thank God, who gave me the health and strength to compete with these great players. I will never forget this. I will take this to my grave."
Mrs. Cuyler, whose husband died in 1950, said, "I know my husband would be very proud today. Baseball was his life and it was a good life."
Commissioner William D. Eckert presided at the ceremonies which preceded the annual game in which Detroit trounced Pittsburgh 10-1.

Some Mail Gets Through In Canada

TORONTO (AP)—Canadian postmen are on strike but some mail is getting through. It's moving by plane, truck, motorcycle, bicycle and even by sports car.

College students and businessmen, operating mail services, are offering to deliver mail to major centers between Vancouver and Montreal and to the United States and Europe.

The man with the sports car is Colin Davies of Toronto who has set up a daily "pony express" carrying mail to Buffalo, N.Y., for mailing there.

And three Seneca College students in Toronto have set up what they call night and day mail service and delivery. Renting two trucks and borrowing several cars, they charge $1 an item for city delivery and plan a twice-weekly run to Montreal for $2.50 an item.

Several Toronto services are delivering locally by motorcycle and bicycle.

In Vancouver, Dave Cohen says he is flying to Toronto and will take mail there for 40 cents a letter or $1.10 a pound.

Another Vancouver man, who did not want to be named, has advertised a mail service to Britain and the European continent for $1.50 a letter.

In the meantime, the government and the Council of Postal Unions continued talks in Ottawa in an effort to end the five-day strike by 24,000 postal workers.

With no settlement in sight, the strike has tripled business for Gray Coach Lines' parcel express and is straining Canadian National and Canadian Pacific telecommunications services.

A CP railway spokesman in Toronto said Monday 90 per cent of the company's staff handling telegrams are working around the clock.

Two Teeners Drown
JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Two teenage boys have drowned in Chautauque Lake near here, the older one in an attempt to rescue the younger.

Ralph Stewart Jr., 14, of Sugar Grove, Pa., was swimming near the outlet of the lake Monday when he went under. Sheriff's deputies said, Fred Haight, 18, of this city, dived in the water in an attempt to locate the boy, but also drowned, they said.

Both bodies were located a few hours later, they said. Stewart lived on RFD 1, Haight lived at 818 Jefferson St.

Spa Tax to End
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—The three per cent sales and use tax that took effect in this resort city 53 days ago will be repealed as of Sept. 1.

The City Council rescinded the levy Monday on the basis of an underestimate of the revenue it would produce.

The city had expected an annual yield of $750,000, but the accounts commissioner told the council the amount needed to meet this year's budget requirements would be filled by the end of August.

City officials did not rule out, however, possible reimposition of the tax next year.

Papal Document to Reaffirm Opposition to Birth Curbs

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI has decided to issue a document reaffirming the Roman Catholic Church's traditional opposition to artificial means of birth control, Vatican sources said today.

The Pope completed a 40-page document several weeks ago which took this position. But he then decided not to publish it because of strong objections from liberal churchmen, the sources said.

They said the Pope has now revised this document and shortened it but made no fundamental changes. "The document still recalls and confirms the teachings of his predecessors on this question," one source said. It was not known when the Pope planned to issue the document. Vatican documents can sometimes be held up weeks or even months after completion.

The birth control question has been one of the most difficult for Paul in his five-year reign. He has been under strong pressures from church liberals to announce changes, including a majority of the special commission he appointed in 1963 to study the question.

But conservatives have been equally insistent the traditional teaching be reaffirmed. Conservatives on the special commission filed a minority report in 1965 urging the Pope to take this stand because "the church could not have erred through so many centuries, even through one century" on a question of this nature.

The church now permits Catholics to regulate conception in special circumstances only by practicing the so-called rhythm method—that is, abstention from sexual intercourse during the wife's fertile period.

Orientation Set In Ellenville For Pageant

The first orientation meeting in Ellenville for young ladies in the 17 to 28 year age bracket interested in learning more about this year's Miss Ulster County Pageant will be held Thursday 8 p.m. at the Town Hall, Ellenville.

This year's pageant will be held, Sept. 14.

Color slides of last year's pageant will be shown. All young ladies and their friends are invited. To be eligible for the pageant a young lady must be a resident of the county and/or attending a school in Ulster County. She must be a high school graduate at the time of the pageant and never have been married.

The winner of the pageant will share $1,000 worth of scholarships and other valuable awards. In addition the winner will be eligible to participate in the Miss New York State Pageant next summer in Olean. Both events are preliminaries of the Miss America Pageant held in Atlantic City.

Charged With Kidnaping Pregnant Woman
GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A 21-year-old man was held at the Warren County Jail today on a charge of kidnaping a pregnant woman as she returned from a coffee shop before dawn Monday.

The woman, who was not identified, told police she had been raped. She reportedly lived in Schenectady and is 21. Roger Rock of Glens Falls was arrested Monday afternoon on a street in South Glens Falls. Police said the woman had identified him as her assailant. The woman claimed she had been forced into an automobile and released several hours later.

She was treated at the Glens Falls Hospital and released.

Trooper's Copter Up This Week

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The first helicopter owned by the New York State Police will be aloft this week for traffic supervision, possible searches and other services.

The three-seat craft, which will be based at the Albany County Airport, has a top speed of about 105 miles an hour and can fly for approximately five hours without refueling, depending on its load.

Supt. William E. Kirwan has designated Senior Investigator Robert L. Tillman as chief pilot. Tillman flew fighter planes while in the Navy.

Two other department personnel are being trained as co-pilots.

A State Police spokesman said the only other plane owned by the agency was a light plane used in the 1920s.

In recent years, State Police have rented or borrowed helicopters as needed.

Body Recovered

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The body of a 35-year-old Jamestown man, missing since Saturday night, has been recovered from Lake Chautauque. Sheriff's deputies said the body of Carl H. Lindahl was found floating in the lake Monday near Celeron.

They said the body had been in the water for about 48 hours. The cause of death was not immediately known.

He lived on RFD 1, North Main St., Extension.

Dear Abby

Fattie's Problem: Love

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman of 39 years and I weigh 237 pounds. I have weighed this much since I was a teen-ager and because of it I have never had a date. And I mean not one single date! My doctor just told me that I had to lose 100 pounds as my health is in danger.

My problem is this. I recently met a man and we were attracted to each other immediately. He weighs 302 pounds. He says he loves me and he doesn't think I need to lose any weight. So what do you advise?

DEAR MAYEBELLE: I advise you to get this man to a doctor, and together you two should go on a diet. "Getting" a man won't help you much if you can't live to enjoy him — and he can't live to enjoy you. All vanity aside, fat smother good health.

DEAR ABBY: This may seem like a petty thing to complain about, but it is really getting me down:

My mother-in-law has the cute little habit of saying, "My son's house, and my son's children, and my son's this and my son's that." Everything is

Billy's. Nothing is ever mine. Yesterday I heard her tell a friend about "Billy's wedding," so I politely corrected her and said, "I beg your pardon. Mother, dear, but MY father paid for the wedding," then she laughed and said, "Yes, but Billy has been paying ever since."

Abby, I am so tired of hearing references to Billy alone as tho he had no wife, I am ready to explode. What can I do?

DEAR MARIE: Keep telling yourself that nothing you do to mother-in-law says will get you down. And repeat if often, or the ulcer you develop will be all yours — not Billy's.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon, for the second time, and my fiancé insists I wear a white wedding gown and veil, just like a real bride. I have tried to tell him I can't do that, but he says I can if I want to and nobody can stop me.

The first time I wore a skirt and sweater and was married by somebody at the county court house. The whole thing took 5 minutes and I didn't feel like a bride at all. I was divorced a year later.

Is my fiancé right, Abby? Has anyone in my circumstances ever had a white wedding? I would really love it, but I haven't the nerve. Should I?

DEAR BRIDE: If you want to "go by the book," white weddings are reserved for the first time. However, your fiancé is right — nobody can stop you. You may come in for a lot of criticism, but if you would really "love" it and your fiancé is all for it, suit yourselves.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOT MUCH FOR LOOKS" IN NEW LONDON, CONN.: Keep trying. The plainest man that can convince a woman that he is really in love with her, has done more to make her in love with him than the handsomest man who can produce no such conviction.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO HAVE A LOVELY WEDDING," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069.

Another simple hand from "Popular Bridge" shows the value of keeping an entry for dummy's long suit.

This time it turns out that correct play cost South a trick, but this did not upset North in the slightest. He knew that South's line of play had been right.

South won the heart lead. There was no point holding off. Then he counted up his eight top tricks and saw that he needed one low card trick to make his contract. Therefore he led a diamond at trick two and carefully played low from dummy. East collected the trick with his jack and could not resist saying, "Thank you for the nice present."

South said nothing but he proceeded to rattle off the nine tricks he needed for game and rubber.

North could not let East's remark pass without a reply. His remarks in slightly expurgated form were: "Any time my partner needs criticism I am perfectly capable of taking care of the matter. His play was absolutely correct and the trick he presented you with was unimportant. On the other hand if diamonds had broken 4-2 as happens almost half the time, his play would have gained us a trick worth game and rubber."

Just for the record, the chances of various suit breaks are: 3-3—35½ per cent, 4-2—48½ per cent; 5-1 or 6-0—16 per cent.

South wasn't going to make his game against a 5-1 or 6-0 break. His actual play insured his contract against 4-2 at the cost of one overtrick because the suit actually broke 3-3.

Allen Ludden

Thar's Gold in Syndication

EDITOR'S NOTE—Allen Ludden, for six years the host on "Password," and for three years before that on "College Bowl," has written several books, lectures a lot, toured this summer in stock with his wife, Betty White, and writes here about his new professional interest.

By ALLEN LUDDEN
NEW YORK (AP)—My mother has had a problem all year: She can't explain where I'm working.

"Password" was taken of the CBS network, yet friends from all over the country write to tell her they still see it every day. She read that I had a new, once-a-week musical quiz called "Win with the Stars," yet none of the stations in Corpus Christi were carrying it. It helped when one of her local stations started carrying it.

Friends Confused, Too
Since Mother and her friends are confused by the mysteries of syndication, I thought I might state the case for what I believe to be a great source of television programming. Within the next five years, I believe, network programming will be reduced. As quality syndicated programs in a wide variety of styles and shapes become available, those stations are going to use more of them to suit the tastes of their local audiences. There will be a whole new look to the national television picture.

So, what exactly is this syndication? Quite simply it is the production of a program on video tape which a local station can buy and broadcast. The quality programs, designed better to suit their local audiences, And that, Mother, is what syndication is all about. And I'm proud that Mother and I are doing it.

Friends of ours says he's employed as a materials handling consultant, but the grapevine has it that he tells the producers will try to fob off a loading dock gang where to put the merchandise.

Read the fine print on the contract and you'll know why the friendly loan company manager greets you with a smile. A "yes" man is a fellow who doesn't have any no-hows.

Encouraging, Dangerous
Suddenly the whole field of syndication—new shows and reruns—has started to look like a gold mine and many are rushing in to stake claims. This is both encouraging and dangerous. Dangerous, because some of the producers will try to fob off a loading dock gang where to put the merchandise.

As the networks become more and more locked into large blocks of movies and movie-type serials, local stations are discovering this bonanza of can buy and broadcast. The quality programs, designed better to suit their local audiences, And that, Mother, is what syndication is all about. And I'm proud that Mother and I are doing it.

Urge Senate On Air Jam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Transport Association and the Air Line Pilots Association have been urged to take prompt action on a bill designed to ease the growing congestion of the nation's major airports in recent days.

A parliamentary protest Monday delayed action until today's session at the earliest while the blacklash of the congestion and controversy over its cause posed mounting problems for the nation's airlines.

"This has really been put off too long," said Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., floor manager of the bill that would provide increased equipment and personnel.

He said air congestion is reaching emergency proportions.

While the Senate moves to cope with the long-range problem, acting Administrator David Thomas of the Federal Aviation Administration scheduled a meeting with the national chairman of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization.

Resnick Flies Into Air Fray, Backs Mohawk in FAA Dispute

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick has flown into the fray over increased air traffic jams saying he supports Mohawk Airlines in its dispute with the Federal Aviation Administration.

Mohawk has charged that members of the Professional Air Traffic Control Organization has deliberately cut back on its output, causing serious delays in flights, departures and landings.

Mohawk, however, is reported sympathetic to the controllers and blames the FAA for the largest part of the problem of congestion.

The airline also reportedly feels the FAA is shortchanging personnel and equipment needs.

Blames Congress, FAA

Resnick said the problem is an example of "reaction rather than action," a problem of five years ago and an even bigger problem today.

He blamed both Congress and the FAA for the lag saying, "We had fair warning and it should have been looked into a long time ago."

"The people who voted to cut back on services are also the ones who are responsible for this," he concluded.

Liz Taylor Resting, Miserable

LONDON (UPI)—The girl with the violet eyes that every guy in America's Bijoux and Palaces always knew looked only at him sat up in a hospital bed today, roses on one side and champagne on the other.

"She is resting but miserable," Elizabeth Taylor's secretary said.

"She knows how to take suffering and is very brave," said Richard Hanley.

Miss Taylor's operation Sunday was the kind that is not unusual for a woman "who has reached her age." Still considered one of the most beautiful women in the world, she was 36 last February.

The surgery involved removal of fibroid tumor, a mass of muscle fiber, and her womb.

"But, thank God, there is no question of cancer," Hanley said.

Richard Burton, Miss Taylor's fifth husband, sat at her side.

"He is very anxious about her," Hanley said. "Mr. Burton hasn't left her side since the operation."

Burton and Elizabeth have no children although she has three from her marriages to British actor Michael Wilding and showman Mike Todd and a daughter adopted when she was married to singer Eddie Fisher.

Cuban Pilot Will Return, Was on Hijacked Plane

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A Cuban-American pilot captured by Fidel Castro's government when his airliner was hijacked plans to return to Miami and his five children after three weeks imprisonment in his homeland.

George Prelezo, 36, appeared in good health after he and his wife, Olga, arrived in Mexico City Monday on a Cubana Airlines flight.

The flier refused to discuss his detention or his release.

Prelezo was piloting a South-east Airlines DC3 which was hijacked on a flight from Miami to Key West on June 29. Eight years earlier to the day he fled to the United States in a plane he was flying for the Cuban airline Aeropostal and asked for political asylum. Later he became an American citizen.

Cuban officials had indicated Prelezo would be tried as a deserter.

Mrs. Prelezo got permission from the U.S. State Department to fly to Cuba July 13 to plead for her husband's release. The first word that she had been successful came from a State Department employee in Miami.

"My husband is very well," Mrs. Prelezo said. "We would rather not talk to anyone until we have talked with the American authorities in Miami. It's only fair."

The couple checked into a downtown hotel and spent the afternoon relaxing and shopping.

Early House Session On the Gun Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was called into session an hour earlier than its usual noon starting time today in a drive for final action on gun control legislation.

Before the House was President Johnson's bill to ban the mail order sale of rifles and shotguns, plus over-the-counter sales to residents of nonadjacent states.

Debate on six bills effecting the District of Columbia Monday prevented scheduled work on the last of more than 100 amendments to the gun control bill.

Chief among the amendments is one that would provide for licensing of owners.

The House defeated two amendments last Friday that would have required registration of firearms, removing all hope for such legislation in this session.

Although President Johnson originally asked Congress, in the wake of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, for the interstate mail order bans on rifles and shotguns, he later requested both registration and licensing, too.

Although it rejected registration, the House did toughen up the pending bill on one point. It adopted an amendment providing mandatory sentences for any person who carries a gun while committing a federal felony.

In a related development Monday, President Johnson announced in Texas that an appeal to governors to survey and tighten gun control laws brought favorable answers from 40 of the 50.

Press Secretary George Christian said announcement of the results did not mean Johnson was relying on the states to pass gun control laws because his own bill is having a tough time in Congress.

City Rated 'Spectacular' Host; Jaycees Back 3rd Straight Year

For the third consecutive year — an unprecedented honor — the City of Kingston will be host for the "Triple Play" of the New York State Jaycees Sports Spectacular.

The event marks the fifth straight year the Jaycees have conducted state championships in golf, tennis and track and field. The Spectacular is unique among the sports events available for youngsters in New York State.

Wiltwyck Country Club, Forsyth Park and Dietz Stadium will be the arenas of competition on Thursday, Friday and Saturday (July 25-26-27). The three events are conducted concurrently and are expected to attract more than 300 of the finest young athletes our state has to offer.

Prior to 1964, each event was hosted separately by one of the 220 Jaycee chapters in the state. In 1963, it was the vision of then-state president, Al Helo of Albany, and his Future Directions Committee to combine the events into a single Spectacular, providing the people of New York the opportunity to witness a unique, "Olympic-type," sporting event each year. Thus was born the Sports Spectacular, but with it came the major problem of finding suitable sites and accommodations for the 300-plus participating athletes, and their chaperones, families and friends that will attend.

Auburn First Site

Auburn was selected as the site for the first two Spectaculars in 1964 and 1965. The financial burden of running this $10,000 program caused the Auburn Jaycees a red balance sheet in the tune of many thousands of dollars during these years.

A major part of the budget involves the cost of sending three teams to represent New York in the National Jaycee Finals. In some years, as many as 25 state winners and their chaperones were sent to the three National sites, each located in different parts of the country, each a separate week in August.

Aware of the excellent facilities,

the first major task was to realistically determine the financial structure of the Spectacular, based on the knowledge that winning teams would have to be sent to Denver, Colorado; Tampa, Fla. and Greensboro, N. C. that year to represent the State in the National Finals. Registration fees were set at approximately $30 per contestant and chaperone. Sites, for the first time, and Kingston commended throughout New York State for an outstanding event.

The potential of the Spectacular now demonstrated, other Jaycee locals saw the benefits available for their communities. In 1966, the local Jaycees defeated Schenectady in their bid for the event at the State Jaycee Convention in August, and

Only with the help of local area business concerns such as IBM, Rotron, Hertz, Ferrocube and the Freeman among others, plus the willing assistance of local people such as N. Jansen Fowler and the Kingston Area Tennis Association, has the Sports Spectacular been possible, and successful in Kingston.

The Sports Spectacular is the culmination of the year-long Jaycees Youth-Sports Activities Programs among the numerous chapters across the state. The primary purpose of the programs are to give our youngsters a chance to learn the various sports through participation in supervised competition. The Sports Spectacular is the incentive and reward for those who work hard and excel in their own backyard.

The weekend's challenge is a thrill to the youngsters — for many, the first opportunity to compete away from home. For those who triumph, the trip to the National Finals is a once-in-a-lifetime remembrance.

In the past, attempts to break up the Spectacular, returning it to its original, separate programs, has been beaten back by the local chapter. The chapter believes very deeply that the events belong together — thus guaranteeing an organized, well-run success.

It is likely to be many years before Kingston will again host the Spectacular. There are too many other locals, and justifiably so, that want to bring it to their communities. We, however, take pride in its reign in Kingston. We will continue to seek it for Kingston, because, in our opinion we have helped develop from infancy, what is destined to be an even greater event for our youth in the years to come.

THE SPIRIT — of the Spectacular is exemplified by this youth soaring gently and easily over the high jump bar.

ties in Kingston and the close proximity of the Gov. Clinton Hotel, the New York State Jaycees approached the local area Jaycees in February of 1966. The local Jaycees of Coxsackie, Hudson, Kingston, New Paltz, Saugerties and Woodstock, comprising District II of Division II, voted to host the event for 1966.

With no outside funds avail-facilities, equipment and living accommodations were secured and nearly 100 Jaycees were assigned to various functions.

Initial Fees High

Even though registration fees were high, almost 200 contestants registered and competed. 1966 saw the Spectacular, under the expert handling of General Chairman, Ray Lauterbach of Woodstock, meet its expenses returned the Spectacular to Kingston in 1967.

Under the guidance of General Chairman George Leombruno of Saugerties, the 1967 program was even more successful with 220 contestants participating. For the first time, a beautiful silver challenge trophy was donated by Ferrocube Corp. for the Junior Golf winner.

Sports and youngsters . . . a great combination.

We congratulate the young boys who will be taking part in the Sports Spectacular, and we salute the Jaycees for developing and carrying out this valuable program. We also encourage support of this activity by all citizens in Kingston and the surrounding region.

JAYCEE WEEK — This is it, says Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan of Kingston, as he goes over plans and proclamation with Rich Rydstrom, left, the Kingston Jaycees Chapter president. Garraghan gave his complete backing to the Kingston chapter's sponsorship for the third time running of the New York State Sports Spectacular.

Roberts, Zeeh and Boyd Vie for Tennis Laurels

Dave Roberts and Bill Zeeh, Kingston High School's crack tennis duo, will be eyeing the Senior title at the New York State Jaycee Tennis Tournament to be held at Forsyth Park this weekend.

Roberts made it to the finals last year, but was beaten by Jim Kinley of Pearl River, 6-4, 7-5. Zeeh made the finals of the Intermediate Division last year, but was beaten by Ken Lindner of Brooklyn, 6-2, 4-6 and 6-4.

Zeeh was the winner of the Kingston Jaycees local tournament held on Saturday, June 22. In the finals of that qualifier he turned back Richard Heron of Hudson, 8-6 and 6-2.

Peter Boyd of Kingston earned the right to represent the Kingston Jaycees in the Intermediate Division of the State Spectacular by defeating his brother, Jimmy, in the finals, 6-4, 3-6 and 6-2.

Among the early entries are the winners of the Nyack Jaycees tournament, Dick Schild and Bob Resnick.

Schild was No. 1 player at Nyack High School this past year and will be entered in the Senior division. Resnick, No. 1 singles player at Nanuet High School, will compete in the Intermediate division.

Miller Is Director

Al Miller, popular former soccer and tennis coach at State University, New Paltz, is returning to serve as tournament director. Miller, also nationally known as a soccer coach, is at present head coach at Hartwick College.

Barba, in announcing that Fowler, Miller and the KTA would again lend their talents, said the success of the tournament is assured.

"We had a field of about 70

entries for the 1967 competition," said Barba, "but we look for an even greater turnout this time. With such a large group continuous until the divisional titles are decided starting at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Golf Tourney Attracts Crack Juniors

With the New York State Jaycee Golf Championship due in Kingston this weekend, it is interesting to recall that two of the world's greatest golfers—Big Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper—are former Jaycee National champions.

The field, as usual, will be high quality when the 1968 State Jaycees start their 54-hole grind Friday morning at 6:30 a.m. at Wiltwyck Country Club in Kingston.

State Jaycee champions are usually of top calibre. Terry Diehl, a strapping 17-year-old Rochester lad, fired a 221 for 54 holes over the rugged Wiltwyck layout to set a new record in the Senior division. Diehl has qualified for the New York State Amateur championships this week.

In the Junior Division (15 years and under), Don Kaledo, a 13-year-old from West Genesee, fired a 236 to capture the title and he, like Diehl, is also in the State Amateur.

Kolln Led Qualifiers

This year's area contingent is headed by Werner Kolln, a member of the Kingston High School varsity, who led the qualifying round at Woodstock Country Club with a fine 2-over-par, 36-36-72. Dan Powell of Colonial Country Club in Tannersville eliminated John Sentar of Twaalfskill in a sudden death playoff for the second spot, after they tied with 80's in regulation play.

Two 14-year-old future greats—Bobby Byman of Wiltwyck and Scotty Dean of Woodstock—are the Junior representatives. Byman toured the Woodstock layout in a 5-over-par 39-36-75.

Kolln will be joined by high school teammates Joe Bostic and Ed Byman in the Senior division and all three are rated top threats for the title. Doug Tatara of Wiltwyck will make a bid in the Junior group.

In the 1967 championships at Wiltwyck, Ed Byman finished 6th, Kolln, 9th and Bostic, 16th. Since then, all three were members of the undefeated Kingston High School golf team which won 11 dual meets, the DUSO and Section 9 championships and the New York State High School title.

Bobby Byman will have to contend with 14-year-old Don Kaledo in the Junior division, unless the upstate lad survives

the late rounds of the State Amateur.

The two top finishers in the Senior and Junior divisions will receive expense-paid trips to the Jaycee International Tournament in Tulsa, Oklahoma in August.

Ted Beahm and Mike Frevert of Woodstock, who are the State and Local chairmen of golf, respectively, expect at least 100 junior golfers for the tournament.

This year's tournament will follow the same format as the 1967 event. Wiltwyck will be the site of practice rounds on Tuesday, July 25; two 18-hole preliminary rounds on Friday and the finals on Saturday morning.

The Twaalfskill Club will be the site of a consolation round Saturday morning for golfers who did not qualify for the finals.

Spectacular-A Joint Effort

The enthusiastic support of many local and area individuals and organizations has contributed to the successful efforts of district Jaycees to bring the New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular to Kingston for an unprecedented third straight year.

To say that the event is being hosted by Jaycee locals from Kingston, New Paltz, Saugerties, Hudson, Coxsackie and Woodstock would not be telling the whole story.

This year's Sports Spectacular is truly a community endeavor. The overwhelming backing and interest of the local business community as evidenced by pledges of more than $2,000 and individual commitments of both facilities and personal efforts from many interested people in the community is fully appreciated.

Without the help of all of the following co-sponsors the 1968 Sports Spectacular would not have become a reality:

N. Jansen Fowler and the Kingston Tennis Association, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Al Miller, Charles Tiano, Wilt-

wyck Country Club, The Twaalfskill Club, the City of Kingston, Andrew J. Murphy III, Hertz Systems, Inc.

Also, Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, Tonche Transit Co., the Kingston Automobile Dealers Association, Ferroxcube Corporation, Hercules, Inc., International Business Machines, Miron Building Products, Rotron Manufacturing and Ulster Tool and Die Corp.

The host Jaycees would like to thank all those people and companies who have insured the success of this year's Sports Spectacular.

The Presidents' Message

We, the presidents of the host District II, Division II, Jaycees, welcome all contestants from across our state and congratulate you on your outstanding accomplishments.

We are proud to join the 300,000 Jaycees across our nation in perpetuating, stimulating and improving interest and performance of American youth in golf, tennis, track and field. Have as a goal the enhancing of the educational and mental growth of our youth, with a balance of physical activity.

Believe that the foundation of a healthier, more fit American lies in the pursuit of sports activities.

Through its chapters' sports programs and this 1968 Sports Spectacular, are hopeful of providing to the youth of New York State training grounds for the future Olympic champions and leaders of America.

Woodstock Fields Top Track Team

25-KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN, JULY 23, 1968

New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular track and field events have produced uniformly high performances and the expectation is that the field will be up to par for the 1968 events Saturday at Dietz Stadium in Kingston.

John Lawrence of the Saugerties Jaycees is chairman of the meet and, with the aid of Kingston Superintendent of Recreation Andy Murphy, is expecting a much larger entry than last year.

Last year's meet in Kingston was highlighted by the setting of three new records in the Senior division.

Karl Thornton of Binghamton ran the 880 yards in 1:59.6. Norman Bounds, also of Rochester, leaped 6 feet, 5 inches in the high jump and Everett Oliphant of Tarrytown took the triple jump in 43 feet, 6 inches, for new State Jaycee standards.

Wappingers Falls Jaycees, loaded with talent from Wappingers Central High School team, captured the team title in the Senior division.

The only area winner was Don Arthur of Saugerties, who placed first in the high hurdles.

Winners in the Senior Division (17 and 18 years of age) will be eligible to represent New York State in the National Finals at Eugene, Oregon on August 15, 16 and 17.

Woodstock Jaycees, who fielded the best entries in the Intermediate Division qualifying meet at Ontario, are conceding an excellent chance of bringing home the Junior Champ Intermediate Trophy.

Dave Snyder of OCS, who placed third in the UCAL meet this year, qualified in a 10.1 clocking in the 100-yard dash. This is one-tenth of a second better than the current state Jaycees record of 10.2 set by Mike Sherman of Newburgh in 1965. Snyder will also compete in the 220.

Other Woodstock entries: Sandy King, pole vault, was third in UCAL meet; Howie Ostrander, Intermediate low hurdles and discus; John Stahl, Intermediate 880; Allen Elsten, Rondout Valley Central, triple jump and high jump; Glen Chapman, Senior 880; Fred Middleton, triple jump, Senior.

Craig Hubbell, the crack miler, may also run for Woodstock.

Saugerties Jaycees will be represented by James Gilbane in the Senior discus and mile.

Roger Edwards will represent Kingston Jaycees in the 440 and shot put.

At Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa last year, more than 400 young track and field State Champions from 30 states gathered in competition. In that meet, eight new records were set and two were tied in the 13-event meet.

This year's meet promises to be even more eventful. The participants will have the opportunity to compete under the finest conditions available. The University of Oregon, under track coach Bill Bowerman, has enjoyed tremendous success and in 1962 and 1964 the NCAA Track and Field championships were held there.

In addition to the meet itself, the young participants will attend outstanding clinics featur-

Spectacular's Official Staff

The official Sports Spectacular Staff includes:

State Chairman—Tom Condon, Plattsburgh, Jr. Champ; James Barba, Kingston, tennis; Ted Beahm, Woodstock, golf; Ray Lauterbach, Woodstock, Youth and Sports Coordinator.

James Spratt, Woodstock, general chairman; George Leombruno, Saugerties, co-chairman; Art Labuda, Cox-sackie, treasurer; Vic Locke, Kingston, facilities - banquet; Pete Tosi, Woodstock, publicity; John Lawrence, Saugerties, co-ordinator; Bill Deilly, New Paltz, trophies and awards; Walt Winiewicz, Woodstock, Friday Night Entertainment; Frank Antalek, Saugerties, national transportation.

THE JAYCEES CREED

The Jaycees Creed which governs all activities of the International Jaycees is as follows:

That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;

That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;
That government should be of laws rather than men;
That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;
That service to humanity is the best work of life.

Cahill Eyes Gridiron-Not Podium

(Freeman Sports Staff)

The dinner Saturday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel marks the close of the Kingston Jaycees-hosted New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular. It culminates all the hard work and hours of preparation which by then, will be history. All eyes are on next year's extravaganza.

All but one pair of eyes, that is. They belong to Tom Cahill, the banquet's featured speaker.

For Cahill, head football coach at the United States Military Academy (Army) at West Point, now is the time to roll up his sleeves and start work in earnest for the 1968 campaign, his third at the helm of the Cadets. The hours of preparation are before him, he's looking to next month, not next year.

A month from now, Cahill and his Black Knights of the Hudson go into serious training for the coming season. The personable coach spent the summer teaching-and-learning at coaching clinics; at the same time forming in his mind some general ideas his team will utilize this year.

It wasn't always that way. Less than two years ago, Cahill was the Plebe (freshman) coach at the Point. He spent the summer preceding the 1966 season as an unprepared, tired, worried man.

Succeeded Dietzel

That winter, Cahill's boss, Paul Dietzel, resigned as head mentor at the Academy to take a similar post at the University of South Carolina. Spring practice, usually reserved for light contact drills but plenty of plays—the experimental kind—was without any guidance, because no successor had been chosen.

The summer of 1966 found Cahill and the rest of Army's staff leaderless. Cahill spent it supposedly resting at home. Instead, he spent it worrying over who the new coach would be, asking himself, could he get along with him, would his plans be different from those of Dietzel?

Those thoughts tore through his mind all summer, and instead of preparing himself mentally for the grind ahead, Cahill was biting his fingernails nearly to the bone. "What am I suppose to do," was a question he asked himself a thousand times over.

Summoned by Brass

Almost two years to the date of the Jaycees' fete, Cahill was called in by the athletic committee. Several candidates had been interviewed for Dietzel's vacancy—the papers had made their own predictions and speculations—but the sporting world was waiting right along with Cahill, for some announcement as to who would take over.

The tall, black-haired Cahill expected to be told at that committee meeting, who the new head man was and that Tom was either fired; would work with him on the varsity level as an assistant; or remain with the new players as Plebe pilot.

Instead, the committee interviewed Cahill for the post, liked what they heard and saw, and within hours, informed him he was chosen. They broke it immediately to the wire services. The next day's headlines read, "Rookie Coach Elevated to Army Head Grid Post."

TOM CAHILL

Sports columnists and the readers of sports pages throughout the country asked the question, "Who is Tom Cahill and why did Army hire a rookie to bolster their fortunes — when a proven veteran like Dietzel had only modest success?"

Cahill, with just about a month to get ready for the opening day of practice, shrugged off the questioners and plunged headlong into preparation.

With so little time to prepare and no experienced quarterback, Army wasn't figured to do much. They were already writing the epitaph to Tom Cahill's tenure at the Point.

Had Best Season

The results, like this year's spectacular, will shortly be history. Army enjoyed its best season in more than two decades, piling up an 8 - 2 record including a big win over Navy and to top it off, Cahill was chosen by his fellow coaches as the "College Football Coach Of The Year."

A year ago at this time, the writers were singing the praises of Cahill and his Cadets. The new forecast was for a long reign at the Point by Cahill, providing he didn't leave for greener pastures, and rumors were floating that several pro clubs had made him offers. Army was picked to be among the top collegiate powers in the country

Again, Cahill shrugged off the newspapers and instead of sitting back on his 1966 record as some coaches often do, went right back to work and produced another 8 - 2 record.

It's Another Year

It's another year, and as usual, Cahill is knee deep in preparation. He's making up his schedule of workouts, figuring his depth charts, setting up game plans, trying to get the plebe coach's ideas in line with his own, and believe it or not, working on Army's schedule 10-years from now.

So if he leaves out a few conjunctions Saturday or hangs a couple of dangling metaphors, forgive him. Undoubtedly, his mind is a month in the future — thinking of handing out the playbook, the sweatsuits, hearing the sound of shoulder pads colliding with blocking dummies, the whistle blowing for the end of a play, the quarterback barking signals, the five-yard penalty and perhaps even the 45,000 screaming fans who'll jam Michie Stadium for the season opener in September.

An Editorial

The 1968 New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular, being hosted by the City of Kingston for an unprecedented third straight year, in a sports promotion worthy of community support.

Beyond those individuals and organizations and business firms who contributed money to the 1968 coffers, area residents can show their appreciation of the tremendous efforts of the District II, Division II Jaycees by turning out in large numbers for three sports events.

Golf will be staged almost continuously at Wiltwyck Country Club Friday and Saturday, with the championship climax Saturday afternoon.

The tennis phase of the Spectacular will be in progress at Forsyth Park from 8 a. m. on both Friday and Saturday.

The track meet starts at 10 a. m. at Dietz Stadium Saturday, with some of the finest high school thinclads slated to see action.

Area response to qualifying in golf and track failed to come up to expectations. It was a different story in tennis.

The Kingston sports public has largely ignored the Spectacular events the past two years. They should turn out in better numbers this weekend. All the events are open to the public.

Kingston cannot go on hosting forever. This might conceivably be the last time for a few years. A large turnout of spectators is desired.

Everyone knows that spectator sports are "dead" in small towns. How about making an exception for the Spectacular.

Buzzy Costello Advanced To International Tourney

William (Buzzy) Costello, formerly of Kingston, is the only area golfer ever to have carried the banner of the Kingston Jaycees into the International Jaycee Tournament.

He captured the New York state championship then advanced to Omaha, Nebraska, where he placed third in a galaxy of young stars from all over the globe.

A tremendous high school player, Costello, now in federal service, ranked among the top five golfers in the Kingston area. He captured one Ulster County Amateur title and then placed second in another.

Costello also excelled in the United States Golf Association Juniors.

The field at Omaha was a star-studded one.

The winner at Omaha? Marty Fleckman, the brilliant young professional and protege of Byron Nelson, who led the 1967 U. S. Open for three rounds at Baltusrol, N. J. and was in contention for three rounds of the recently completed National PGA tournament at San Antonio, Texas.

Is there another Buzzy Costello in the 1968 field at Wiltwyck? Time will tell.

Tennis Association Gives Helping Hand

One of the finest examples of community cooperation with the annual Jaycees Sports Spectacular is that between the Jaycees and the Kingston Area Tennis Association.

The moving hand behind the Association, of course, is N. Jansen (Nick) Fowler, whose roots in Kingston area tennis date back to the Golden Era of local tennis in the early 1930s.

That was the period of Randall Rose, Westbrook Stelle, Stan Hancock, Robert Herzog, Chet Fox and many others. Up Woodstock way, when tennis was part of the country club operation, a young man named Gardner Mulloy was about to launch a career that would make him internationally famous in Davis Cup and Senior net circles.

Fowler was the driving force behind the organization of the Kingston Tennis Association and he was assisted by many tennis-minded persons. The basic tenet of the KATA is to stimulate interest in tennis to organize and promote competition and to provide some form of instruction for young people desiring to learn the basic skills of the game.

Here the interests of the association and the Jaycees dovetailed perfectly and the Jaycees have had the solid support, backing and guidance of KATA the past three years. Fowler and Al Miller, former State U (New Paltz) tennis and soccer coach have been invaluable to the Jaycee tennis tournament.

The 1968-69 officers of the Kingston Area Tennis Association, besides Fowler are: Bill Spangenberg of Woodstock, vice president; Dick Smith, Kingston, 2nd vice president; Ray Lauterbach West Hurley, secretary; Nancy Alexander, Kingston, treasurer.

On the board of directors are: Bill Carr, Saugerties; Tom Conway, Margaret Grover and Marshall Lipton, all of Kingston.

Honorary membership in KATA has been voted to Andrew Murphy III, the Kingston Superintendent of Recreation, who works closely with the association and the Jaycees, and Al Miller.

The association is a non-profit organization and the officers and directors give of their time and services without compensation. Membership is open to any person interested in tennis.

Special committees of KATA are: Facilities and Improvements—Fowler, Lipton, Smith, Bill Zeeh; Ulster County Tournament—Spangenberg, general chairman; Bill Carr, Bryan Halterman, Lauterbach, Avery Smith, D. Smith.

Men's Ladder—Carr; Ladies Ladder—Kay Spangenberg, Halterman; Special KATA membership tournaments—Joe Scott, chairman, Joe Hevesi, Jaycee District and State—Fowler, Miller, D. Smith, Lauterbach.

Membership—Fowler, Nancy Alexander, Lauterbach.

New Face-Lifting for Stadium

Thanks to the intensive efforts of a group of Saugerties Jaycees, headed by track chairman John Lawrence, State Spectacular track and field entrants will find almost flawless conditions awaiting them Saturday at Dietz Stadium.

Working almost daily for the past several days, the Jaycees assisted by machinery from the Board of Public Works have transformed the badly deteriorated stadium facilities to a near-perfect track and field layout.

Track Is Rolled

The track has been rolled several times and will be rolled for the last time Saturday at the eerie hour of 4 a. m. At 6 p. m., the stadium crew will start painting in the lanes. White calcium was applied on the track surface last Saturday to help keep its shape and firmness.

All holes have been filled in on the track for its entire length. The inside curb along the track was painted white, as will be all the boards down the main running track.

All grass has been clipped and trimmed from the discus and shotput circles which also have been painted white. The rough edges of the track have been squared for its entire length to make it the perfect oval it was originally designed to be.

Modern Equipment

The conventional sawdust pits for the pole vault and high jump have been replaced by the eye catching "Cloud Nine" foam rubber for the pole vault and foam pieces for the high jump.

Thirty youngsters associated with the summer beautification program in the city will give the stadium a going over the likes of which hasn't been seen for years at the uptown park. A complete policing project is planned to clear every piece of trash or debris in the entire stadium area.

Desire Perfect Track

"We will settle for a perfect track, free of grass and perfectly level," said Lawrence. "We confidently expect that, barring no complications in weather, the Dietz track will produce several new state Jaycee records on Saturday."

Additional sparkle and color will help beautify Dietz Stadium for the occasion. The Jaycees have acquired a large amount of bunting and about 20 American flags will be distributed around the stadium.

A huge "Welcome Junior Champ" banner will be draped over the pressbox. The bunting, flags and painted field sections will combine to give the stadium a professional atmosphere for the brilliant young athletes converging on the city.

Top high school track figures of the area are again assisting the Jaycees with technical details in running the meet. Several meetings already have been held with Jaycee officials to insure a smoothly run track meet.

Kias Is Starter

G. Warren Kias, former athletic director and track coach at Kingston High, will again serve as official starter. Others assisting are Coach Bill Russell of New Paltz and Bernie Stahl, the highly successful Onteora Central track mentor, who helped conduct the area qualifying trials in June.

The atmosphere of Saturday's Jaycees track meet should be the most exciting since a professional meet was staged there in the early 1930's under the supervision of Sidney Lutzin, the superintendent of Recreation for Kingston. It attracted the finest track athletes in the United States, among them several Olympic champions.

But the real story at Dietz Stadium Saturday will be the beautiful transformation of the area by a group of determined Jaycees who made a pledge that unlike 1967, the 1968 entries would compete under the finest conditions humanly possible.

They appear to have achieved that goal.
